Kenitra Bernette, Dawn Carpenter, Richelle Roby, and Etta Carter are getting ready to cheer the Northside Eagles to an overwhelming football victory Friday night at the International City Stadium.

Many students at Northside anxiously look forward to getting rowdy at a spirited pep rally which will give the players the extra encouragement they need to defeat the Butler Bulldogs this Friday.

CHANGES AT NORTHSIDE

As the curtain of dust rose, all eyes turned to a new play of life. On August 26, 1988, students, new and old, stood in awe at the changes of Northside High School. Faculty and students went from an overwhelming hot to a bone chilling cool, when air conditioning was installed over the summer. As each student filed into the partly renovated school, they were shocked to see once familiar surroundings strange and foreign. Old walls were knocked out and replaced with new brick; this began the first step of renovation at Northside. Special friendship and knowledge began to grow as the school year began once again.

As the school year rolled on, the student body watched with surprise as more building became evident. The unusually overcrowded cafeteria was enlarged and no longer would students have to search for a place to sit and devour their meals. Due to Northside's outstanding accomplishments in drama, the construction of a much needed auditorium began. The student body and faculty were overjoyed by these two additions that would be used for generations to come.

Playing the tuba is one of John Patrick's many talents. He illustrates his dedication to Northside by "giving it all he's got" at a very enthusiastic pep rally and by playing again that night on the field at halftime.

Numerous signs decorated the lobby and hallways during the Northside verses Warner Robins week. "Dump A Demon" signs caught the eye of all students at Northside and made spirit week a success.

Each day at school, Kristi Bowler, Kaci Boulware, and Kehoon Brooks, all seniors at Northside, group together and have lively conversations at a much needed break from the classroom.

At the dedication of the Ray Horne Auditorium, Matt Arthur, Houston County School Superintendent, and Mr. Ed Dyson, Principal of Northside, say a few inspiring words about Northside and its brand new addition.

A rowdy group of guys release their building energy at a pep rally by cheering the Northside Eagles to another football victory.

Many loads of sand and brick were brought to Northside by construction workers to brick up the windows and make Northside look much more modern than it did last year.

Brian Pitts decides to take a moment to sit on the lobby floor and take a much needed break from the everyday strains of an average school day at Northside.

A special part of Northside is the daycare center where young boys and girls are taken care of by eager and willing students of Northside who learn a great deal from the younger generation.

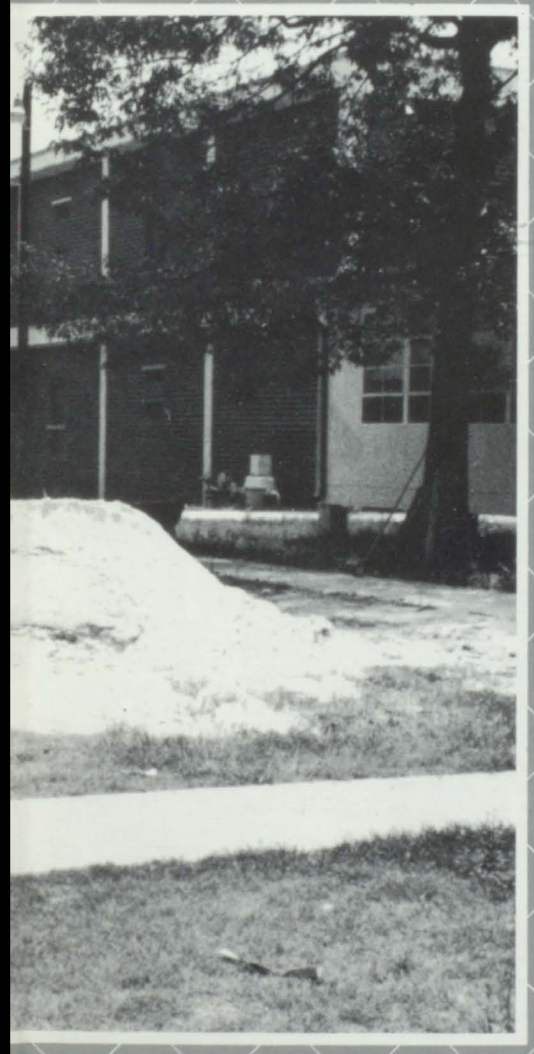

Laura Burden, Joey Rigsby, Lori McAllister, Mary Mills, and other seniors at Northside enjoy hanging around the senior bench and conversing with one another after a hot meal in the lunchroom.

While applying Greg Beatright's stage makeup, Mr. Horne thinks of the grand success this year's well-prepared one act play is going to be in competition.

ACTIVITIES AT NORTHSIDE

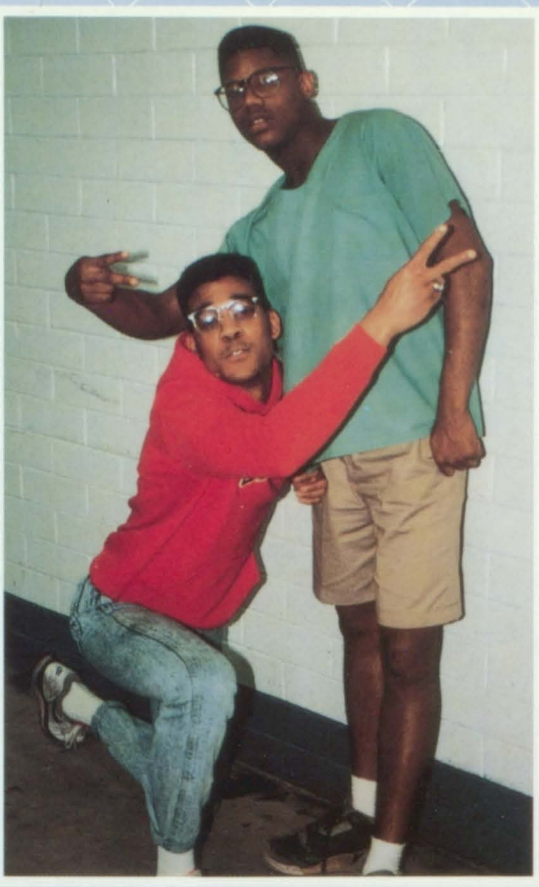

As the renovation continued throughout the year, students and faculty were not only occupied with watching Northside High School's modernization; but, they were also kept busy with countless school activities which built on to an even better high school. Each student added an additional brick to a strong and outstanding school of excellence. Each student gave his own touch to Northside.

Many students took part in the acedemic progression of Northside. Those in the top 5% worked long and hard to give their school a superior acedemic record rating high above other schools. In all sports students trained extra hard to give Northside a winning year. In the drama department the One-Act and the spring musical were both wonderful productions that received much applause. Other students participated in the numerous clubs. Students at Northside were not the only ones involved in extracuricular activities. Many teachers were sponsors for sports and clubs.

Students and faculty did take time out to enjoy the 1988-89 school year, though. There were many dances, including the Senior Ball and Junior/Senior Prom, and banquets which students and faculty attended. The students and faculty were also able to relax by taking trips. This year's senior class sailed to the Virgin Islands. Various clubs attended exciting conventions. But if students could not find enough relief from the stress of everyday school, they could munch or snack at break, sit around at lunch and laugh with cronies, or maybe even sit down alone and have a little quiet time.

These two cool dudes, Nelson Turner and Tony Cody, both seniors at Northside, pause a few minutes after school to tell everyone "Peace!"

As the Northside Eagles progress to an exciting victory, Gill Gordon takes a breather and snuggles up to the water cooler to give him the extra bit of support he really needs after playing long and hard in the third quarter.

RELATIONS AT NORTHSIDE

Imagine the cool, white sand beneath your bare feet and the waves frothing at the lonely shore. The first pale glow of sunrise eminates beyond the horizon, and gradually dawn breaks in an array of colored lights and asthetic beauty that reveals and enhances the surrounding landscape giving it substance, life, and refinement.

Friendships, like the dawn, bring out the hidden, inner beauty within each of us and enhance our best features. As we build on to these friendships, making new ones and strengthening old ones, we build on to ourselves. Our confidants and acquaintances, those we allow to see our inner soul and those we just party with, shape us and help us grow.

The high school years are a time for building on. As sophomores, juniors, or seniors, we have all experienced the joys and pains of friendship. We have faced life with friends by our side, through sunshine and rain. We have matured and changed but are rarely alone. Friendship is truly a building on process; we learn more about ourselves and life through the lives that touch us, and we teach the same to others that we touch. Like the dawn, friendships give us a new, fresh perspective and the heart to live life with joy. Through building on — giving and accepting from friends — new paths of possibility and happiness open across the horizon like the breaking of the dawn.

For Sandra Jonen, a German exchange student, and Mindy Nord, break is the best time of the day because they get to munch on their favorite snack, corn chips.

Enjoying a special night at the 1989 Senior Ball, Nicole Walker and Scott Barfoot come out from behind the trees and look over the cheerful crowd and decide who they should talk with first.

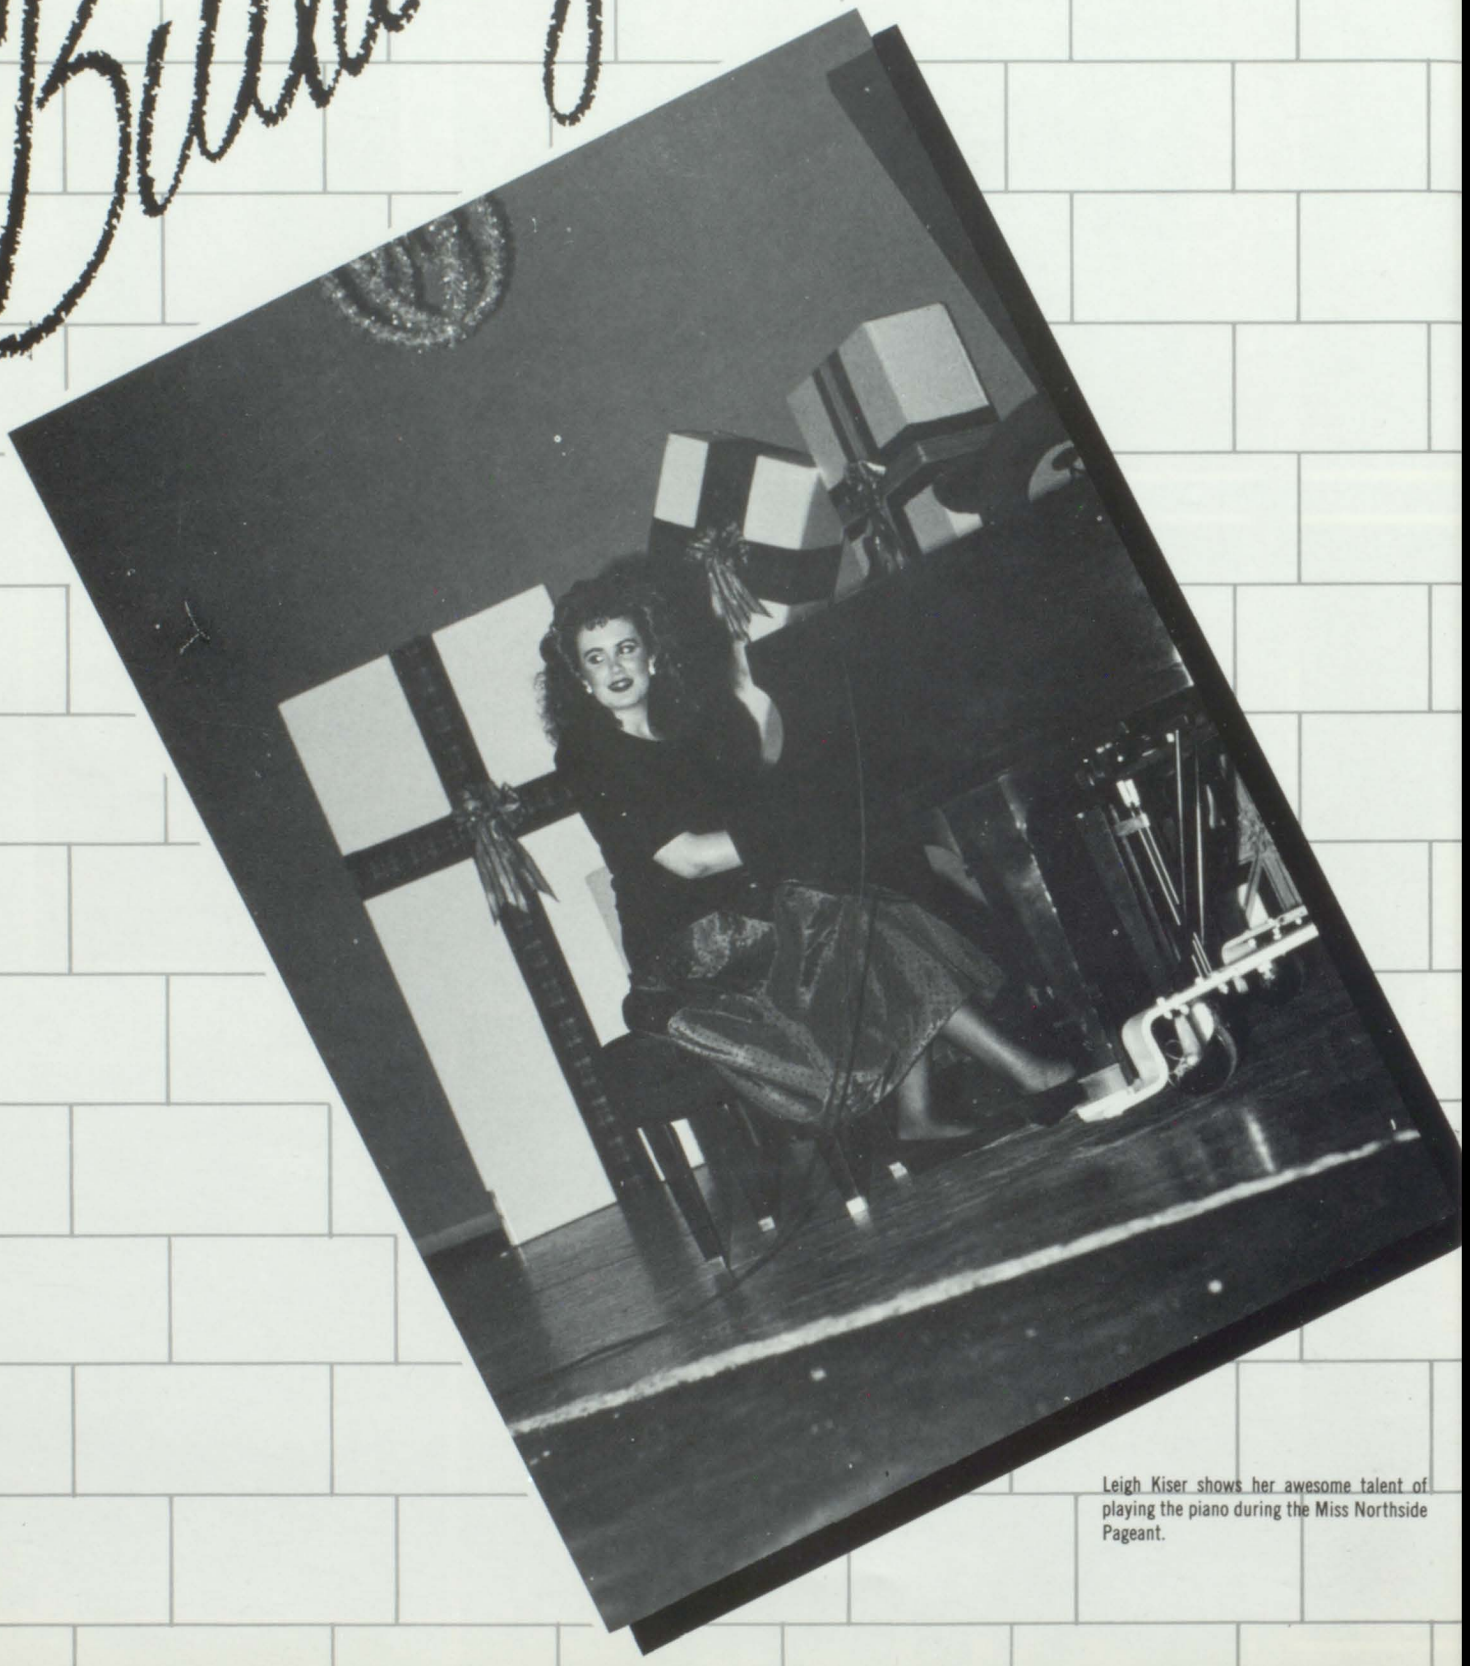

Debbie Perry and Dee Dee Mills proudly show off their Northside signs that they are going to put in their front yards, while Kim Melvin sits nearby wishing she had a sign too.

Taking a moment to give each other a hug for a job well done are Jackie Roquemore, Sharon Calhoun, Alexis Andes, Ms. Yongue, Jalanda Standard, and Suzie Santos at the Auburn University yearbook workshop.

FASHION

Students Show Their Individuality

If a person looks in Northside at any time during the day, he will see more than just walls, floors and ceilings. He will see people wearing clothes from one extreme of fashion to the other like people wearing leather jackets, high-topped tennis shoes, dress-pants, ripped jeans, and T-shirts. Fashion is more than just clothes, however. Fashion includes the attitude of the person "in style." What would a person think if he saw a girl, who is normally the sweetest, most innocent girl around, come to school in black high-heeled boots, black leather mini-skirt and black hose with seams running up the back? He would definately not think she looked "cool" or fashionable. He'd probably wonder what's wrong with her and hope one day she would be back to normal. That shows fashion is more than clothes; it's a state of mind.

Phet Phansavath, My Vilayvong, Kelly Farr, and Peggy Lewis show off the latest styles in the all American blue jean.

During Christmas, sweatshirts such as these being sported by Lindy Feightner and Lisa White, could be seen around campus.

Dan Dowd poses for the camera at his locker in his coat which is adorned with a wide assortment of buttons.

These girls model the diversity of shoes worn by students of Northside High School.

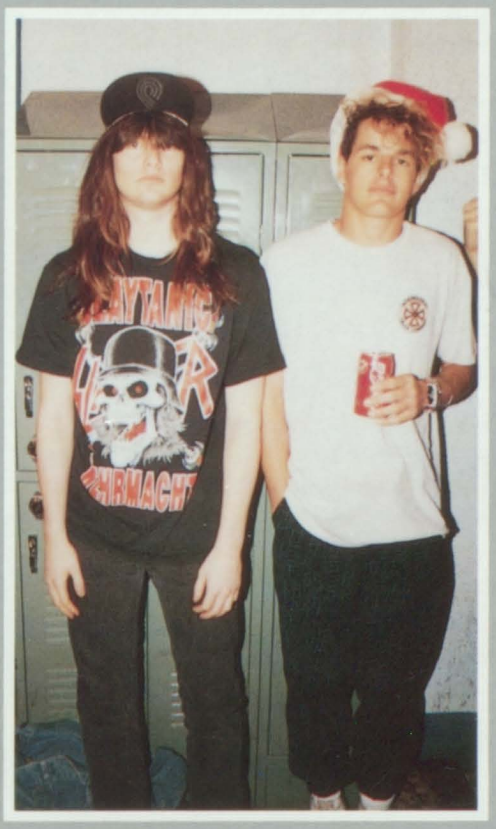

Derek Cooper is caught wearing the ever-popular, but forbidden, tank top.

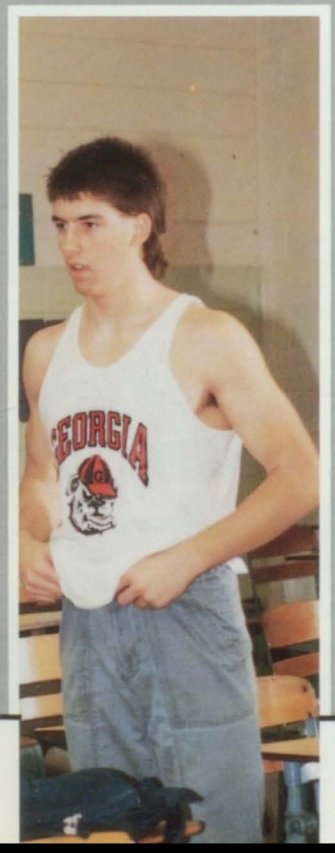

Durmon Thomas and Anquan Clark are "stylin' and profilin'" in their identical jogging outfits.

Chris Cook and Chris Rodriquez show how students are unique with clothes, hairstyles, and images.

Many students, such as Masashi Nishimura, wear their fashionable jean jackets to school.

Survival At Northside

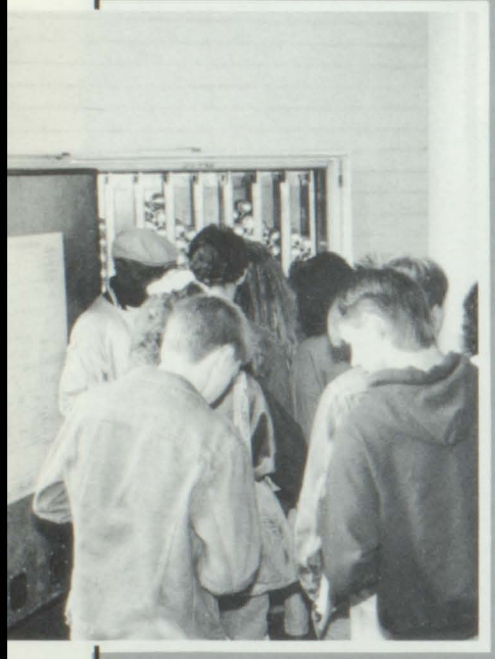

Only The Strongest Survive In The Jungle

What can we do, as students, to survive the many difficulties endured each day? Despite the glorious feelings of coming to school each and every day, students find it necessary to share their techniques for survival with their fellow classmates and to find the easiest way to keep from reading a book.

School is like a small society preparing a person for the real world! It is where students have a chance to use what we've previously learned in former classes. The survival systems range from the very simple to the very bizarre. These varied systems help us to survive the intensified atmosphere of school and the pressures of the world around us.

Sometimes students find it necessary to break away from school's hassles and find the joys of telephone usage, the daily morning break, and the lunch break. Early dismissals appear to be popular among many students. There are problems students face on a daily basis. You are constantly fighting tides of kids as you go from one class to the next. There are those days when you have to run to class without being caught. There are those days when you want to go home early, but you just can't miss six periods test. Some days when things can't get worse, all of your teachers want "this" and "that" due on the same day. Even with all of this, they still don't let up on homework.

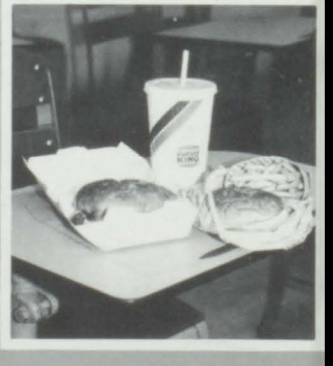

Students gather around the coke machine to kill a morning thirst.

These students keep up with their studies to stay afloat in school.

Mrs. Sims is swamped by students wanting early dismissals.

A trip to Burger King at lunch could help in getting students through the day.

One way to make a school day brighter is to receive balloons and flowers.

Sophomore Peter Dougherty is excited to get help from Kim Waters.

Pam Shiflet is all smiles as she gets to leave early for work.

During lunch Nikki Williams finally gets to use the phone after standing in line.

PRIDE AT NORTHSIDE

We've Got It!

When sophomores enter Northside they soon realize the amount of PRIDE displayed by the upperclassmen. PRIDE is evident from the first day of the year. However, PRIDE is not understood unless it is experienced. A student who attends Northside for a few months soon realizes why Northside is held in high regard. PRIDE cannot be touched, but rather is seen, heard, and felt whenever one is associated with Northside High School. Students choose to emotionally or physically support Northside in all of its endeavors. The committment of faculty and students makes it possible to attain our goals. There are always Northside students willing to do the job. Over and over Northside receives various rewards from competition in drama, debate, ROTC, and athletics. Rewards come in the forms of trophies, letters, plaques, titles or verbal praise. Whatever task is tried, PRIDE should be felt by each and every Northside student.

Clowning around are Mary Mills, Chris Ingram, Rob Gordon, Joey Rigsby, Laura Burden, Charlotte Billingsley, and Ronda Huddleston.

These seniors let everyone know that they are proud of their status!

The band faithfully follows Jennie Peterson as she marches off the football field.

Just a reminder to everyone of just how great Northside really is!

For the past three years during the football season, Caleb Carter has made run-through signs that the Northside Eagles have been proud to display.

Given to Northside by the class of 1981, the Eagle proudly flies over the school so that all passerbys can see him and catch a glimpse of our pride.

During the Warner Robins' pep rally, LaWanna Whitehead stretches out the connected spirit links, sold by Junior Civitan and purchased by the individual classes and teachers.

During the traditional evening pep rally, Steven Varnadoe stands to cheer his team on as he plays his trombone in the Blue Wind Marching Band.

PRACTICE AT NORTHSIDE

Many types of practice are an everyday occurance at Northside.

Probably the most dreaded feature of any activity at Northside is the daily routine of practice. Because Northside students and the faculty advisors want to have the best possible program in every area, practice is a necessity. Some activities, such as the band, the football team, and the cheerleaders, practice quite frequently in the summer. Often times the heat makes these practices unpleasant and frustrating, but Northside students give all of their efforts so that they can maintain their status of always being the best. During the school year, students learn to juggle their many required practices for various activities with homework and studying. Students involved in ROTC practice during class and after school. Students involved in drama must spend numerous hours of practice so that their plays and performances will be perfect. The result of these practices has been many awards and honors.

Michelle Smith seems to be enjoying an afternoon of band practice.

Some female members of the ROTC dutifully practice afterschool for their pregame show during football season.

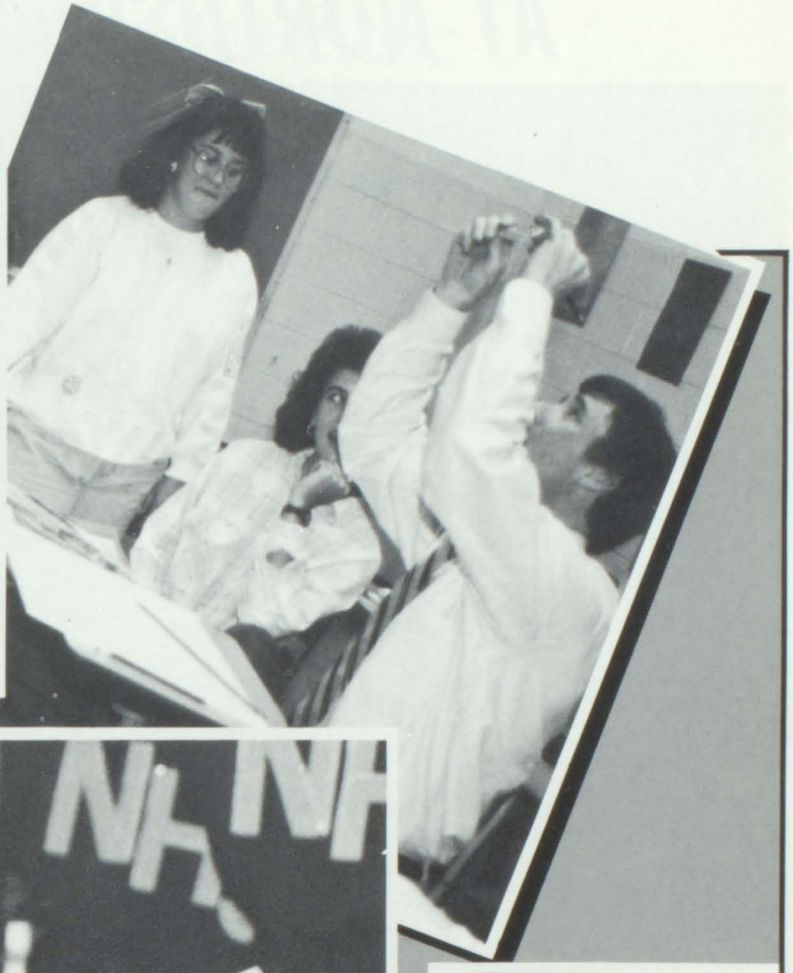

Chris Swain and Bruce Phillips practice their housekeeping skills in the art room.

Pat Crawford, Cory Dinkins, and Don Hudson enjoy practicing eating rather than cooking.

Meeting after school are Lindy Feightner, Amy Wilson, and Samantha Bozeman who are instructed by John James on how to crop a picture for the annual.

Daydra Cain practices playing the flute in the band room during sixth period.

Melisa Collins and Kelli Hilliard, along with the rest of the squad, perfect their cheers.

SPIRIT WEEK AT NORTHSIDE

It's Eagle-Demon Time Again!

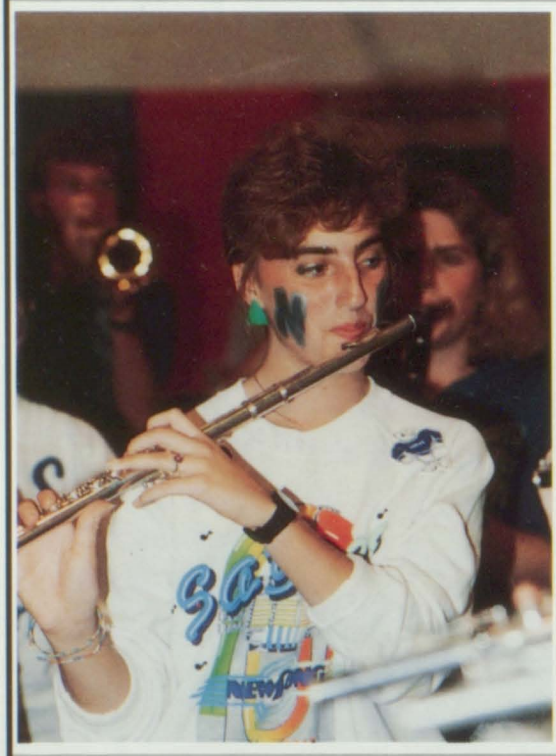

A stranger walks into Northside High School. He is amazed by the sights and sounds that greet him. The walls have spirit signs covering them. Paper Demon heads with red slashes across them hang from the ceiling. Kids wearing their nerdiest clothes scream and holler to the beat of the band. The stranger leaves the school quickly believing they have all lost their minds.

But, no, the Northside students have not lost their minds. It is only Spirit Week, the week of the Northside-Warner Robins game. Throughout the week, Northside students show their Northside pride by dressing according to the theme of the day.

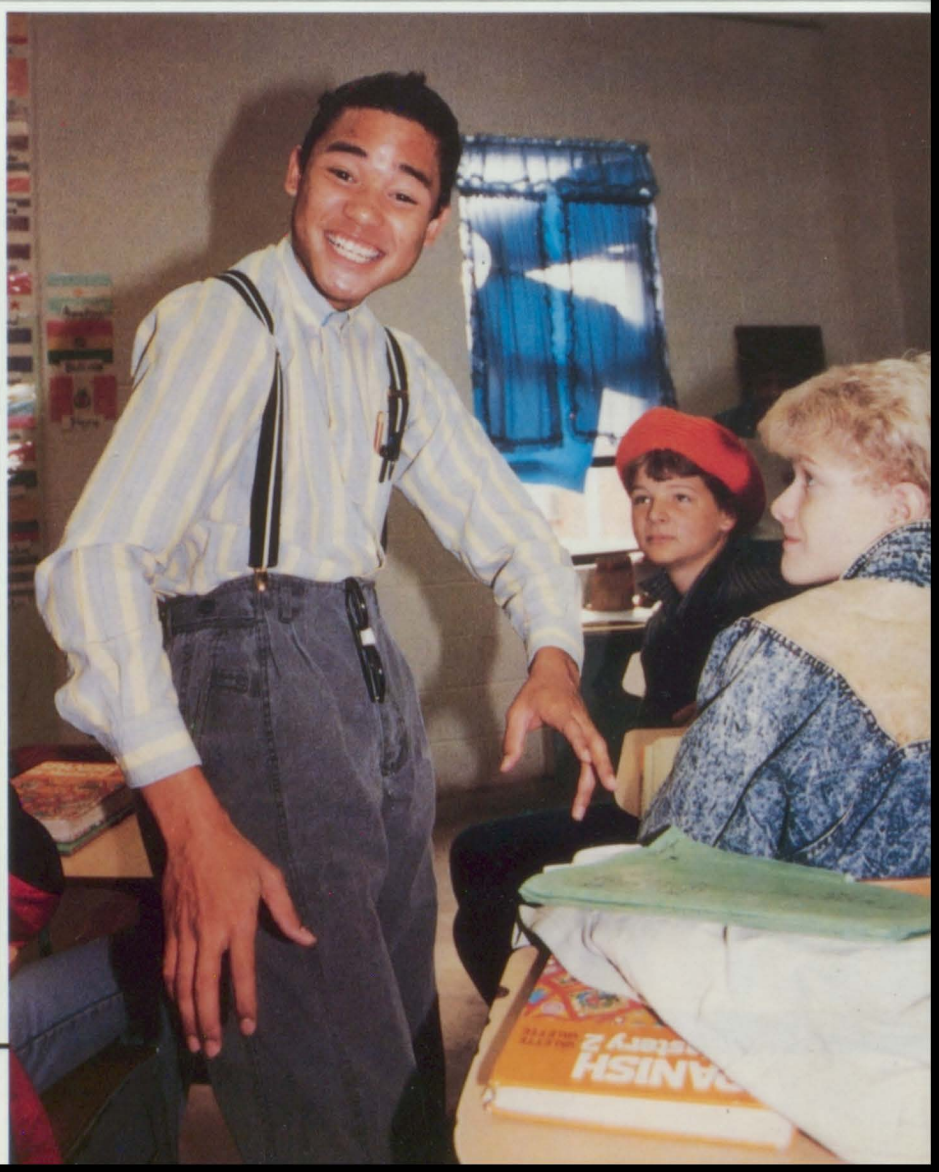

"Chill the Demons" day is one of the themes of the week. On this day, students dress up in their most fashionable clothes, "shades," and hats. This is to show the Demons that they have absolutely no sense of style when compared to the Eagles. "Nerd" day is another theme of the week. On this day, everyone dresses up in their nerdiest clothes to imitate how nerdy the Demons are. "Blue and white" day is the day when Northside shows its true colors. However, the favorite day of all Northside students seem to be "sweat the Demons" day when the students get to wear their comfortable sweats to school which is normally against school rules.

With her flag which announced "Demon Killers", the Northside Eagle helps to cheer the crowd on during a night pep rally.

Nicole Smith gets into the spirit of Spirit Week by painting her face in Northside colors and by playing in the band.

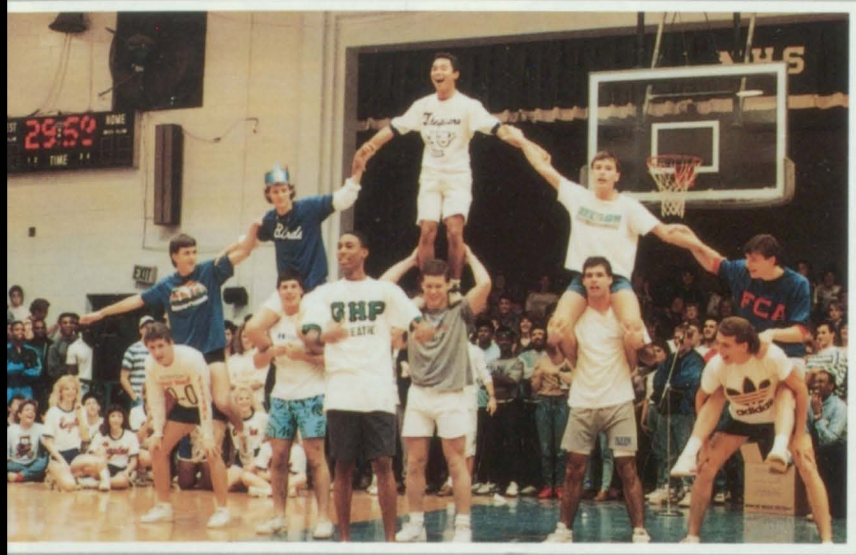

Rob Gordon shows a group of sophomores how to be a real nerd and show Eagle Spirit at the same time during Spirit Week.

Roger Allen Blizzard and Eric Carter get into the theme of Spirit Week by wearing sunglasses to "Chill Out the Demons."

Some of the Varsity Cheerleaders lead the student body in spelling Eagles in one of the favorite cheers with the band.

The guys show their cheerleading abilities when they do a pyramid in front of the student body at a pep rally.

Charles Davis, Michelle Smith, Phyllis Nealy, and Steven Varnadoe show their nerdy personalities on Nerd Day.

Kelli Hilliard, the Varsity Captain, leads the senior side of the gym in a cheer during the Thursday night pep rally.

Friends at Northside

One of the most special memories that a person can gain from Northside High School is a friendship to last a life time. There are many students who have their group of friends, but if you look closely you will see that all the students at Northside share a common friendship. The friends at Northside gather together at lunch and at break to share the latest gossip and most importantly, to share their goodies from the break room. They attend many meetings together as well as the various extracurricular activities Northside has to offer.

If you were to go to the Northside Senior Ball and the Junior/Senior Prom, you would see the various friendships which are formed. It is tradition for several couples to go out to eat at a nice restaurant and then all caravan to the special occasion. There are always special memories to come out of these friendships and usually they continue even after all of the friends graduate from high school.

David Shephard, Elaine Summers, and Tammie Helms enjoy "hanging out" on the Junior bench during their free time.

Best friends, Melanie Harrison and Robin Harbin, can always be seen together around Northside High School.

Derek Lumsden and Caleb Carter try to relieve Angela Boulden's tension before she performs in the Miss Northside pageant.

Sophia McGrady and Jackie Roquemore pose for the camera just as Laura Burden decides to cut up behind them.

Shawntee Gibson, Mr. Mattox, and Darquita McColumn appear to be all smiles because it's a Friday morning.

Jennifer Rogers and Norika Wyatt show their true feelings of friendship even when they have to dress as Warner Robins' nerds.

Standing around after school, Christy Bouler and Kaci Boulware enjoy spending much of their time together.

HOMECOMING 1988

Marie Kemp Homecoming Queen

Again this year, Northside continued the tradition of electing a Homecoming Queen. Each year the student body elects girls from each class. Once a list of those names has been compiled, the students vote again to narrow the list down to five girls from each class.

On October 3, a special assembly was held and each girl presented a speech to the student body. Afterwards the students voted again to choose two sophomores, two juniors, and three seniors. Then the student body voted once more electing the 1988 Homecoming Queen.

The last Homecoming assembly honored the seniors involved with the football season. Afterwards the Queen's court was introduced. The sophomore princesses Stephanie Womack and Becky Smith and their escorts were presented, as well as Cara Blackgrove and Nicole Spires, the junior princesses, with their escorts. Waiting for the winner to be announounced were Marie Kemp, Tangie Rambert, an Rhonda Upshaw and their escorts. The question of who would become the new queen was on everyone's lips. Marie Kemp was ecstatic as her name was announced.

The other members of the court are Nicole Spires, Cara Blackgrove, Stephanie Womack, and Becky Smith with their escorts Kevin Enckler, Joe Shuttlesworth, Eric Hubbard, and Scott Culpepper.

HOMECOMING 1988

Assembly Honors Seniors

One of the most memorable events at Northside is Homecoming. However, the Homecoming assembly is more than just the crowning of the Homecoming Queen. It traditionally honors the seniors who participated during football season and recognizes their accomplishments. Caleb Carter was the emcee of the assembly. He listed the accomplishments of everyone honored as they walked to their seat. There were five groups of seniors invloved in the presentation. The senior band members were the first group honored with the senior flag members and the senior majorettes next. Then came the senior football players and the senior cheerleaders. Each person honored had all eyes on him or her as they were escorted to their seat by the person of their choice.

Two people not always recogized are Ms. Woelfel and Mrs. Littlefield who organized the assembly. They should be commended for making the 1988-1989 Homecoming assembly great!

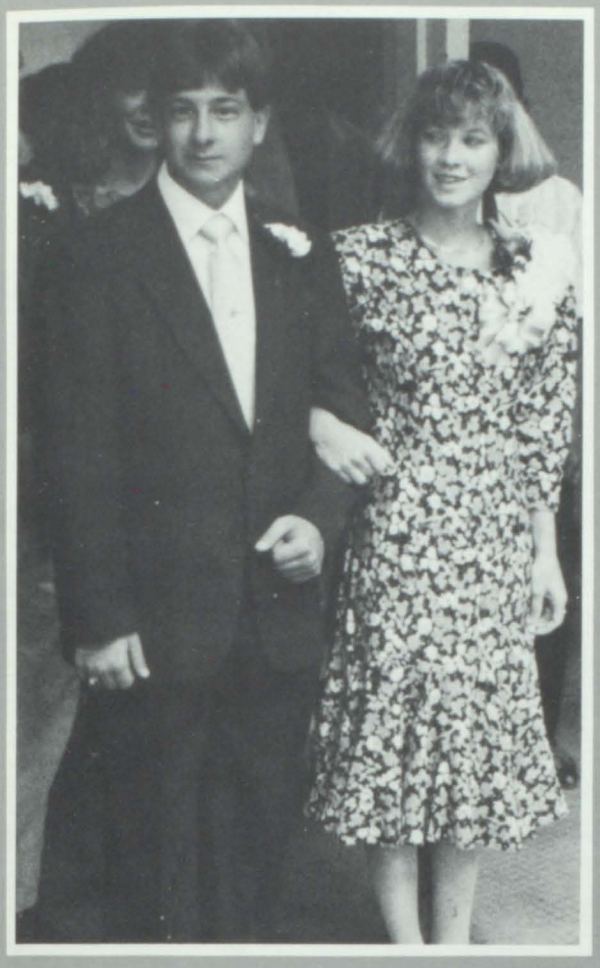

Doing an awesome job on the piano during the Homecoming Assembly are junior Angela Bolden and senior Melanie Stephens.

Practicing to get everything just right, Mrs. Littlefield tries to make sure that everyone takes the right steps at practice.

The Northside ensemble performs a medley of songs before the student body and parents during the final Homecoming Assembly.

Roger Allen Blizzard and his escort Kim Waters are anticipating their names to be called to take their walk in front of the audience.

As the student body looks on, the Senior flag girls wait for the rest of the seniors who are going to be introduced.

Wishing she could have been Homecoming Queen, Jill Moore as the Eagle mascot appears to be getting into the act.

Listening intently to Caleb Carter introducing the next couple are some of the senior flag girls and their escorts.

Before the assembly begins, Mr. Dyson gives Caleb Carter, the emcee, a few pointers for the many speeches he has to make.

Homecoming Parade

Beautiful Day for a Parade

With excitement in the air on a beautiful Thursday afternoon, without a cloud in the sky, the 1988-89 Homecoming Parade headed down Watson Boulevard. As the cheerleaders began to cheer and the band began to play, the crowds began to line the streets to watch one of the longer parades of Northside's history. The float competition was close. After the dust had cleared the Senior class float had won.

Even though the walk was long, everyone participating and watching seemed to have a good time, which is the goal of the parade. Over the years, the parade has grown in size and spirit, especially with anticapation building around the game the following night.

Many people spent an uncountable amount of hours trying to make the parade a success. Amy Wilson, who was one of many who put countless hours into the senior float, said, "We stayed until two o'clock in the morning trying to put the float together. It was a lot of hard work."

All the hard work really paid off. This year's Homecoming Parade was one of the best ever.

Kaci Boulware and Sirimada Mathews attend to a last minute detail on the senior float before the Homecoming parade begins.

Alexis Ande shows her true school spirit as she imitates a mean Northside football player on the Junior class float.

The Northside Blue Wind Band proudly marches and plays in the twenty-sixth Homecoming parade down Wastson Boulevard.

"The Seniors are Coming!" Everyone knew this as the class of '89 showed off their 1st place float.

Julie Weatherford, the senior drum major, proudly prepares to lead the Northside Blue Wind Band in the Homcoming parade.

The Homcoming Court members posed enthusiastically for a picture on their float during the Thursday afternoon parade.

The Northside cheerleaders have been riding on the firetruck for the last 26 years and it is still a tradition today.

TINTYPES

Live Forever

Through the cast of TINTYPES, America's heritage was reborn on the stage. The play was upbeat, colorful, and all around entertaining. The cast performed at numerous churches and elementary schools, as well as at the dinner theater. They also attended conference, and competed at the region and state level. The cast gained the first place region title and were named first runner up at the state competition level. At the region competition a judge stated that TINTYPES is a show that every high-school should be able to see. In addition to the cast awards, other members received individual awards. Caleb Carter received best actor at both region and state. Overall, the one-act was a great success. TINTYPES will live forever.

Rob Gordon catches the audience's attention with a powerful speech.

Phil Little is very serious during one of the practices.

Debbie Gee and Johnathan Smith make great dance partners in the One Act play.

Greg Boatwright, Ashleigh Andrews, Johnathan Simon, and Franklin McGrath appear excited about their homeland, America.

Mrs. McMeans is caught after an afternoon of aiding Ms. Campbell's design and sew costumes.

Johnathan Smith and Tanji Rambert playfully argue during their duet.

Richelle Robi, Franklin McGrath, Dawn Carpenter, and Russ Brand rehearse.

Lisa Davis and Kenitra Burnette rehearse at an afterschool practice.

The entire cast poses for their photograph to be taken.

PLAY WINS REGION AGAIN

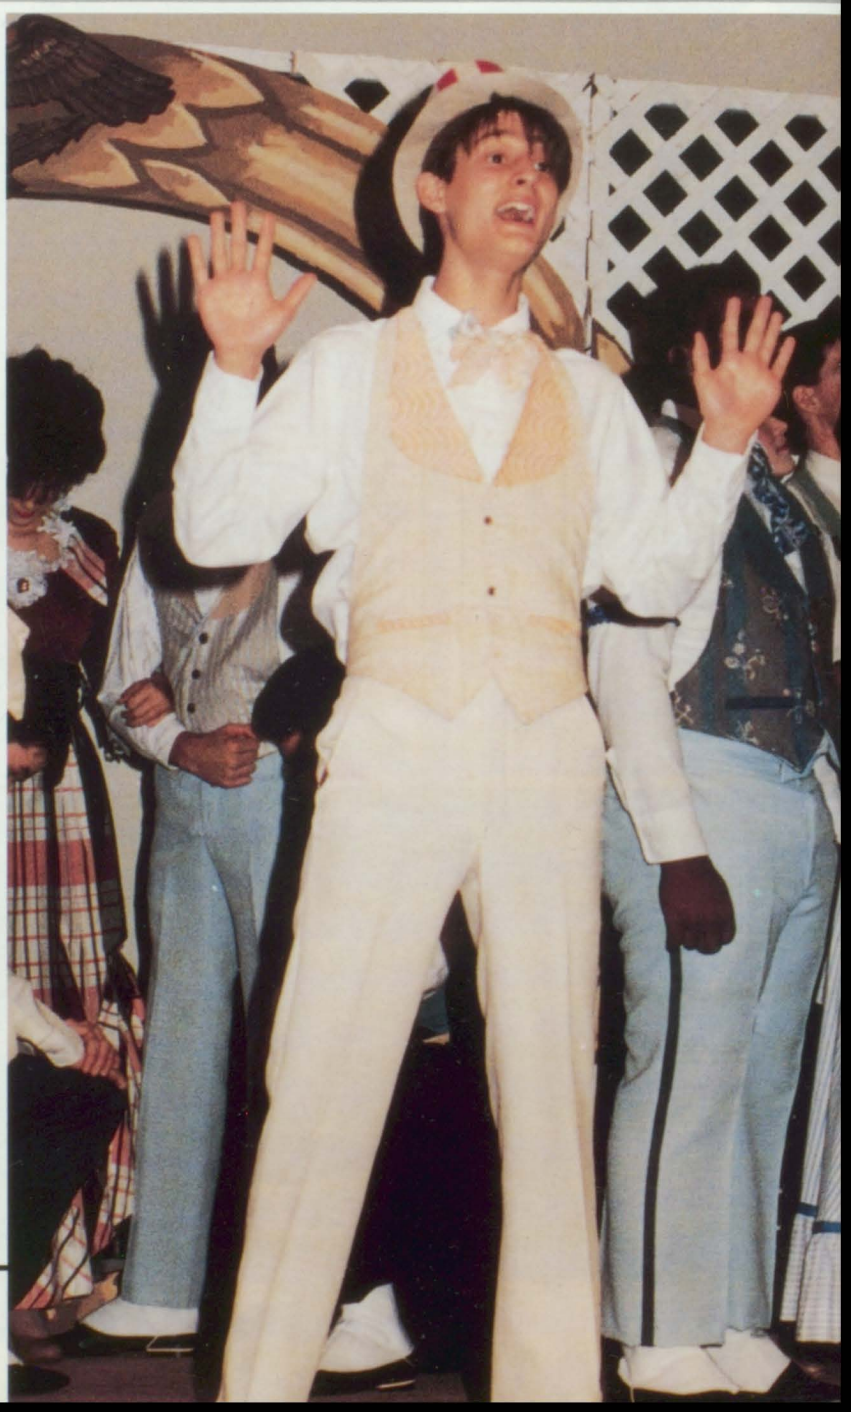

The cast consisted of Ashleigh Andrews, Greg Boatwright, Caleb Carter, Scott Culpepper, Lisa Davis, Debbie Gee, Rob Gordon, Keith Leary, Phil Little, Millie Littlefield, Franklin McGrath, Matt Schultz, Johnathan Simon, Johnathan Smith, Tanjie Rambert, Angela Bolden, Kenitra Burnette, Dawn Carpenter, Richelle Roby, Michelle Smith, Tijwanda (Precious) Thomas, Russ Brand, Lisa Brewer, and Brian Carpenter. The following students also contributed back stage in one way or another: Tara Amos, Wanda Brockett, Becky Buller, Kiersten Bush, Jill Katey, and Will Williford. After several afternoons of auditions, the cast was chosen around mid-October. The cast spent many long hours perfecting the play before taking it to competition in Valdosta in November. The cast worked with choreographer, Ken Raphael for many weeks. Dedication and hard work help to build character. This is another job well done by a one-act family.

These passengers appear enthusiastic in their "Merry Oldsmobile."

During this comical duet, Michelle Smith tries to steal the spotlight from Ashleigh Andrews who is entertaining the audience.

Brian Carpenter opens the play by declaring "I'm a Yankee Doodle Dandee."

It is obvious that Tanji Rambert enjoys performing with the drama troup.

Dawn Carpenter and Millie Littlefield really feel the "Electricity."

Kenitra Burnette welcomes immigrant, Caleb Carter, to America.

Disgust is the necessary reaction, as Rob Gordon portrays, when another character tells a bad joke in a vaudville number.

Jonathan Smith and Jonathan Simon are the perfect pair to sing this duet.

JROTC Assembly

Keshea Madison is Queen.

The annual JROTC Assembly was held on March 2, 1989 in the gymnasium. Once again, the faculty and students had the opportunity to listen to their favorite tunes played by the Reserve Generation Band of the Air Force Reserve which has been entertaining Norhtside for the past fifteen years. The band played current hits such as "When a Man Loves a Woman," "Locomotion," and "I Heard It Through the Grapevine."

Every girl in JROTC is automatically entered into the contest. Other girls who wish to enter may sign up. The ten girls with the highest scores go on to compete for princess or queen.

The 1989 JROTC Sweetheart Court included sophomores: Dawn Kuitko, Latrese Pierceson, Evonnie Owens, and Stephanie Smith; juniors: Kia Mitchel, Leanne Meadows, Carol Callen, and Sharon Jones; and seniors: Keshea Madison and Tangela Robinson. Chosen as sophomore princess was Latrese Pierceson; junior princess, Leanne Meadows; and the queen, senior,Keshea Madison. C/Commander Franklin McGrath was Master of Ceremonies.

After being crowned the new JROTC Queen, Keshea Madson sits in her honorary seat before the students during the JROTC Assembly.

Dawn Kuitko patiently awaits for the beginning of the JROTC Assembly.

After escorting their sweethearts at the end of the JROTC Assembly, some of the men pose for a group shot.

Leanne Meadows, Keshea Madison, and Latrese Pierceson are serenaded by the Reserve Generation Band of the Air Force Reserve.

Senior Sweetheart, Tangela Robinson, watches as the remainder of the Sweetheart Court walk down the aisle.

Unaffected by the bustle around her, Evonnie Owens smiles for the camera while the other participants converse in the background.

Carol Callen shows how estatic she is about being a Junior Sweetheart.

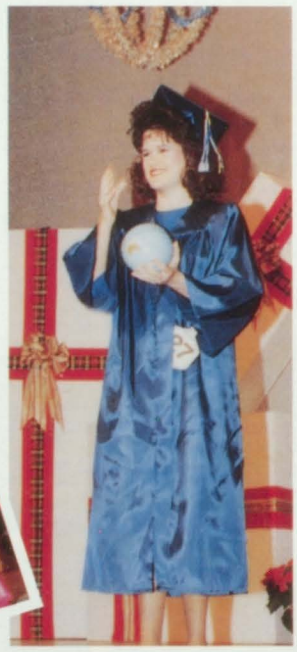

Walking beneath the swords, Kia Mitchel and her escort Edwin Matthews make their way down the aisle.

MISS NORTHSIDE PAGEANT

Senior Tanjaneca Rambert is crowned the new 1988-1989 Miss Northside before a cheering crowd of fans!

Ashleigh Andrews, winner of the interview competition, third place in talent, and first runner-up overall, gives the gift of knowledge as well as showing off her formal wear.

Kelli Hilliard as Rudolph gives her red nose to Santa during the informal competition. She was also the winner of the formal wear award as well as second runner-up

Millie Littlefield, who tied with Karen Parrish for the application award and was third runner-up, gives the gift of grace in the informal competition and sings for her talent.

Melanie Stephen, who was fourth runner-up, thanks her parents for "Raisin" her during her award winning informal wear act. She also displays her gown during the informal wear competition.

The winner is . . . TANJANECA RAMBERT! Tanji proudly displays her crown and roses before the crowd at the Civic Center.

Tanji Rambert, also winner of the talent competition, smiles to the crowd while parading her formal dress on Friday night.

During the informal wear portion of the pageant, Tanji Rambert gave the gift of the Bible and God's love to everyone.

MISS NORTHSIDE PAGEANT

Behind the Scenes With the Contestants Thursday and Friday Nights!

The Miss Northside Pageant has been a popular attraction for twenty-five years. Last October almost eighty girls attended the first try-outs. Preliminary judges graded these girls, and the list narrowed to twenty-seven. The girls practiced hard perfecting their talents and preparing their dresses and costumes until December. This year's theme was "And To All A Good Night."

On the first night the girls competed in the talent area. The following Friday morning they were judged on interview and application. That Friday night, after formal and informal competition, the top ten and the top five were announced. The top ten were Richelle Roby, Millie Littlefield, Karen Parrish, Tanjaneca Rambert, Michelle Smith, Kelli Hilliard, Melanie Stephen, Ashleigh Andrews, and Jennifer Miller. After nervous moments, the top five were announced. Then Jill Moore crowned Tanjaneca Rambert the new Miss Northside.

Holly Cadwell is showing her first time pageant jitters before going on stage.

Preparing for her talent is Angel Bowen getting ready to sing.

Even during the stress of the pageant, three friends, Dana Harrell, Mikki Bowman, and Elaine Summers, find the time and energy to smile happily for the camera.

Andrea Hutto is preparing herself to go on stage in her formal wear.

Wishing Karen Parrish the best of luck is Etta Carter.

Before the pageant begins each night, the contestants gather in a circle to have a moment of silence and prayer to prepare for the night ahead.

After a week spent preparing for the pageant and two long nights of worry on stage, these girls let off some pageant stress by showing their funniest looks to the camera.

Awaiting to take the stage for their talent and discussing the critera of the pageant are Kelli Hilliard, Susan Benton, Samantha Bozeman, and Jennifer Miller.

Before the night's festivities begin, Susan Benton and Dana Harrell are all smiles. They wait to go on stage to show off their dresses in the formal wear competition.

Best friends, Richelle Roby and Dawn Carpenter are all ready for their interview after quizzing each other on world and local affairs and school affairs.

MISS NORTHSIDE PAGEANT

All of the contestants have their moment in the spotlight both nights of the pageant!

For her informal wear on Thursday night, Meshon Davezan is dressed as an angel and gives the Christmas spirit to the world.

While showing off her lovely formal wear, Johnnetta Bowser flashes her brilliant smile to the audience in the civic center.

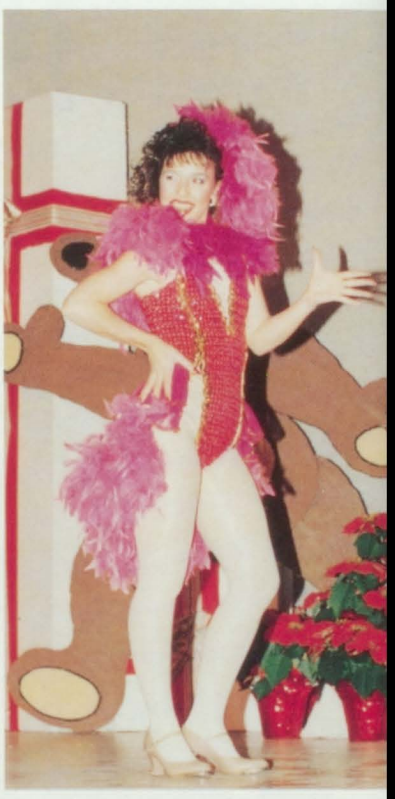

Leigh Kiser is the shepherd who gives to the baby Jesus a very special gift, which is one of the shepherd's sheep.

Karen Parrish shows the audience her acute sense of style and fashion in her pink feather talent costume Thursday night.

On talent night, all twenty-seven of the contestants gather together on stage in their costumes for the final curtain call.

For the informal portion of the show, Jennifer Miller gives freedom while she is dressed as the Statue of Liberty.

Michelle Smith displays her prettiest smile to go with her lovely gownwhile on stage during the formal wear competition.

Sophomore Lisa Brewer puts all of her emotions into singing her song on talent night before the crowded Civic Center audience.

Angela Bolden, dressed as a clock, thanks her parents for all the time they have spent on her.

Wearing her lovely gold lame dress, senior Samantha Bozeman smiles as she walks regally across the stage Friday night.

Dressing as a puppy dog, Becky Buller displays her talent by singing "Suppertime" during the talent portion of the pageant.

During the informal wear portion of the pageant, Debbie Gee shows she has a very big heart when she dresses as one.

Lynn Wendler flashes a smile for the audience as she is judged in her informal wear event which took place on Friday night.

Mock Election Held At Northside In November

Students get to portray the 1988 Presidential canditates.

On November 1, 1988, a strange phenomenon occurred in the gymnasium. Northside sponsored one of the most important debates between Bush/Quayle and Dukakis/Bentsen. There were many supporters for both sides. The debate was an experience most high school students will never forget because it caused them to think seriously about the upcoming election. It brought up the major issues of the campaign and students learned the stands of the candidates for the presidency on these issues. Most students would not have learned the candidates platforms if it had not been for this debate. The candidates for President and Vice-president of the U.S. for the Democratic party were Michael Dukakis, played by Kenny Hill, for President and Senator Lloyd Bentsen, played by Penny Stanescu, as his Vice-president. The President and Vice-president candidates for the Republican Party were Mike Hester as George Bush and David Slusher as Dan Quayle, his Vice-president. There were even reporters, played by Kelly Milner, Phil Little and Janetta Bowser. The moderator of the debate was Sherry Mc Elroy. Perhaps the mock electiom of Northside foreshadowed the outcome of the real election as George Bush had 669 votes cast for him and Mike Dukakis only 469. The mock election was a huge success, and a special thanks goes out to Mrs. Newberry and the History Club for organizing it.

The Bush supporters have confidence in the choice for President and therefore feel it is unnecessary to demean the opposing side.

Penny Stanescu portraying Lloyd Bentsen emphatically presses a point to win her audience's support while attempting to answer a question.

Mike Hester, although acting as George Bush, is showing his true personality by his sockless ankles and his winning look of confidence.

Kenny Hill resembles Michael Dukakis so, it is no surprise he was picked to portray the presidential candidate in the mock election.

David Slusher portraying Dan Quayle gives a winning smile to all of his supporters after he answers one of the reporter's questions during his speech.

Reporters, Phil Little, Kelly Miler, and Janetta Bowser look oh-so professional.

MR. NORTHSIDE 1989

Calab Carter is named the new Mr. Northside for 1989!

Mr. Northside is a time when we honor the guys whose time at Northside has been spent giving their all to show school spirit. Eleven seniors were chosen by the senior class this year to compete for the title of Mr. Northside. These eleven were Caleb Carter, Mike Hester, Don Hudson, Chris Ingram, Robbie Luna, Gary Matthews, Franklin McGrath, Eddie Oliver, Joey Rigsby, Todd Robbins, and Mark Thompson.

After these eleven were chosen, they were introduced during an assembly on February 7. The contestants introduced themselves and expressed why they felt that they should become the next Mr. Northside. The next day, the students and faculty as a whole voted. This tally became a part of the final scoring.

Caleb Carter and Mike Hester express thier bewilderment over the tough current events questions they have just answered.

Gary Matthews beams with pride over his first runner-up title.

Franklin McGrath realizes his hard work and preparation have truly paid him back well.

Joey Rigsby shows his excitement over his fourth runner-up trophy.

Mike Hester, third runner-up, is happy with his new present.

Caleb Carter is honored to be Mr. Northside.

The candidates take time to relax and goof around while waiting for their interviews.

Research shows that a more handsome crew would be impossible to find.

Caleb Carter is congratulated by the current Miss Northside, Tanji Rambert.

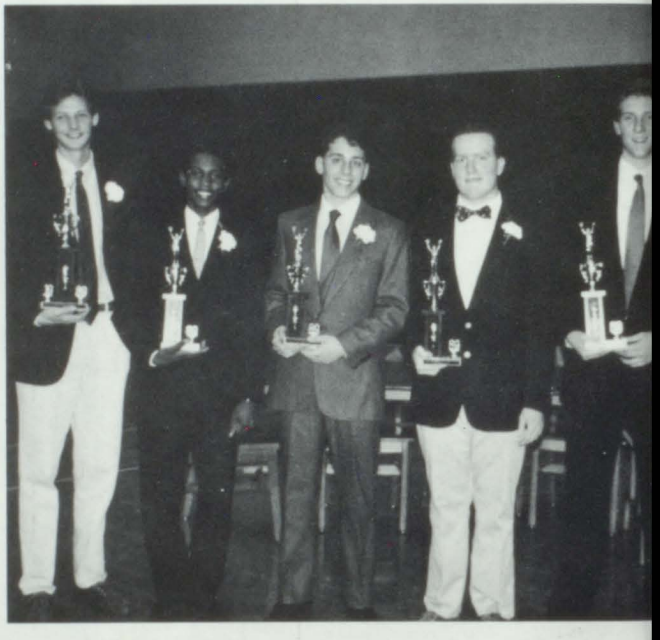

MR. NORTHSIDE ASSEMBLY

Mr. Northside Is Chosen From A Field Of Eleven Young Men This Year Instead Of The Usual Ten.

A week after the first Mr. Northside assembly, the students met in an assembly. Earlier that day, the contestants had met with the judges and had their interviews. During the assembly, the students listened as each contestant chose a question. After either Millie Littlefield or Andrea Hodge had read the question out loud, the contestant answered it. Each judge gave the contestant a score for his answer. The contestants were given points in five categories: student vote, faculty vote, application, interview, and impromptu question.

All eleven contestants listen to Mr. Dyson at the beginning of the assembly.

The top five finalists proudly display their individual trophies they received.

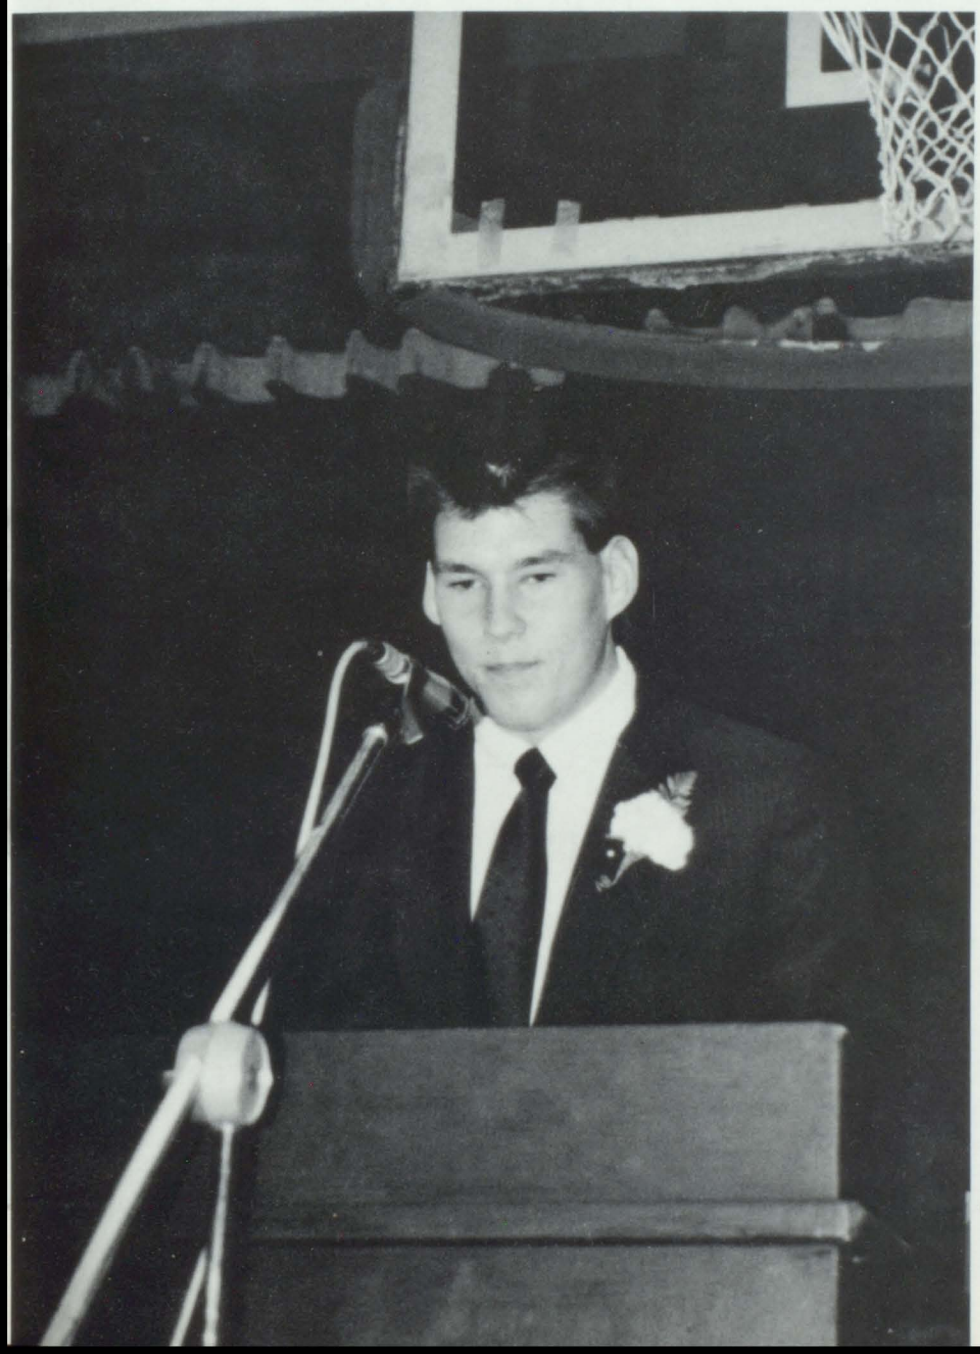

Mark Thompson listens with amusement to the question Millie Littlefield reads.

Franklin McGrath waits nervously for his name to be called.

Smiling for his friends, Todd Robbins waits for the assembly to begin.

Robbie Luna ponders the answer to his question as the crowd anxiously waits.

Eddie Oliver seems deep in thought as he organizes his answer.

These eleven young men pose one last time before the assembly begins.

SENIOR BALL

Seniors Enjoy An Evening In Greece

On February 18, 1989, Northside's lobby was transformed into a dance floor and lounge full of greenery and stately columns. The theme was a night in Greece. Though the ball did not begin until 8 p.m., people were here as early as 8:30 a.m. to decorate. That evening, couples entered the school through an archway of columns and danced downstairs to music provided by Bob's Mobile Sound. Upstairs, they could find tables where friends could gather to eat, chat, or take a break from dancing. Mrs. Strait and her foods classes prepared and served the refreshments. Other helpful teachers, such as Ms. Yongue, Mrs. Havrilla, and Mr. Mantiply, worked all day to decorate, also. The dance was wonderful and many fond, lasting memories were made.

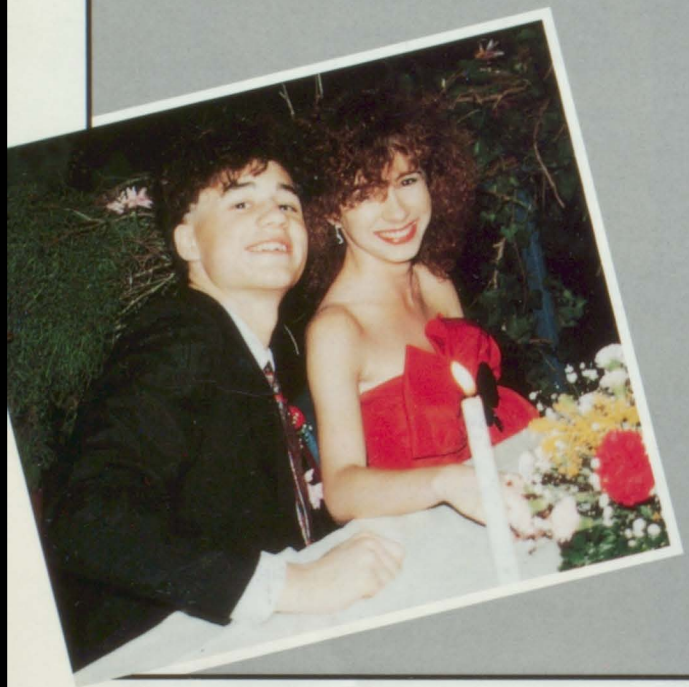

Mrs. Littlefield, Mr. Mantiply, and Mrs. Moore share a laugh.

Jan, Melanie, Eddie, and Etta were all smiles.

It is evident that Millie Littlefield and Wes Channell had a good time.

Sherry McElroy and Shaun Lauer are a unique couple.

Monica Brown and her date, Lamark Reliford take a short break from dancing to enjoy the punch and good conversation.

Amy Wilson and her date, Johnny Bagley, are smiling with their friends because they know they are creating a future of happy memories.

Keith Leary, Prissy Gallegos, Greg Boatwright, Morgan Arnold, Susie Santos, Marissa Panzarella, Pat Luther, Carol Rivers, and Cindy Godfrey pose.

After dancing the night away to the cool sounds of Bob's Mobile Sound, Joy Marsh and Fred Jackson contemplate blowing out the candles on their table.

Caleb Carter and Lindy Feightner let the good times roll.

Renee Morris tells Chris McDow to smile for the camera.

Kevin Queen chooses Melisa Collins as his ball " QUEEN."

Kevin Dover and Kelli Hilliard share a special slow dance.

DINNER THEATER

Comes to Northside

Although Northside is building on, we do hang on to favorite traditions such as dinner theater. Dinner theater is an unforgettable experience for both the audience and performers. This year's dinner theater was held on February 3rd and 4th, at Parkwood Elementary school. As always, there were many hungry, culture seeking people waiting to be filled with a delicious spaghetti dinner and wonderful acting, dancing, and singing. After a few opening words by Mr. Horne, the thespians of troop 2892 performed various acts. There was a wide variety of music and dance. Later, after an intermission, the One Act performed once again for the community.

The dinner theater took much preparation. Not only did performances have to be practiced, but tickets had to be sold, dinner had to be cooked, tables had to be set, tea and dessert had to be served, and lastly, clean up had to be finished. Many adults and students worked hard to pull together an exceptional dinner theater.

Richelle Robi and Dawn Carpenter busily collect empty plates and glasses.

These folks appear relieved to be through with serving.

Scott Culpepper, Rob Gordon, and Elaine Summers deliver cakes and pies.

Kenitra Burnette presents in song, "Out Here On My Own."

Greg Boatwright and Beth Scott find plenty of time to laugh with the guests at their table.

Franklin McGrath can't decide which piece of cake he'll eat when he and Millie Littlefield finish serving.

Corey Dinkins is half of the duo that won the 1988 lip sync contest at the Warner Robins Teen Center and performed the act for dinner theater.

Dana Harrell, Elaine Summers, Beth Scott, and Lisa Davis are not sure how many gallons of tea this crowd is going to drink.

Corey Dinkins helps Becky Bullard clear tables before the performance.

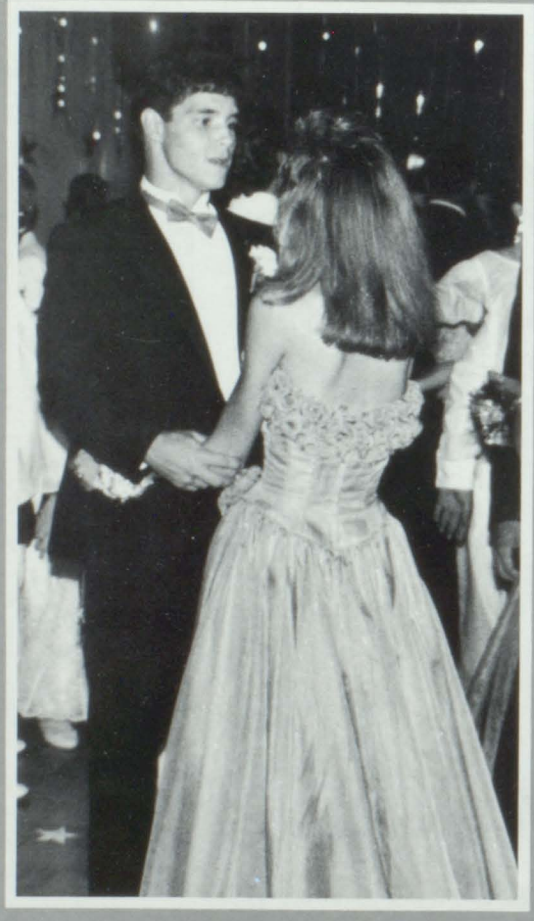

JUNIOR-SENIOR PROM

A Night to Remember

On May 6 the 1989 Junior-Senior Prom took place at the Radisson Inn. That night brought together the friends and family of all who attended. It gave hundreds of Northside students the opportunity to show the class, intelligence, and fashions they had been accustomed to since their sophomore year. The excitement that comes with any social event generated through the whole school, including those that did not attend the prom. Many juniors and seniors joined together to make the prom a true night to remember. The decorations included blue and white ballons that hung from the ceiling with silvery strings on the end. This feature gave the ceiling a glamorous appearance with every glance. There was also an arrangement of ballons at one end of the room that was in the shape of '89. Many students and teachers worked hard to decorate for the prom.

For most people preprations for the prom began as early as March. Searching for that perfect gown with that gentle-colored exterior and a pair of matching heels to supplement a gorgeous physique was surely a top priority for the females. The gentlemen, as well as the ladies, were searching for perfection. The gentlemen had to be sure they found a good-fitting tuxedo similar in color to that of their dates. The search was long, hard, and tiring but obvoiusly not discouraging because the excitement lingered on.

For this group of young people, the fun has just started.

Swaying to the music are Heath Martin and Bonnie Baker.

Christina Harwell and date stop for a snack before the shack.

Wow! What a tux! Gill Gordon is stepping out in style at this prom with his white cane and gloves. I know his date can't be far behind.

There is no doubt that Marcy Montfort and Selena Evans are having a good time. Smiles like those are a real pick-me-up.

Don Hudson surely took out time to attend the Prom and show off his great wardrobe with a great physique.

JUNIOR-SENIOR PROM

A Night to Remember

(cont.) After the proper attire was found, RELIEF was the main thought. Then, the only hold up was anxiously waiting for someone to ask or be asked as your escort. So many decisions had to be made within so little time. The confusion ended when most of the preparations were completed, but there were still some last minute adjustments to be made. When they were finally perfected for the occassion, the fun started upon arrival.

There were many changes in tradition at the 1989 Junior-Senior Prom. There was some special entertainment provided by Bob's Mobile Sound and their own personal dancers. This special floor show gave an update on all the dances of the '80s put to some of the most popular Hip Hop music today. The audience enjoyed watching them show their dancing abilities while attempting some dances of their own. Never before had the dance floor been enlarged for such a large number of students. Instead of having the refreshments in the same room as the dance floor, they were placed in a separate room for more mobility while dancing. These and other features made this Prom the most memorable for this year's graduating class.

Furthermore, that night was special for all of those wonderful students who were given the opportunity to express themselves through style and grace amongst all of their friends. What a night to remember!

This group is looking for "good vibrations" in more ways than one.

Kim and Keith Sutton believe the dance floor is the place to be.

Johnny Thomas and Daydra Cane decides to take a rest in the lobby.

(right) Kita Huggins and Gwen Davis have got to eat before the Prom.

Scott Eldridge and Meredith McDonald head for the dance floor in a frenzy of excitement that night (top, left).

Wyanette Moody and Tim Right (above) do a little investigation near the table before they decide to call it quits.

David Grace and Grace Taylor just couldn't let the night go by without showing it all on camera.

1989 Awards' Night

On May 29, 1989, the annual Awards' Banquet was held to honor all the students who exceeded in a particular subject or field. To be on top of all the rest is a hard task for anyone when there are so many others who could very well have the top spot. For their hard work, they received certificates, trophies, and some seniors scholarships. To be on top gives one a sense of accomplishment. It is these things that gives a person the confidence needed to succeed and these students that help make Northside a School of Excellence.

Penny Stanescu, Jalanda Standard, Mike Hester, Lisa Edge, Sandra Nichols, and Melanie Stephen are among the top ten in the senior class

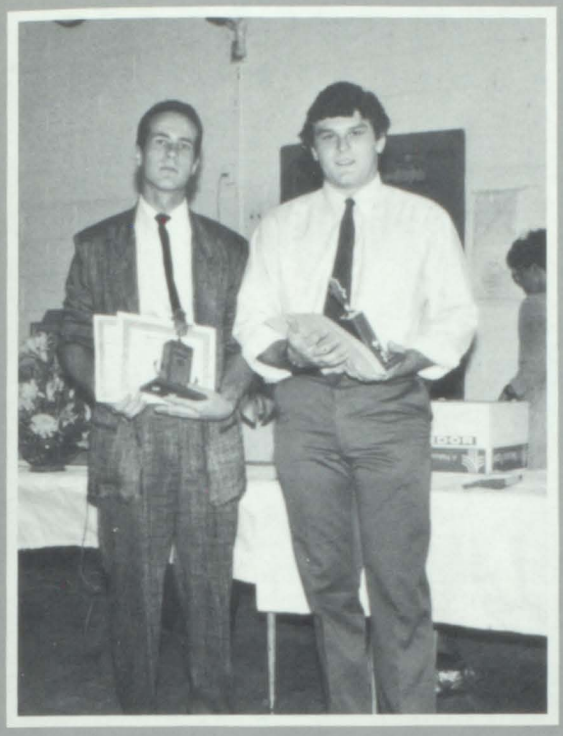

Ricky McClellen and Mike Hester proudly pose for the Georgia Scholor award that they received.

Gary Matthews and Darius Solomon take a moment to pose with their Air Force ROTC Scholarship for the camera as Colonel Mahaffe smiles with pride at the two.

Northsides' 1988 Valedictorian, Penny Stanescu, happily receives her award for all of her hard work through the years.

James Steinberg and Michael Truitt are recipiants of the Plymouth Trouble Shooting Award.

I Dare You Award winners, Franklin McGrath and Ashleigh Andrews happily pose for a shot with their awards.

Rotary Club representative Barry Jones presents Mark Thompson with the Rotary Scholarship.

Caleb Carter receives the Frances Hook Scholarship Fund of $350 for winning third place in a national art contest.

1989 Literary Competition

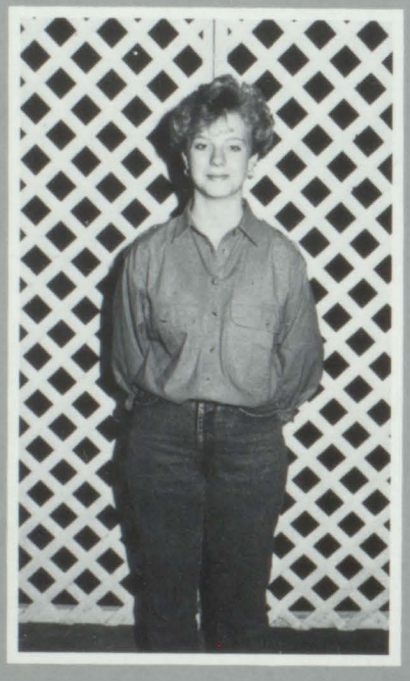

This year's literary contestants competed well in every category. Especially notable was the Debate Team which won not only a hard-fought region battle but also a very competetive state contest. Northside also won the region 1 Act Play and was runner-up in the state contest. This year's literary team won region and state honors by accumulating the most points in overall competition. Northside is very proud of its record of winning so many state and region contests.

Contestants in the Literary Contest are Julie Moeller, Daydra Cain-Dodson, Jonathan Simon, Sherri Mc Elroy, Debbie Gee, Angela Bolden, Susan Phillips Parkerson, Alisha Willis, Millie Littlefield, Phil Little, Scott Eldridge, John Crocker, Scott Culpepper, Jonathan Smith, Ashleigh Andrews, Mike Hester, Jerry Mc Gahagin, and Bridget Cooper.

Mike Hester competed in Boys' Extemporaneous Speaking, Debbie Gee participated in Girls' Oral Interpretation, and Phil Little competed in Boys' Oral Interpretation.

Julie Moeller represented Northside in Home Economics and placed first in the region with her presentation. Julie spent many hours working on her project so that she could represent her school well.

Sherri Mc Elroy competed in Girl's Essay and Mike in Boy's Essay. Alisha Will represented Northside in Girl's Spelling. Each one of these students did an excellent jo in their categories.

Star Student/Teacher and Quiz Bowl

Mike Hester was named Star Student with a score of 1350 on the SAT. Mike has made a name for himself at Northside in many different areas. For three years he has been a vital part of the Debate Team and several other academic competitions. Rarely beaten, Mike has long been a feared opponent in any competition he enters. He plans to attend West Georgia College on a full debate scholarship. He chose as his Star Teacher Mr. Bruce Rogers, his Debate Coach. He chose Mr. Rogers as his Star Teacher because of their long association in Debate. Both of these men are to be congratulated for their many successes.

Quiz Bowl contestants are John Crocker, Travis Griner, Tolga Musa, Chad Walters, Richard Coulombe, Jennifer Rogers, Casey Dement, David Slusher, and Mike Hester. Their sponsor is Mrs. Mary Beth Henke, a teacher in the Honor's program at Northdside. They entered several competitions and placed very well in each of them.

Scholarship Winners

For the hard work they've done, a total of twenty-four seniors received scholarships. Scholarships varied from as far as Washington, D.C., Iowa, and Florida, to as close as Macon, Georgia. Mrs. Summers put in long hours to get all of the paperwork organized for the seniors' applications to the different colleges. Scholarships for high academic achievements and for excelling athletic abilities were given out among Northside's senior class. The Presidental Scholar was based strictly on SAT scores. To receive this scholarship, scores on the SAT had to be at least 1300.

Usually applications for scholarships are sent off soon after Christmas. Whether or not the student will receive the scholarship is not known until spring. Out of the thousands of students from all around who send in scholarship applications, only a few are chosen for the award. These seniors who "stuck it out" through the years, received a well deserved award that will be remembered all through their careers.

Top 5% Banquet

On Tuesday, May 9, 1989, the twenty-sixth annual Scholastic Honors' Banquet was held. The honors' banquet was sponsored by the student council of Northside. A total of seventy-seven Northside students were honored at this banquet. Out of approximately 1,300 students at Northside, these seventy-seven students are in the top five percent of the entire school.

To began the evening, the secretary of student council Lindy Feightner did the invocation and then dinner was served. The president of student council Millie Littlefield welcome everyone who attended, and Vice President of student council Andrea Hodge introduced the guest speaker for the night Dr. Harold Chapman, Superintendent of the Houston County Schools. Principal Edward Dyson, Assistant Principal Alton Mattox, and Assistant Principal Charlotte Moore of Northside presented the awards of the night. Vocational supervisor Mike Ginn also assisted. The top 5% recipients were divided into three categories: first year recipients, second year recipients, and third year recipients. First year recipients receive a certificate and a scholastic letter. Second year recipients receive a certificate and a sweater and third year recipients receive a certificate, pin, and plaque.

Making the grades to be on top is hard to do. These students continued doing well throughout the year. They continued to push themselves during the times when they may not have really felt like doing anything. Having a positive attitude towards their work and the support of their family and friends paid off in the end. Their rewards were well deserved.

Mrs. Littlefield calls out the name of each honoree to come up and receive their reward.

1989 Spring Musical

THE BOYFRIEND comes to Northside.

This year's musical, sponsored by the Thespians, was THE BOYFRIEND. The story takes place at Madame Dubonnet's Finishing School on the outskirts of Nice, France. The play is set in the 1920's, and the costumes used in the play were very colorful and pretty. The play centers on all the girls at the Finishing School having a boyfriend except Polly Browne. That problem is, of course, solved by the end of the play.

The play featured sixty-four students who were on stage, and fifty-four students who participated in the set crew, costumes and orchestra. The play also had a guest director, Chris Gillespie, and two guest choreographers, Rick and Terri D'Onofrio. The costumes were designed and supervised by Lynn Campbell and Marlys McMeans. The set was designed and built by Donna Havrilla and Jim Maine. The orchestra was conducted by Jim Langly with Michele Dyal as accompanist. French teacher Lori Russo served as dialogue coach.

After their routine, Milli Littlefield as Polly and Brian Carpenter as Tony decide to go to the ball together.

Ashleigh Andrews is Madame Dubonnet and Frank McGrath is Percival Browne.

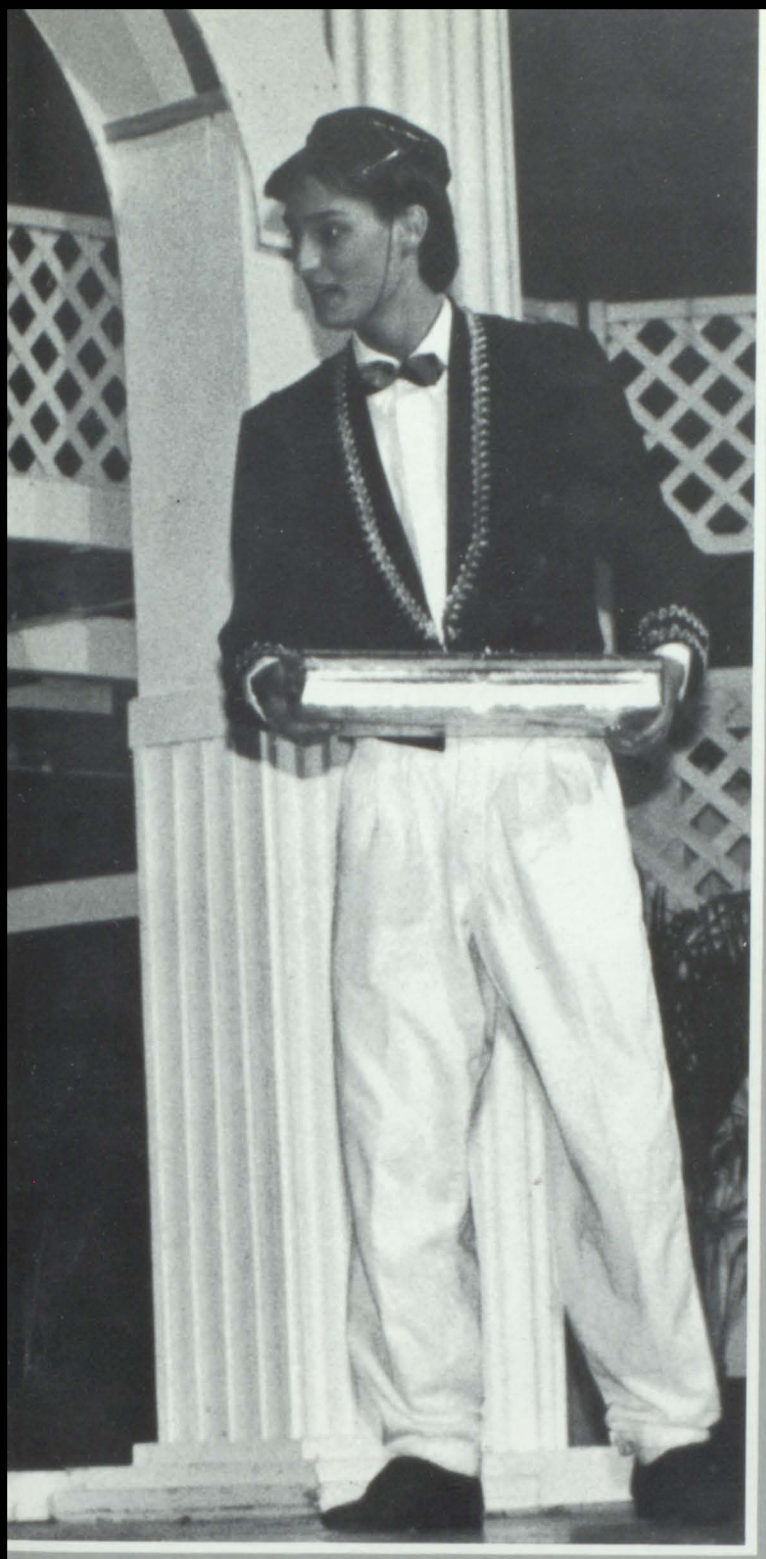

As Bobby and Maise, Will Williford and Michelle Smith dance the Charleston.

Madmae Dubonnet comforts Polly Browne because Polly has no boyfriend.

Matt Shultz as Alphonse and Lisa Brewer as Nancy dance to a musical number.

On the beach Polly and Tony dream of a future together.

In exotic masks and costumes for the costume ball that evening are the girlfriends Richelle Roby, Dawn Carpenter, Jennifer Miller, and Lisa Brewer.

Jennifer Miller and Rob Gordon are exciting dancing the sizzling Carnival Tango.

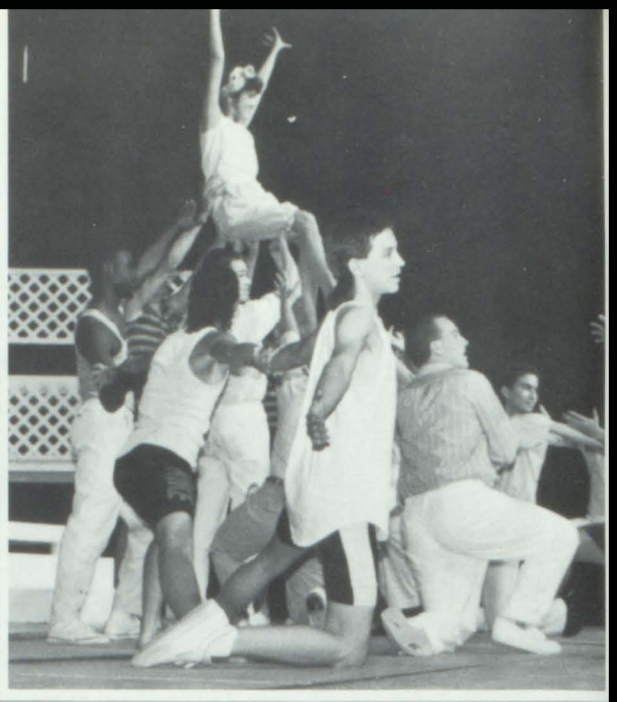

Greg Boatwright as Brockhust & Dawn Carpenter as Dulcie sing "It's Never Too Late."

THE BOYFRIEND provides great entertainment!

The following participated in the show: Michele Smith, Dawn Carpenter, Richelle Roby, Lisa Brewer, Millie Littlefield, Ashleigh Andrews, Kiersten Bush, Will Williford, Franklin McGrath, Brian Carpenter, Greg Boatwright, Jillian Moore, Josh Ray, Rob Gordon, Jeniifer Miller, Todd McInnis, Matt Shultz, Phil Little, Robin Harbin, Derrek Lumsden, Kenitra Burnette, Corey Dinkins, Venus Wilson, Sean Dinkins, Elaine Summers , Mark Thompson, Shelley Legaspi, Masashi Nishimura, Marca Mimbs, Mike Hester, Becky Buller, Chris Stanford, Melanie Stephen, Russ Brand, Tara Amos, Johnny Bagley, Lisa Davis, James Schoenholz, Sandra Nichols, Keith Leary, Angela Bolden, Scott Eldridge, Dana Harrell, Alan Smith, Johnnetta L. Bowser, Shermanda Bowser, Wanda Brockett, Monica Brown, Daydra Cain-Dotson, Lindy Feightner, Holly Hardison, Patricia Luther, Christina McClish, Bonnie Nichols, RoiAnn Pulliam, Jennifer Rogers, Beth Scott, Valerie Sell, Angie Slagle, Jeanie Stotler, tara Thomas, Lisa Tubbs, Kim Waters, Vicky Williams. The director was Ray Horne, who was assisted by Rick Unruh.

Striking a pose at the end of "Safety in Numbers" is Michelle Smith and her beaux.

Picture perfect on the beach are Dawn Carpenter, Lisa Brewer, Richelle Roby, and Jennifer Miller.

Polly and Tony find they are a perfect match as they sing their song "I Could Be Happy With You."

The entire cast puts on masks and costumes for the Carnival Ball as they join in on the shows's jazziest song "The Riveria."

As Hortense sings a number about Nice, the city they are in, she says it's "Nicer in Nice."

Ashleigh Andrews as Madame Dubonnet tries to cheer up Polly, played by Millie Littlefield, at the Carnival Ball.

Greg Baotwright as Lord Brockhurst treis to drag Jill Moore as Lady Brockhurst off the stage in one of the funnier scenes of the play.

Backstage At The Musical

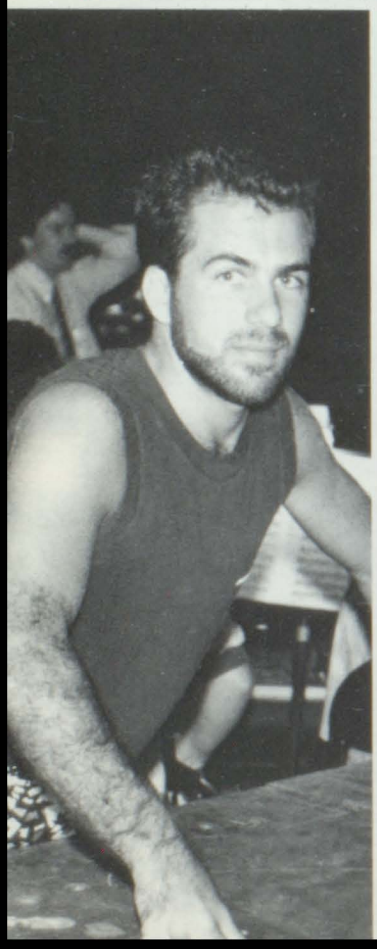

Many people work behind the scenes to make the musical run smoothly. The following students participated in making the costumes: Kem Baker, Brandi Barfield, Latresa Billings, Samantha Bozeman, Kim Brock, Wendy Brunson, Jill Catey, Jennifer Elvins, Lisa Hoyt, Andrea Hutto, Jeanelee Mizelle, Carol Rivers, Susie Santos, Verinica Torres, and Alisha Willis. The orchestra was made up of the following: Lisa DeHart, Wendy Hall, DeeDee Holley, Andrea Smith, Yvonne Grzenkowicz, Jerry Reppert, Roger Blizzard, Erik Carter, Brian Kiser, Ty Long, Lloyd McDonald, and Norika Wyatt. The students who were in the set crew class were Caleb Carter, Stephanie Bryant, Robert Nguyen, Ron Rhodes, John Rauls, Durwin Carter, Chris Neal, Matt Shultz, Eddie Oliver, Joey Rigsby, Dominic Turner, Shayne Allen, Lee Brown, Carol Callen, Mike Dyer, Neal Haslem, Rusty Johnson, Vicky Lowe, and Christina Messer. The ushers for the evening were the cadets from the NHS AFJROTC. Several students helped in general. They were Candie Brinson, Debbie Gee, Tangie Rambert, Jonathan Smith, Jonathan Simon, and Dana Woods. Mrs. Shirley Sims assisted backstage with the make-up.

Stacy Haslem, Neal Haslem, Matt Shultz, Durwin Carter, and Rusty Johnson spent many days painting the set during class.

Rick D'Onofrio coached all the dancers in the style of the 1920's dances. He served, along with his wife Terri, as guest choreographers.

Mr. Horne gathers the cast into a big circle for a pep talk before they go onstage for the night's performance.

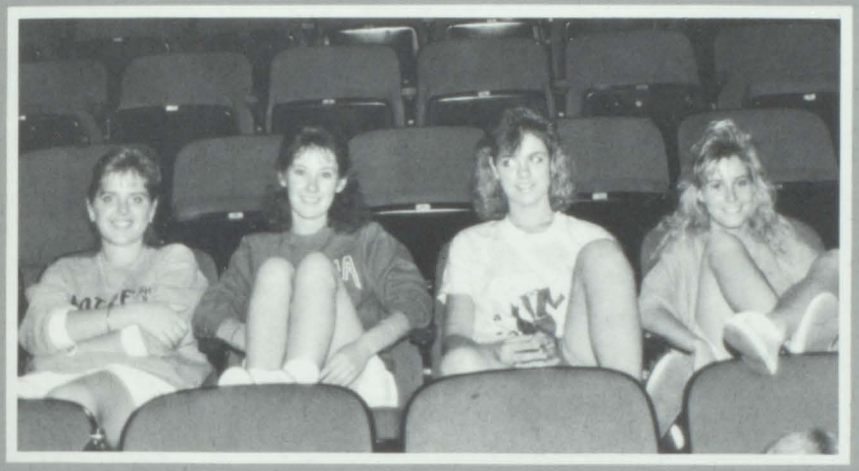

Jill Catey, Kim Brock, Wendy Brunson and Alisha Willis of the costume crew enjoy watching the show.

The set crew, supervised by Mrs. Havrilla and Mr. Maine, pose backstage between set changes.

Mike Dyer and Eddie Oliver work frantically to finish an entry way for the Carnival Ball scene.

Mrs. McMeans has helped Mrs. Campbell for ten years with the costume designs and with the sewing.

Senior Picnic

Seniors Rock the Park!

The senior picnic is something that every senior looks forward to from the beginning of the year as a final "aloha" before graduation. In the past, the senior picnic has always been a time that seniors had to say goodbye to some friends and party with others. This year was no exception.

All seniors are invited to join the fun at D.L. Fountain Park and enjoy the pool, the park, and the food. This year we may not have had the outstanding turnout as in the past, but those on hand feel that the picnic was a success despite the fact that many seniors decided to head straight to Lake Tobosofkee after graduation practice. In the tradition, there were watergun fights, belly-flop contests, and all the barbeque, hotdogs, and hamburgers that seniors could eat. To some seniors, merely getting free food was a sign of success for the picnic, but most seniors feel there was more to the picnic than that. The picnic is a time to have fun with not only your crowd but with the entire class; it's a time to be with friends you may not see after graduation; and lastly, it's the end of a world that many were anxious to leave three years ago but now find hard to let go of — it's the end of their high school life.

Mr. Mantiply dishes up some good 'ole barbeque for Tonya Boselie and all the other hungry seniors. The Senior Executive Body plans the picnic.

Derek Lumsden and Ron Rhodes can enjoy the sun and fun, but Matt Shultz, as a certified lifeguard, is called to duty on his day off!

After having a full day of partying and sports, Russell Ayres, Patricia Luther, Jeanine Stotler, and Lisa Burton take a break from the heat.

Angi Bean and Tammy Darcey eat lunch, talk, and watch boys together. After eating, they plan to check out the action at the pool.

For Dana Bragg, Kennon Brooks, Stephanie Gardner, and Lawanna Whitehead, the Senior Picnic is not a place to say goodbye but merely a place to decide what to do next!

John Rauls approaches the pool for some quick relief from the heat and maybe a little horseplay with the girls at poolside!

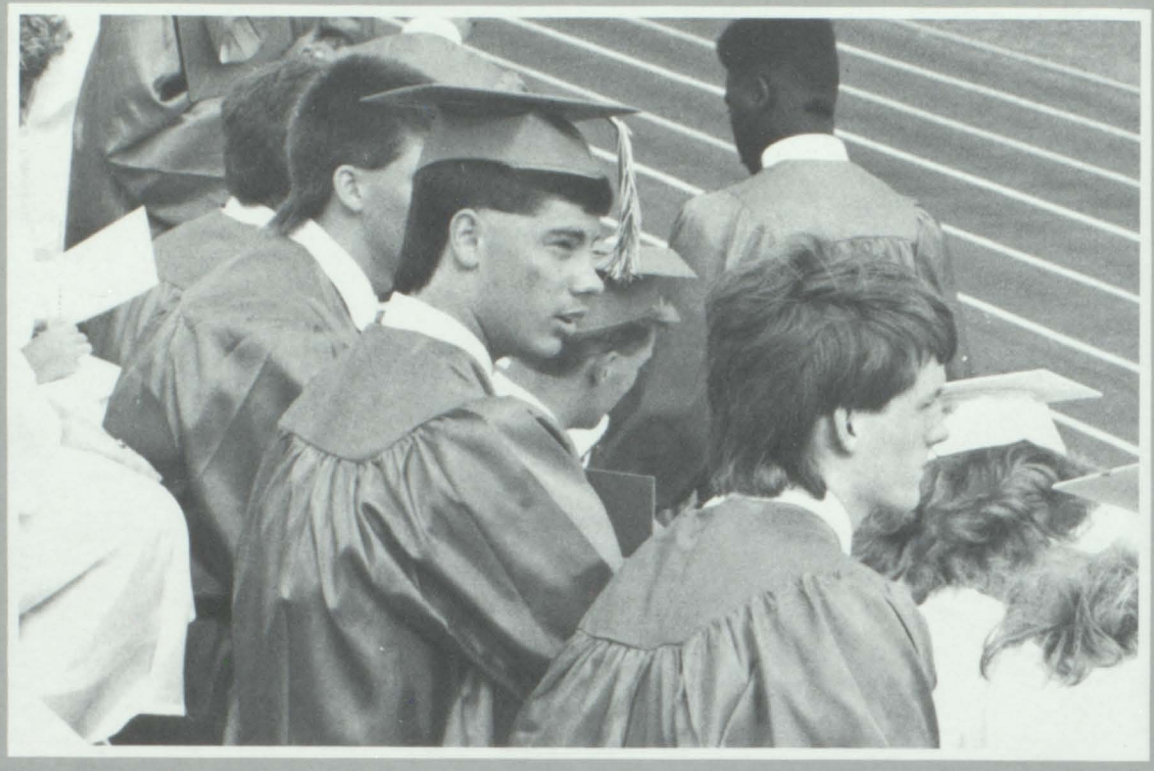

Who could these cool dudes chilling at poolside be? Why, it's none other than Chris Ingram and Pam Shiftlet! Nice shades, guys!

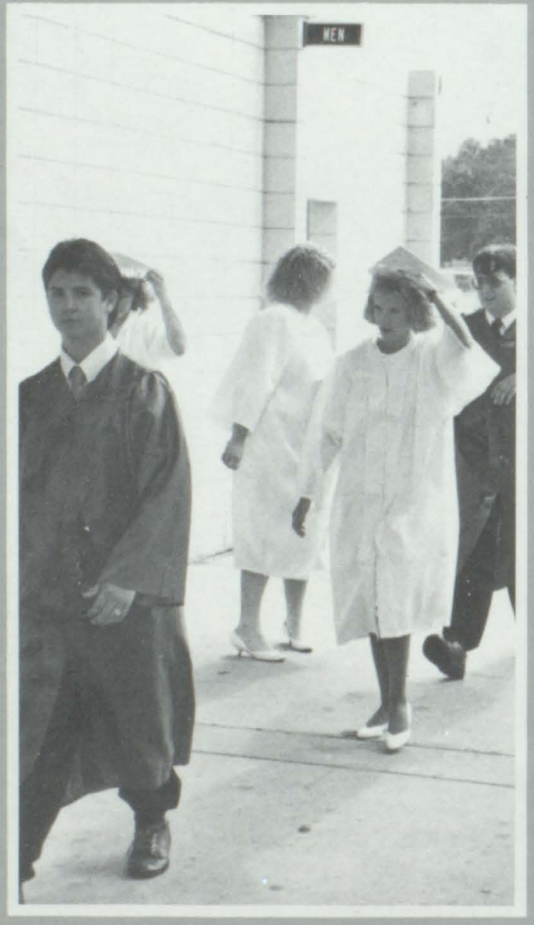

It seems that at D.L. Fountain Park, as it was at school, football games, pep rallies, and in the community, SENIORS RULE!

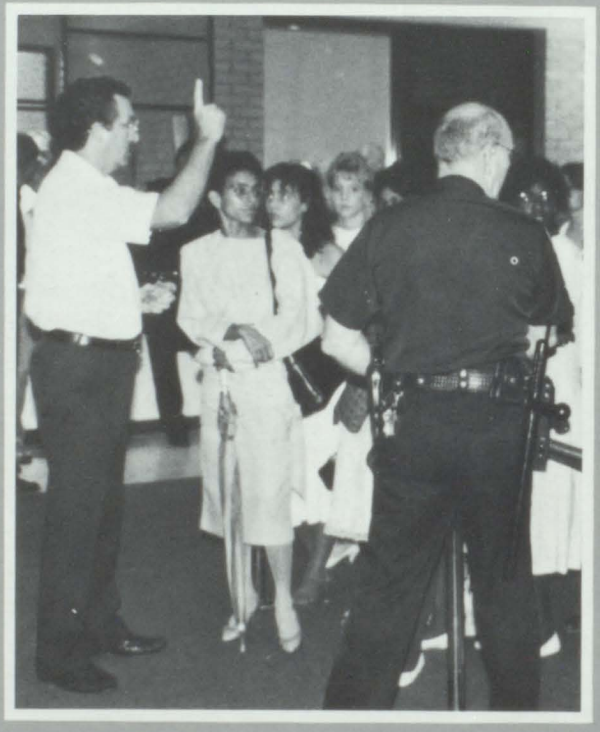

Graduation 1989

Mother Nature strikes for the second year!

On June 5, 1989, as the seniors gathered at International City Stadium for graduation, their hopes for a traditional graduation were shatterd when a sudden thundershower sent everyone to his car for shelter. Mr. Dyson announced that graduation would be held at the Civic Center at 7:00. Although seniors were disappointed at the change in location, graduation went as planned. The Civic Center was filled to capacity with relatives and friends as approximately three hundred seniors were awarded their diplomas. At the beginning of the ceremony school superintendent Dr. Harold Chapman spoke briefly to the many people gathered in the Civic Center. Some change in plans were necessitated by the change in venue. The band and chorus, who traditionally perform at graduation, could not perform as planned because of lack of space. Therefore the traditonal alma mater and various inspirational songs had to be ommitted from the program. As Mr. Dyson presented each diploma and shook the hand of each graduate, assistant principals Charlott Moore and Alton Mattox and instructional coordinator Gerald Boyd called the name of each graduate. Mike Ginn also assisted in the handing out of diplomas.

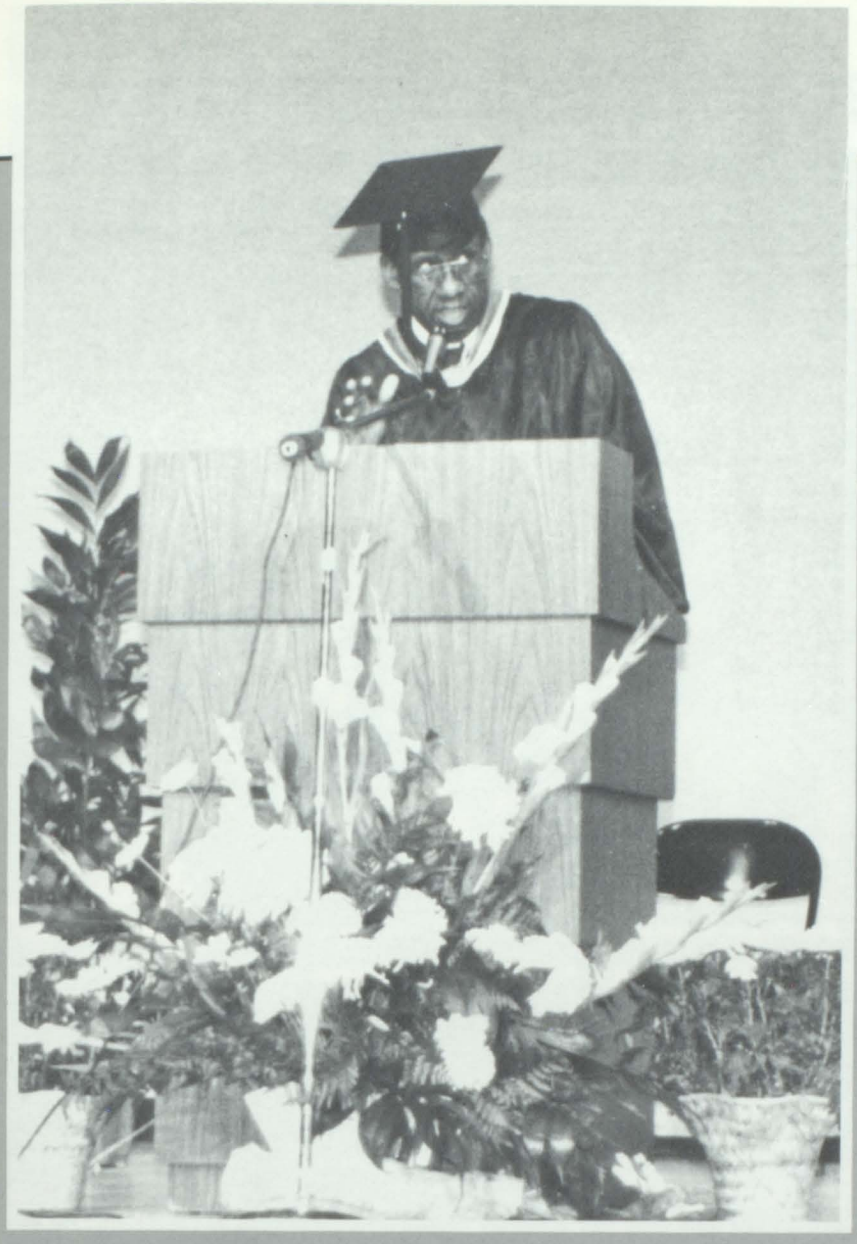

Jan Melnick assembles with fellow seniors before the thunderstorm.

Seniors rush to line up before the big storm.

Mr. Maine talks to the crowd as they enter the graduation exercises.

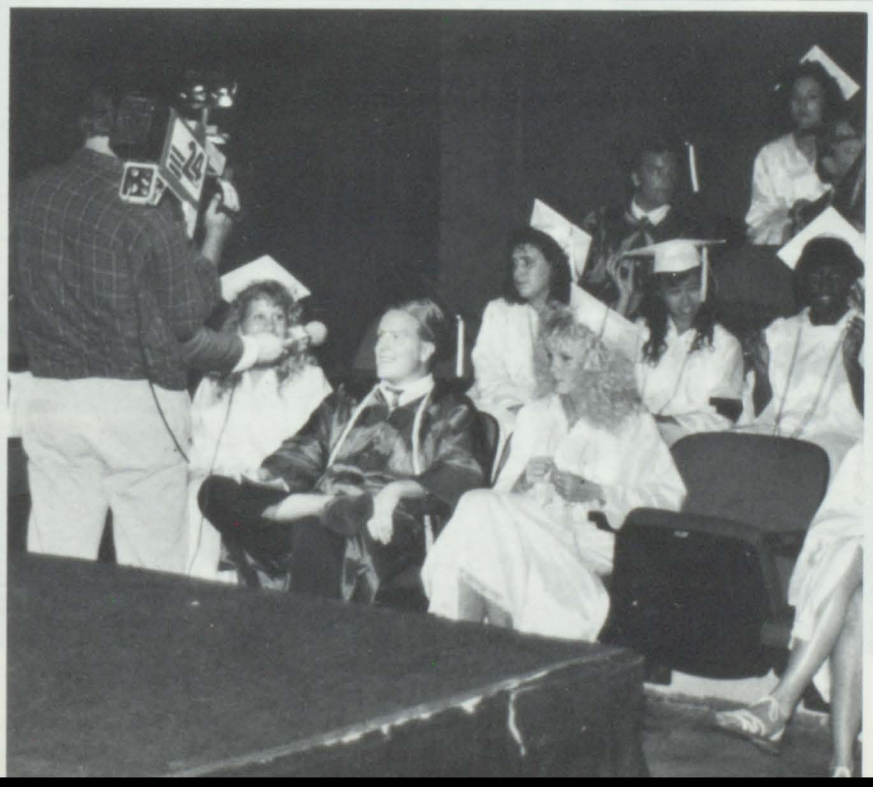

Before giving out diplomas, Principal Edward Dyson challeges all graduates to fulfill their potential and realize their dreams.

Parents, friends, and relatives wait patiently in the rain for the doors to the Civic Center to open and for graduation to begin.

Houston County Superintendent Dr. Harold Chapman welcomes everyone to graduation and praises the 1989 senior class for all of their successes during their twelve years of school.

Channel 41 news interviews Kellie Hilliard, Mike Hester, Robin Harbin, Susie Santos, Pam Shiftlet, Jason Baily, and Tonya Robinson.

A Civic Center Graduation

A tradition changed but still meaningful!

As seniors and well-wishers gathered in the Civic Center, the last graduating class of this decade prepared to receive their diplomas. As they listened to speeches given by the top seven members in their class, each had a different idea about the overall theme, "The End of the World As We Know It." The speakers were Jalanda Standard, Mike Hester, Lisa Edge, Ricky McClellen, and Penny Stanescu. The invocation was given by Lisa Parnell and the benediction by Sandra Nichols. Each of the speakers added his or her personal touch to the general theme of this year's graduation. As graduation came to a close, the senior class felt sadness and joy at the prospect of leaving Northside.

The graduating class of 1989 assembles before graduation.

Lisa Parnell begins graduation with the invocation.

The Northside High 1988-89 Anchor Club was sponsored by Ms. Yongue. They held meetings on Wednesday or Friday mornings at 8:00. The girls who wish to join the club must first pass initiations and regularly attend meetings. Among their activities this year was the March of Dimes Mother's March. The Anchor club called for donations for this organization. Club members assisted the participants in the walk-a-thon. They received a plaque for supporting and contributing to the Mother's March. In the spring, the Anchor club sponsored an evening long self defense class for young women who were interested in learning how to protect their bodies against an attacker. The course was very helpful and was appreciated by all who attended. Since the group started so late in the year the numbers were not as high as years before. The group is looking forward to next year and anticipates a growth in membership.

ACCOUNTING CLUB ACCOUNTING

This year, Northside had an asset added to its variety of clubs. Mrs. Renee Horton sponsored the Accounting Club. The purpose of the club is to promote accounting, its usefulness, and its importance. The club got off to a good start with seventeen members and officers ready and willing to work. The club had weekly meetings in the mornings. The club participated in the annual Christmas door contest by decorating Mrs. Kinsaul's office door. Also, in recognition of her devotion and hard work, Mrs. Kinsaul was honored by the club with a party, refreshments, and lunch allowance. The club is looking forward to many more successful years at Northside.

Officers for the 1888-89 school year are Jonathan Smith, Phil Little, Robin Harbin, Samantha Bozman, and Lisa Lowe.

The Northside High School Art Club met every Tuesday in Mr. Maine's room at break. The club is opened to any student who is interested in art, and one does not have to be taking an art class to join the club. The Art Club sponsored several events during this past year. The events included holding art shows at the Houston County Fair and sponsoring the annual Student Art Exhibition held at the Houston Mall. The Art Club also helped decorate for various events held around the school such as the football and basketball banquets, and various performances put on by the Thespians. The club has a number of people with many different talents who are able to express themselves through the able guidance of their sponsor Mr. Jim Maine.

The annual staff, sponsored by Susan Harden, had quite a task this year in producing a 300 plus page annual. The annual staff class had to be dropped and all of the work had to be done at home or after school. Consequently, the bulk of the work fell to a few people. Putting out a book of this size requires much time and planning. There are always deadlines to meet and pictures that have to be taken. Rob Gordon and Andrea Allen served as staff photographers. The events section was designed by Samantha Bozeman and Lindy Feightner. The sophomore section was done by Peter Doughtery, the junior section was done by Camishe Clarke, and the senior section was done by Amy Wilson. Camisha Clarke also did the faculty section. Arnissa Ferguson did most of the work on the club section.

Rob Gordon served as the annual staff photographer and took many of the photographs for the book.

BLUE WIND BAND BLUE WIND BAND

During the month of August, Northside's Blue Wind Band begins practice on the new shows and music for the year. The band plays not only Mexican style music but also the latest hits of the year to "spiffin" things up a bit. Their performances are nice to watch during half - time, but the students of Northside really enjoy them when they are at the afternoon pep rallies. At the pep rallies, the band members can loosen up and just enjoy.

During the concert season, the band puts on a Christmas concert and also does a concert in the spring. The band did exceptionally well at the 1988-89 Festival. The Blue Wind Band received straight supuriors at festival this year by earning all superior ratings. In the beginning the tension was high, but in the end everyone could relax with a smile. The band had to work hard concert season, but it was well worth it. To celebrate a job well done, they had cake and punch during a practice.

The band is under the direction of Jim Langly, a Northside graduate. Mr. Langly attended the University of Georgia where he was a member of the Red Coat Marching Band and the Jazz Band. He has been at Northside for two years now.

BETA BETA BETA BETA BETA

This fall during football season the Beta Club sold Homecoming mums. This fund raiser was a big success for the Beta Club as usual. The club had one new sponsor this year, Mrs. Childs, and one returning sponor, Mrs. Coble, who so willingly volunteered for this tedious job as joint sponsors. Many afternoons these two teachers could be seen after school staying later than usual to work on Beta Club activities. The other fund raiser was the selling of the ever popular senior class tee-shirts. This year the shirts were an extremely big hit with the seniors because they had the Hard Rock cafe logo on the front and had all the graduating seniors' names on the back of them.The selling of the tee-shirts proved to be the biggest fund raising success of the whole entire year.

Concert Choir Concert Choir Concert Choir

Concert choir is one of the many activities Northside has to offer. In this class, all types of music are learned with all types of students to work with. To carry a perfect tune and to come in on time when directed to are some of the things required of each chorus member. One of the key points of chorus is patience. In chorus Mr. Unruh has the class constantly going over the same music again and again in order to get everything right. This year the choir performed with the Ensemble for the Christmas and sping concert. In the spring much hard work was done down to the last moment in preparation for festival. Their performance was rated as being superior. Once again their hard work paid off.

Corey Dinkins, Rob Gordon, and Wayne Thompson practice their part of the song as Mr. Unruh plays the piano and sings along.

COMPUTER CLUB COMPUTER CLUB

Since the development of the computer and the advancement of technology, the world has seen many changes in society and industry. These changes included better jobs with higher pay, thus requiring more knowledge of these new technologies. With these computers came the need for more knowledge of how they operate and how to operate them. Therefore, the Computer Club has joined together to learn these operations and to teach others of their knowledge. This information will be used in their future studies and even now in high school. There will be a bright future ahead for the members of this valuable club.

Many occupations today deal with the usage of computers and an understanding of their operations. Since these operations become more complex with every new idea, it is imperative to learn them as they come along; therefore, a good head start is necessary. The basic operations of a computer can be taught in just about any area of the country. There are even manuals that give home instructions on how to run a computer. It is almost as easy as one . . . two . . . three.

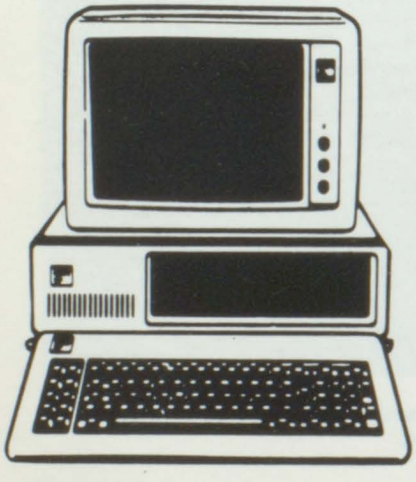

The club has their weekly meeting and some social conversation.

FCA FCA FCA FCA FCA FCA

One of the FCA leaders found a genuine costume for the pageant.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes is nationwide organization that sponsors sportsmanship and friendship among all athletes. Since her first year at Northside three years ago, Vicki Carreker has sponsored this group as well as the softball team. This connection with athletes gave her a personal relationship to many of the members of the club who played softball. Also, it gave her the experience needed to support this group of athletes around the school. Her guidance has brought excitement to this group of young people.

The members of FCA make up various teams at school. These include Cheerleaders, football players, basketball players, baseball players, soccer team, tennis team, track team, and golf team. With all these different varieties of people came all the new and different ideas presented within the club. As time progressed, these athletes learned mutual respect for one another as well as other athletes around them. The values taught by every member for every member are important during playing time. Therefore, FCA is an important group in any Christian society today.

DEBATE DEBATE DEBATE DEBATE

The Northside High School Debate Team brought home over 30 awards in 1988-89, as they debated the topic of retirement security in America. Three outstanding Seniors—Mike Hester, Penny Stanescu and Ricky McClellen—received national recognition with the Degree of Special Distinction (Double Ruby) from the National Forensic League.

At the Barkley Forum, hosted by Emory University, the Northside team of Hester and McClellen reached Octo-Finals in competition with approximately 150 teams. They did this after defeating an excellent team from Pace Academy in Sexto-Decimos. Northside was one of only two teams from Georgia to reach Octo-Finals at Emory this year. Hester received special recognition at Emory as one of the Top Twelve Individual Debaters out of approximately 300 in the tournament. Hester is the first Northside student to receive a speaker award at Emory in at least twenty years.

Hester received many honors as an individual debater during the season, including the First Place Speaker Award in varsity competition at tournaments hosted by Carrollton High School, Warner Robins High School, Lee County High School, Valdosta High School and West Georgia College. He was also First Place Speaker in the State AAAA Championship Tournament. Along with McClellen, Hester received an invitation to participate in the prestigious Tournament of Champions hosted by the University of Kentucky. The formal invitation to participate in this tournament was a singular honor.

Northside claimed the Region 2-AAAA debate Championship over Warner Robins. This marked the twenty-third time that Northside took the Region Championship in the school's twenty-six year history. Northside also took the State AAAA Debate Championship for the ninth time in the history of the school. The State Championship Team was composed of Hester and Stanescu on the Negative, with McClellen and Bridgette Cooper (a Sophomore) on the Affirmative. The alternate for the Region-State Team was Chad Walton (a Junior).

Cooper was one of several first-year debaters who did well this year. In addition to defeating Warner Robins at Region, Cooper and McClellen reached eliminations in varsity competition at Carrollton. Paired with Hester at Valdosta, Cooper reached Semi-Finals in Varsity Debate and received a Third Place Speaker Award.

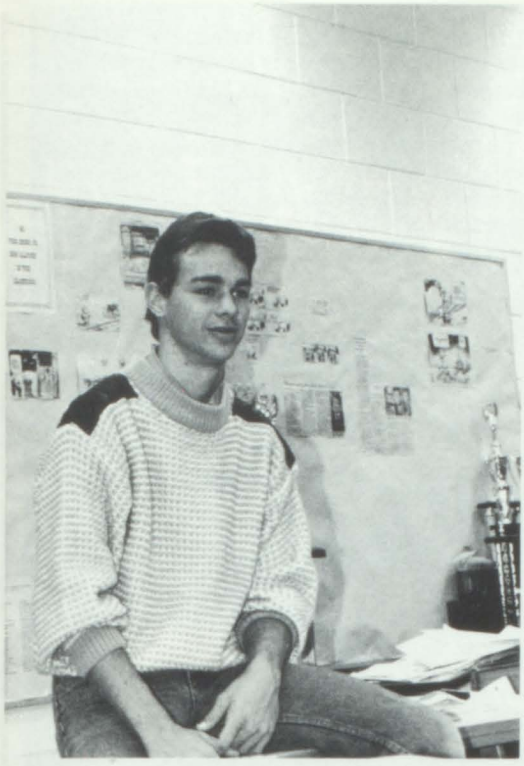

Chris McClellen and David Slusher did very well in several tournaments. Perhaps the most significant was Valdosta, where they won First Place in the Novice Division of Debate. Valdosta was also a good tournament for Walton who took First Place as an individual speaker in Junior Varsity Debate.

DECA DECA DECA DECA

The DECA Club, whose motto is Developing Future Leaders for Marketing and Distribution, holds monthly meetings in sponsor Larry Warmock's room. Some club members attended the Officer's Leadership Conference at Jekyll Island, the district competition in Augusta, the national competition in Atlanta, and the national competition in Orlando.The members competed for their school by submitting applications and essays dealing with their jobs. The club produced three district finalists: Lawerance Guillory, Jan Melnick, and Dianna Lane.These students got to compete in the distict, state, and national competitions. Some of the activities the club was involved in during this past year were building the homecoming float, a new members' initiation ceremony, an employer appreciation banquet, and several field trips. All students who are in the club hold some type of marketing job in the Warner Robins' community.

Diversified Cooperative Training

Diversified Cooperative Training is a great addition to Northside. It gives students work experience they can use the rest of their lives. The DCT members have been very active. They have prepared Halloween bags for the mentally retarded. They hosted the employee/employer banquet which was a grand success and also sent representatives to the VICA Olympics. This year's sponsor is Mr. Hollowman.

Open to any student, male or female, enrolled in home economics classes, the FHA participates in a variety of activities. The FHA provided a service for all special events held at Northside. They were in charge of the food for the Miss Northside tea and the FBLA tea for employers. These students spent many long hours to prepare delicious treats for these teas. Members also participated in a variety of community activities. Although membership often varies because of differing enrollments in home economics, the club officers provide continuity that is so important in any organization. The club is ably sponsored by Mrs. Ellen Strait who has dedicated her time to see that the club is an important asset to the school.

ENSEMBLE ENSEMBLE ENSEMBLE

The Ensemble has had a very successful year. Because of their hard work and dedication, the Ensemble received straight superior markings at Festival which was held at Mercer University in March on a rainy, drizzly day. Even after all of the bad weather and getting a little wet trying to get to the building, the Ensemble came out on top once again.

Not only does the Ensemble display their unique singing talent at festival, but they also sing at school in front of the students and faculty. The Ensemble sings birthday telegrams when requested to and also sings at many community activities. The Ensemble performs at the Christmas concert each year, at the Miss Northside Pageant, and at their spring concert. This year they also performed at the Mock Election.

The 1988-89 Future Business Leaders of America, sponsored Mrs. Mary Holland, participated in several conferences throughout the year. FBLA is an organization composed of juniors and seniors involved in the VOT work program. The FBLA officers attended the annual Leadership Conference that was held in Atlanta, GA during the fall semester of school. The 1988-89 FBLA officers includes President — Stephanie Bryant; Vice President — Sandy Kubia; Vice President — Lori McAllister; Secretary — Linell Jordan; Treasurer — Rhonda Upshaw

The largest event of the year for the FBLA was the Business ployee Appreciation Reception held during the spring semester on March 16, 1989. Each year the employees show their appreciation to their employers by serving as hosts for the afternoon. The Emsemble and Trio served as the entertainment for the occasion. During the spring each student is given the opportunity to compete in certain events on a region level. Those students who place on a region level are then eligible to move on to the state level competition in Atlanta, GA.

The FBLA provided the business employees with loads of delicious food that Mrs. Ellen Strait prepared for the annual Business Employee Reception.

FLAG CORPS FLAG CORPS

This year the Flag Corps did an exceptionally good job under the leadership of Traci Cope, Andrea Hodge, and Millie Litttlefield. This is the first year the Flag Corps had been headed by three captains whose organization was outstanding. The sponsor of the Corps was Mrs. Susuan Harden. The Corps started practice at the end of July and continued by themselves until the beginning of school. During the fall semester, regular practices were held with the rest of the band after school at Parkwood Elementary. Each week, new routines and dances were performed every Friday night at the half-time show. The Flag Corps decided not to attend camp this year because they wanted to spend time at home and work on their routines. The captains were responsible for making up the routines that were used each Friday. Through the '88-89 school year, these twenty-eight girls have become very close to each other. Their memories of Northside High School and their Northside High School Flag Corps days will remain with them happily forever.

The 1988-89 captains were Andrea Hodge, Tracy Cope, and Millie Littlefield.

FRENCH CLUB FRENCH CLUB

Northside's French Club is an honored group of students. They have prepared themselves for the future by studying a foreign language that is world known and used. Many of them plan to someday visit France. This experience at home with the French courses will prepare them for that journey. They have learned about the French culture as well as the language.

In order to intermix with the French people, they must be well-prepared for all situations. Therefore, Mrs. Lori Russo, the new sponsor of the club, has attempted to do so. She has faithfully guided these students to an understanding of the French people, their language and their behavior. This knowlege will definitely help them in their future trips to France and other French-speaking countries. Since this is Mrs. Russo's first year sponsoring the club and her first year teaching French at this school, this involvement gave her the opportunity to get to know some of the students and their activities. She did a great job of leading a fine group of young people into expecting the best from themselves and from those around them. She is a great teacher and a fine leader.

The Junior Civitan is an active part of community projects. Some of the Junior Civitan's services include providing clothing for the Veteran's Hospital, visiting the children's ward at the hospital, and helping out with the Special Olympics each year. Not only have the Junior Civitan's duties proven to be worthwhile, these duties have also proven to be fun activities for the members. In the past, some Junior Civitan members have participated in a skate-a-thon in order to raise money for different organizations. This year some Junior Civitan members went bowling with special education students as a service project. They also attended a convention at Jekyll Island. The club spent a weekend this spring at the annual convention. The club is sponsored by Mr. Gary Howard.

FTA Officers (from the top of the steps to the bottom of the steps) Camisha Clarke, Kelli Hilliard, Karen Parrish, Susan Benton

The FTA, which stands for Future Teachers of America, is co-sponsored by Mrs. Murchison, Mrs. Aldridge and Mrs. Combs. Recently formed, this club is made up of students who are interested in the career of teaching. During the course of the year, several projects were initiated to show teachers that they were appreciated and respected. At the beginning of the year, these future teachers presented new teachers with a basket of assorted materials that would aid them during the school year. At this time the students helped with bulletin boards and various other tasks associated with the beginning of school. They also gave each teacher a name tag shaped in a way to symbolize the teacher's subject area. Another project the club undertook was a humorous newsletter with various aids to use when the teacher was tired or burned out from the rigors of teaching. During the school year several speakers talked the group to explain various aspects of teaching. One particulary interesting gueat speaker was Mrs. Pam Stanescu, the 1988 Teacher of the Year for Houston County. She spoke on the importance of teachers in the lives of young people. Her inspiring speech was enjoyed by both the sponsors and club members. The club is open to any student who is interested in pursuing a career in the teaching field.

HISTORY CLUB HISTORY CLUB

The NHS History Club has been going strong for seven years now. The members of the club strive to make history a big part of their lives. Its members visited Hawkinsville this past year to see Dukakis give an election speech. Going to Hawkinsville was an opportunity of a lifetime for many of the clubs members. The club also sponsored a mock election this year. To have a part in the election the students had to try out in front if three judges. The three judges were Mr.Rogers, Mrs.Combs and Mr.Boyd.The mock election was a great success.

During February, which is Black History month, the club highlighted special moments in Black History each day over the intercom. The club also highlighted special moments such as the birthdays of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln.

Under the direction fo Mrs. Newberry and through the excellent work of its members, the history club has been capable of making 1988-89 an excellent year. The club hopes to keep history a big part of everyone's life. The history club meets every Tuesday at break in room 53.

From left to right seated: Sirimada Matthews, Maria Kemp, Renee Petties; kneeling: Lisa Lowe, Penny Stanescu; Standing: Ryan Harkness, Robin Harbin, Gary Matthews, David Cearns, Phil Little, Lou Napolitano

At their meeting, Mike Hester, along with the other members, sits to think of the best presentation for the 1989 Presidential Election.

With hats, signs, an ballons in hand, the history club members prepare to leave school for the big Presidential ralley in Hawkinsville.

Club members join other Dukakis fans during the ralley on a bright and sunny Saturday morning.

While in the bleachers, Robin Harbin and Lisa Lowe enjoy their moment of relaxation in the breeze after a tiring day.

The history club snaps the picture of Mr. Dukakis as he walks through the cheering crowd to shake the hands of his supporters.

MAJORETTES MAJORETTES MAJORETTES

To be a part of the majorette squad, much time and practice is put in during the summer before school begins and also practice daily after school during the fall. The girls are sponsored by Mrs. Carita Walker. Majorettes add a little something extra to the half-time routine by twirling their batons and doing their dance routines. Not everyone can twirl a baton. That is why only the most talented are chosen to represent Northside. The girls make it seem so easy to twirl a baton, but dropping the baton is easier if one does not have the coordination.

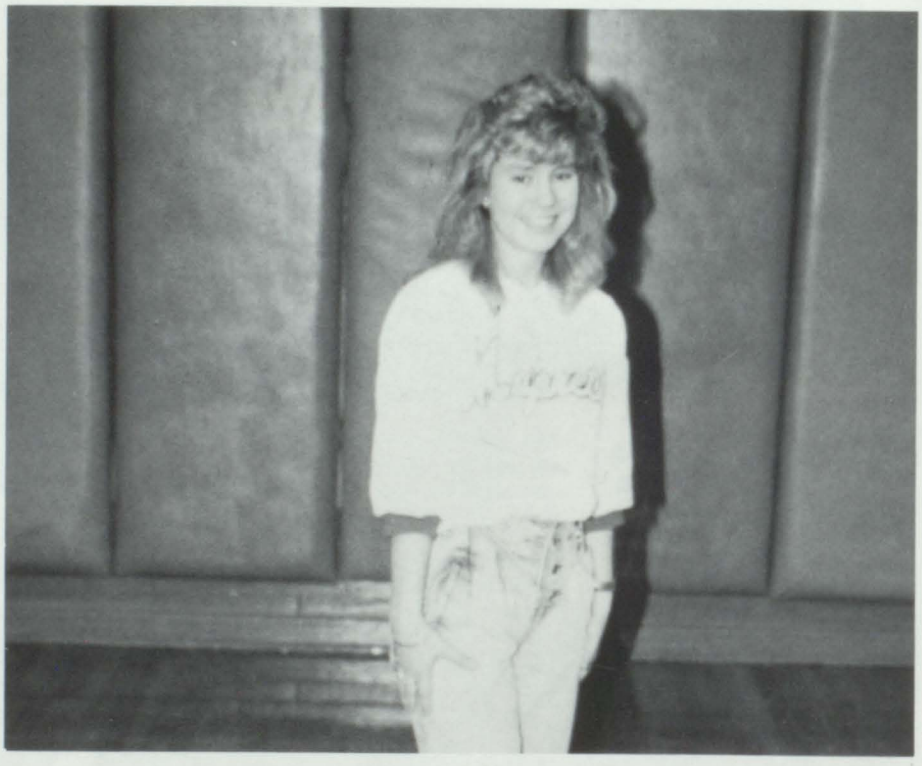

Anytime there is a group, everyone's cooperation is needed in order for the group's effort to work successfully. There are always problems to work out, but a group with close relations can pull through. By watching the girls perform during the football season, it is evident that they have a good working relationship.

The majorettes march down Watson Blvd. ahead of the band during the Christmas parade.

Majorettes, Kristi White and Leslie Owens, are a familiar part of the daily practices that are held after school.

A dedicated person with a "nack" for organization is needed to keep everything running smoothly; that is manager Brandi Barfield's job.

PRAYER CLUB PRAYER CLUB

The Prayer Club, which is sponsored by Mrs. Ellen Strait, meets every Tuesday in room 28. This year the club has had many guest speakers come and either speak to the group or sing for them. The guest speakers are sometimes ministers from the local community or former students who attended Northside. The speakers represent different denominational groups. The club is open to any interested student who wants to come to the Tuesday meetings. The meetings are usually well attended, and some of the meetings have even been held in the cafeteria or in the chorus room because of overflow crowds. One of the projects of the club this year has been to visit the nursing homes at Christmas time.

The officers for this year's Prayer Club are President — Melanie Stephen; Vice President — Mark Thompson; Secretary — Becky Buller; Treasurer — Shane Spell; Project Chairman — Caleb Carter; Sponsor — Mrs. Strait

The following are members of this year's prayer club: (front row) Becky Smith, Tina Williams, Daydra Cain-Datson, Lisa White, Pat Luther, Angel Bowen; (second row) Nichole Smith, Bonnie Baker, Mark Thompson, Wayne Thompson, Angela Bolden, Amy Partin, Becky Buller, Valerie Sell, Melody Coker; (third row) Jennifer Bailey, Missy Collins, Lisa Lowe, Janette Totler, Angela Cooper, Sheree Griffin, Lydia Thompson, Chad Walters, Jennifer Rogers, Holly Hardison, Melanie Stephens; (fourth row) Rob Gordon, John Crocker, Frank Graham, J.J. PEP CLUB PEP CLUB PEP CLUB

The Northside High School Pep Club was kept busy during the year, especially during football. The members spent many afternoons after school painting signs and then spent more time hanging them up at the games. The club was sponsored by Mrs. Shirley Dunstan, who has sponsored the club for several years. The members held several car washes this year to help pay for the paints to make those colorful signs. The efforts the group made during the year did much to heighten Eagle spirit.

Members named in alphabetical order: Stephanie Aaron, Tommy Benningfield, Wanda Brockett, Becky Buller, Melody Coker, Richard Coulombe, Chris Edwards, Jennifer Elvins, Prissy Gallegos, Sheree Griffin, Travis Griner, Kim Hamilton, Deanna Hillock, Stacy Hogg, Keith Leary, Gayla Lewis, Travis Lung, Pat Luther, Kristi Lutz, Jerry McGahagin, Shannon Moore, Richard Nester, Bonnie Nichols, Sandra Nichols, Janet Olive, Diane Parris, Renee Petties, Valerie Sell, Earl Story, Elaine Summers, Stephanie Sweat, Lydia Thompson, Veronica Torres Paula Trotti, Chad Walters, Tina Williams, Venus Wilson, Vern Wilson

A Pep Club member shows her school spirit by selflessly painting a spirit sign even though every one has gone.

The Pep club officers worked hard to guide the rest of the members in the many projects the club undertook, especially during the fall semester.

THE PURPOSE OF ROTC

The purpose of ROTC is to build better citizens, to strenthen character, to teach responsibility, and to acquaint cadets with the aerospace age and careers of the Air Force. Most importantly, the Junior ROTC helps one to become a leader who is confident, self — reliant and self — diciplined.The ROTC offers, after a three — year Aerospace Science program in Air Force Junior ROTC, students important opportunities such as the eligibility to enter the Air Force two pay — grades higher than other enlistees, to get uniforms, insignia and ROTC textbooks free, to receive credit for the first year of a four — year Air Force ROTC college program, to nominate qualified candidates for an Air Force Academy appointment, and to award an Air Force ROTC Four — Year Engineering Scholarship to a qualified cadet. Students may enter the program as tenth graders.

Spanish Club Spanish Club Spanish Club

The Spanish club added a little "flash" to their usual activities this year. This year the Spanish club put on a fashion show. In the show the latest men's, women's, and children's fashions were shown. The fashion show served as the one fundraiser for the club. The club is designed to promote the Spanish language and customs, and the Spanish club's sponsor is Mr. Compain.

Spanish Club Officers (not in order of picture) for this year are Renee Morris, Bridgette Cooper, Joy Marsh, Robert Nguyan, and Jennifer Rogers.

Advocate Advocate Advocate Advocate

At the beginning of the school year it seemed that Northside would no longer have a newspaper, but several concerned students banded together with Mr. Gerald Boyd to form a new newspaper entitled the Advocate. These students, while only publishing one newspaper for the year, worked long and hard to keep the tradition of the Northside newspaper alive. They had to surmount many technical difficulties to publish the newspaper. Many days they stayed after school to work on the paper and go through all the troubles of typing all of the information up on the computer. They depended on their photographer, Jerry Danials, to get the paper's pictures. He was often seen sliding around the floor taking pictures during the mock election. The paper was sold to the students and faculty for twenty-five cents.

Mr. Boyd has the job of being an instructional coordinator as well as the ADVOCATE sponsor.

SENIOR EXEC SENIOR EXEC SENIOR EXEC

With the able guidance of Mr. Robert Mantiply, the Senior Executive Committee had a successful year. Two seniors from each homeroom were voted to be representatives. The group met each Wednesday at 8:05, (or somewhere there about). During the school year the club participated in many activities. The first project to be tackled was homecoming. After an all — night decorating party at Laura Burden's home, the seniors were exuberant to learn that their homecoming float had won first place. The biggest fundraiser of the year was on January 21 when the seniors held the annual senior barbecue. The money they raised was used to fund their delightful Senior Ball. The Senior Exec worked all day February 18 to transform the lobby into a classical Greek party. Later the seniors would host a senior picnic at Dry Lake Park.

The members of the 1988-89 Senior Executive Committee were Susan Benton, Angela Holsten, Greg Boatwright, Michelle Kinnear, Stephanie Williams, Susie Culpepper, Amy Baldwin, Matt Schultz, Mike Hester, Stephanie Bryant, Kaci Boulware, Dee Hillock, Marie Kemp, Susie Santos, Alisha Willis, Caleb Carter, Scott Culpepper, Cory Dinkins, Gary Matthews, Ashleigh Andrews, Jan Melnick, Sandy Kubia, Joey Rigsby, Lindy Feightner, Amy Wilson, Eddie Oliver, and Keshia Madison.

SADD SADD SADD SADD

The Sadd group this year was a very active and vital part of Northside High School. Their many activities over the year strived to show the students that it is possible to have fun without drinking and certainly without drinking and driving. The Sadd members began their year with signs and bulletin boards to remind students of the dangers of drinking and driving. This year these students brought back to Northside a tradition that has been forgotten in past years, the Homecoming Dance. They worked long and hard to transform the cafeteria into "One Moment in Time." The dance was a huge success, and we look forward to many more Homecoming Dances in the future. Another project to make everyone aware of the dangers of drinking and driving was the red bow campaign. Everyone was asked to wear a red bow to show that they were aware of the dangers of drug and alcohol abuse. At prom time they distributed booklets to students so that they would be aware of the dangers they face when they drink. The final project that the club undertook was the beautification of the front campus. The club decided to beautify the campus because the school has recently undergone a facelift. Now Northside has a beautiful entryway and a lovely landscaped front campus. With the proceeds from the Homecoming Dance, the club bought flowers and shrubbery to enhance the front of the school. The SADD members are Becky Bueller, Melanie Stephen, Ken Golden, Melody Coker, Tangela Robinson, Robin Harbin, Sandra Durham, Sarah Mata, Veronica Torres, Gayla Lewis, Wanda Brockett, Maurice Davis, Tomeika Leverson, Cindy Slaughter, Pat Luther, Lisa Lowe, Chad Walters, Earl Story, Travis Lung, Venus Wilson, Monica Dumas, Tommy Benningfield Jill Moore, Liz Mathis, Frank Graham, Gary Matthews, Valarie Sales, Jennifer Elvins, Joy Grubb, and sponsor Sgt. Bob Turpin. Not pictured is the other club sponsor Mrs. Virgie Harris.

The Sadd members spent many hours painting signs. The purpose of the signs was to again remind the students not to drink and drive. Members felt that if just one life could be saved with their signs that their time would not have been wasted.

The Sadd members had a wrecked car on display during the Homecoming Parade to remind people what can happen when someone drinks and then gets behind the wheel of a car. Club members rode on the wrecker to show other students their support of sobriety.

The 1988-89 SADD officers are Melanie Stephen, Sandra Durham, Tangela Robinson, Venus Wilson, and Becky Bueller.

Members decorate their Homecoming float with signs and crepe paper before the beginning of the parade.

STUDENT COUNCIL STUDENT COUNCIL

Each year, students join together to form the new Student Council. Students who are representatives for Student Council are chosen by each homeroom. One student is elected at the beginning of the year from every homeroom in the school. Meetings are held every Thursday at eight o'clock. The sponsor is Mrs. Brenda Littlefield, who is often seen doing some of the activies with the students. The club sponsors several activities during the school year. The Student Council works in the concession stand during all of the home basketball games. They put on the production of Mr. Northside and helped others in nursing homes. To raise money, they also sold bumper stickers and even had two Saturday car washes. Student Council sponsors the Top 5% Banquet every year during the spring of the year. Each year Student Council uses the money that it has raised during the year to give a five-hundred dollar scholarship to one very deserving Senior.

The following students are members of Student Council:

Thespian troupe #2892 had an extremely busy year in 1989. Starting with the One-Act in the fall and closing with the Musical in the spring, it was a blast of a year for the award-winning troupe. TINTYPES, the One-Act musical, was the Region AAAA state runner-up. The show featured twenty-four of our most energetic youth. The show also opened Thespian Conference in Atlanta. The Conference is a three day event in which Thespians are invited to perform in shows and workshops. Thespians also sponsored the Miss Northside Pageant. The members work hard to publicize the show, rig up microphones, and design and create a set. After the outstanding show, few could deny the group's success. The final job of the Thespians is to sponsor the Spring Musical, THE BOYFRIEND. The show, open to any student, was a smashing success. After such a busy year, the Thespians can only say,"It's been real and it's been fun, but it was always real fun!"

The One-Act cast has to practice vigorously to attain their reputation for being a superior group and to achieve many of their goals, including being named state runners-up and having a best actor in the cast.

This year at Northside the VOCA or CVAE club was extremely successful. The club motto that all the students strived hard to prefect was "Learning to work, working to learn, learning to do a job well done. Willing to try after defeat to be successful for a life complete." All students in the club hold some type of job, and many of them get out after fourth period. Some of the activities that the club enjoyed outside of school were in October all officers went to Albany State in Albany, Ga., for an Officers' Training Conference. At the March eleventh region three contest, Jason Gornik got first place in interview and Joanne Mason got first place in vocabulary spelling. Also competing was Kathy Phillips who entered the Public Speaking category. Dontrell Lawson and Patrice Carroll were voting delegates at the region meeting. Sandra Durham also competed by entering a garment she had designed and made in school. On April 21-25, the club journeyed to St. Simons Island and competed in the State VOCA Contest. At this contest Jason Gornik won third place in job interview. The club is under the leadership of sponsor Bob Mantiply who has been the sponsor for the last nine years.

Patricia Carroll anxiously awaits the start of the VOCA competition by talking to some friends in Moultrie, Georgia.

ADMINISTRATION

The principal of Northside High School, Ed Dyson, takes a casual picture in the comforts of his office (right). Also, he talks to the Beta Club during their initiation ceremonies.

The administration of Northside High School has guided the students to a future of hope and promise. Mr. Dyson has been the principal of Northside since 1981. When he arrived, there were many improvements to the appearance of the school, including the plans for renovating the school and the constructing of an auditorium for the many Northside musicals and plays. His ideas and funds submitted into this school has made a great difference. The faculty as well as the students find his accomplishments outstanding. He and the Board of Education are important members of the Northside family.

The Assistant Principal of Northside is Alton Mattox. He has also been a guiding force in the educating of a great class of students.

Dr. Charlotte Moore, who recently received her doctorate from the University of Georgia, is the other Assistant Principal of the school. She does a great job of keeping the school running smoothly. Her efforts are priceless.

The Assistant Principals hold very important positions here at Northside. Along with the long hours of monitoring the behavior of the students in the lunchroom comes the task of admonishing those who "get out of line." They have to be strict with the troublesome students here to make sure that there will be no future conflicts among the students. They must remain impartial to all the students so that all fairness will be preserved in making decisions. These decisions are important to maintaining an orderly lunchroom, classroom, and hallway. The Assistant Principals are important members of the Northside family.

Mike Ginn is the Vocational Supervisor. His office is located in the Vocational wing of the building. His position is important in making decisions concerning the Vocational Department.

SOPHOMORES ARE PEOPLE TOO!

As the sophomores class entered Northside High School for the very first time, they really had no idea of what to expect.

The sophomores found the first week was the worst. Not having any idea where exactly their classes were, teasing remarks from the upperclass, and supposedly "scared" of leaving the upstairs lobby.

The first week is over and the sophomores know where all their classes are and the fun begins. This year the seniors were shocked to see the sophomores could raise the roof too. The traditional "Lets Get a Sophomore." became a shock to the seniors, the sophomores yelled right back. "Lets Get a Senior," and the war began.

The sophomore class officers have held a great responsibility and it has greatly been appreciated.

The class officers were as follows:

President: Travis Moore

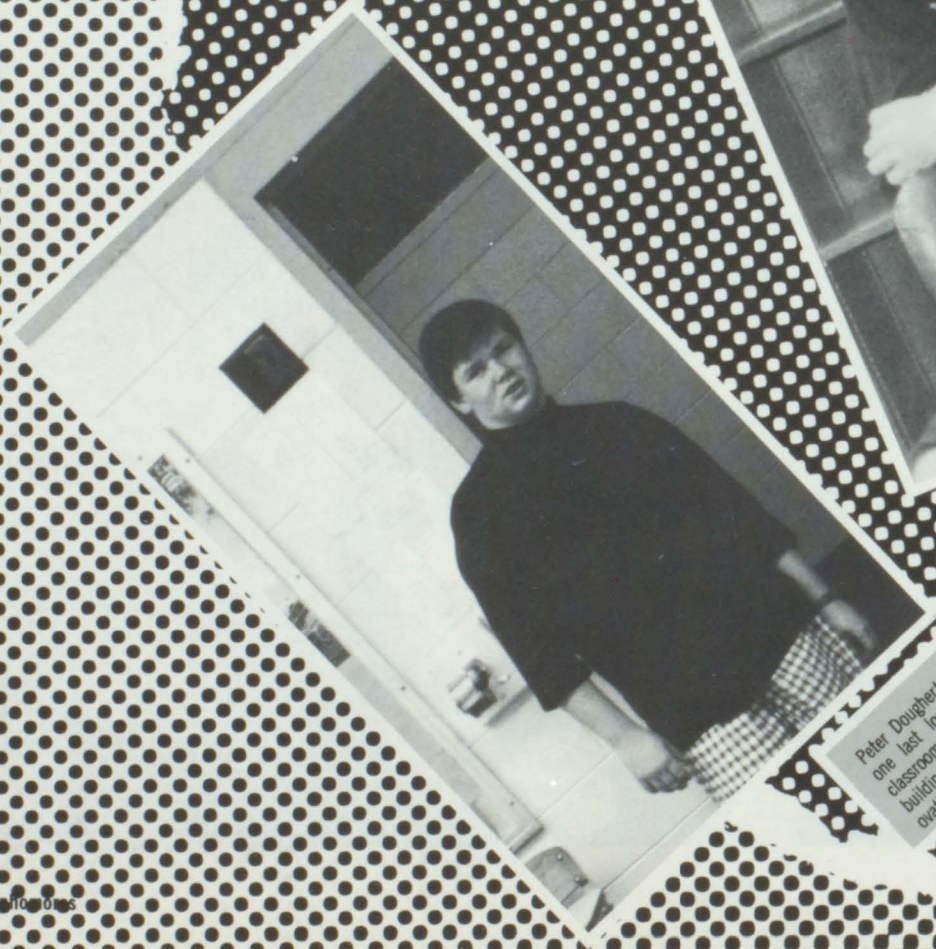

Vice-President: Erik Carter

Secretary: Nicole Smith

Treasurer: Annette Bagley

Projects Chairman: Brian Carpenter
Good Luck to the class of 1991 Northside Eagles!

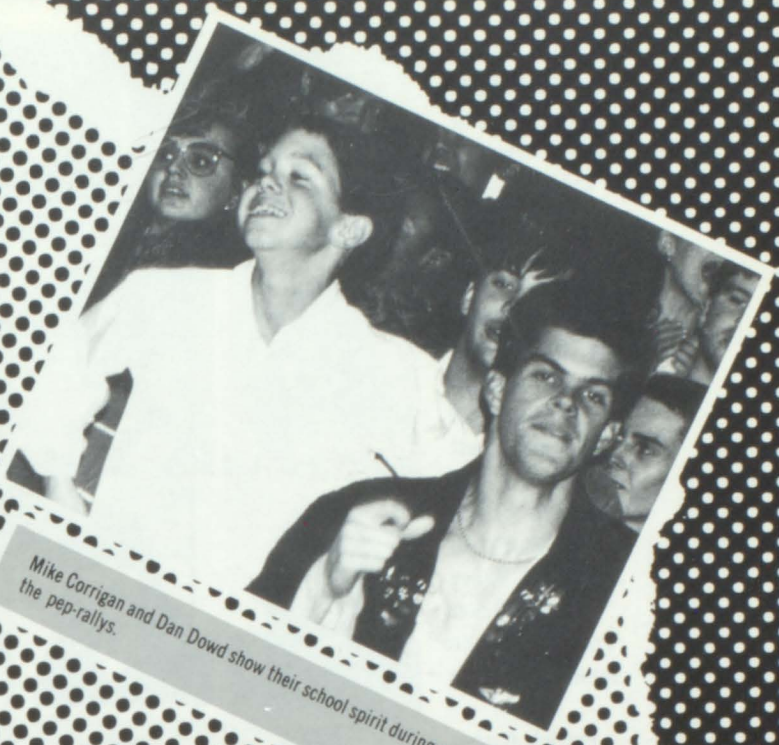

Peter Dougherty takes one last look at the classroom in the old building before the renovation takes place.

Sophomore J.V. cheerleaders join their arms as they sing the Northside alma mater.

A group of sophomores show that the sophomore class really does have school spirit for their school during a pep-rally.

The Junior class officers: standing — Tina Williams (Treasurer), Elaine Summers (Secretary) sitting — Dana Harrell (Vice-president), Scott Felton (President), Alexis Ande (Projects Chairman)

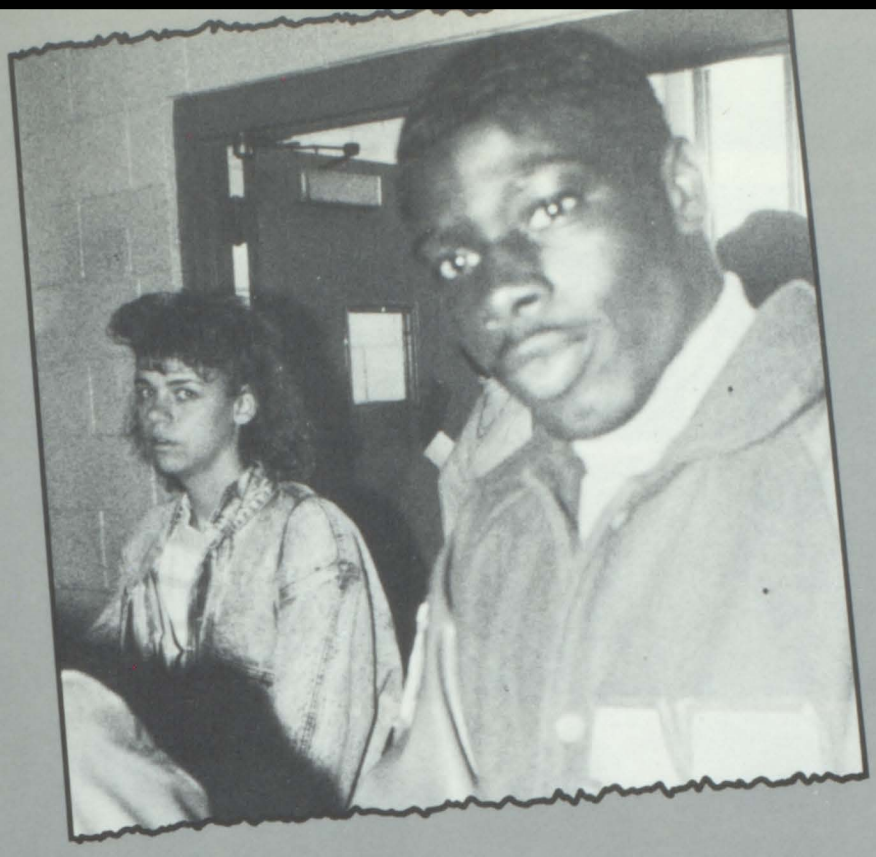

Striving for happiness and success for the past year, the class of 1990 is rising to the top each and every day. Day by day we choose our goals. Step by step we complete them. Serving as role models for the up-coming Sophomores, we are learning to act as adults in life.

The Junior officers have been chosen because they are the most acceptable leaders. They hold the position of leading their graduating class and representing the most important group of people at school: the students. There are many times when the Junior class is "stuck in the middle," but our officers have chosen to make a stand and be noticed. Because of our support of Northside High School, we have, indeed, made it the school of excellence. We take pride in our school by improving its appearance and by making it the best in the Houston County school district. We take each stepping stone as a part of life with patience and courage hoping our dreams will become a reality. With these thoughts, we give this advice to those who shall someday follow our example:

Walk across the stepping stones —
taking each step one by one . . .
Realize that with each step you'll grow closer to the setting of the sun.
Ponder upon life, for life is FUN!

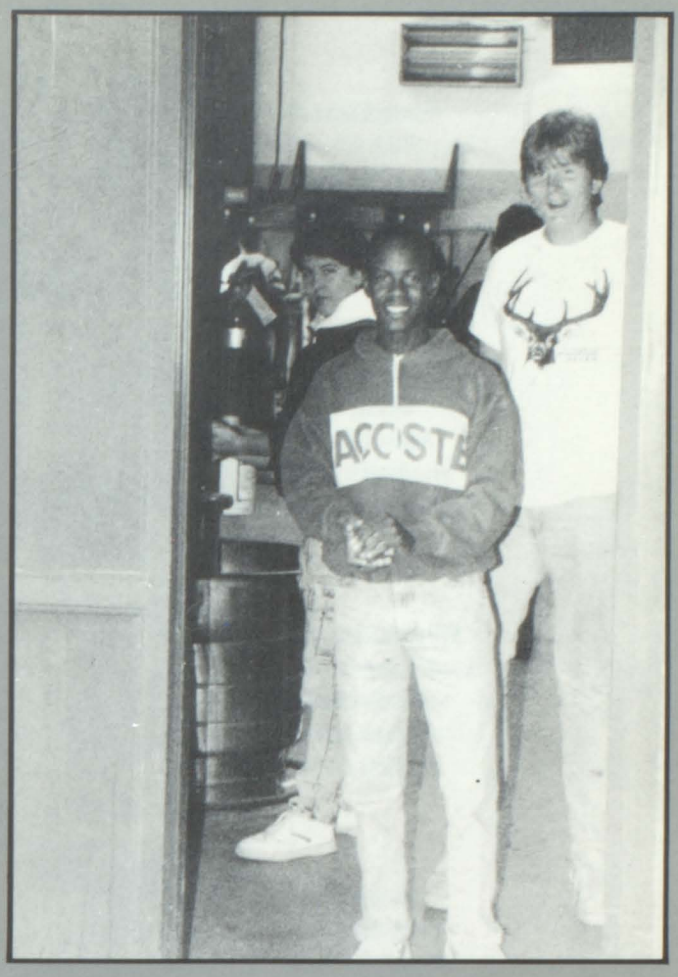

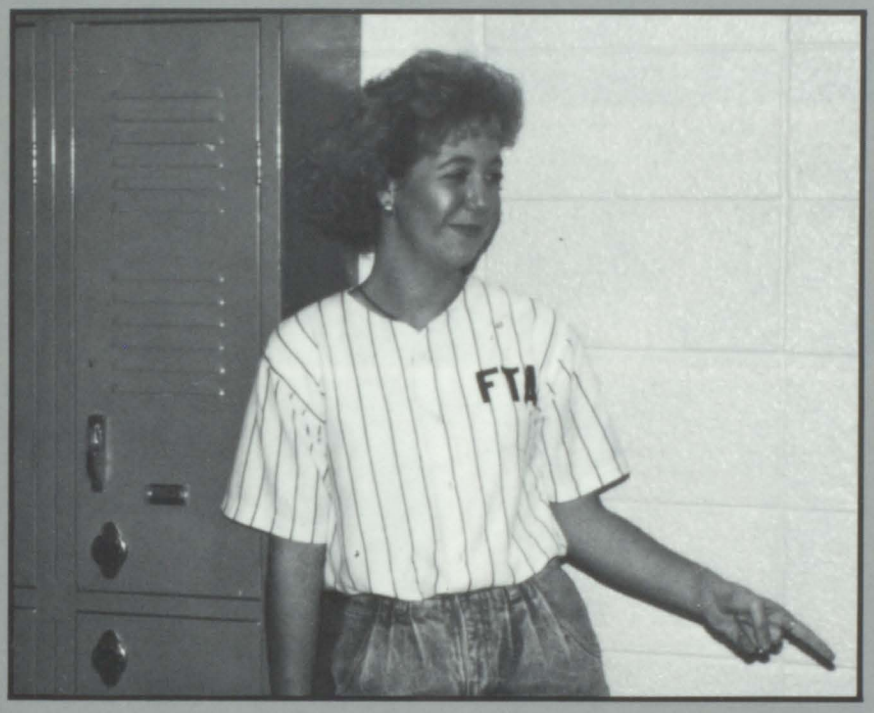

Samantha Shayes and Jessyca Delchamps rest on the heater.

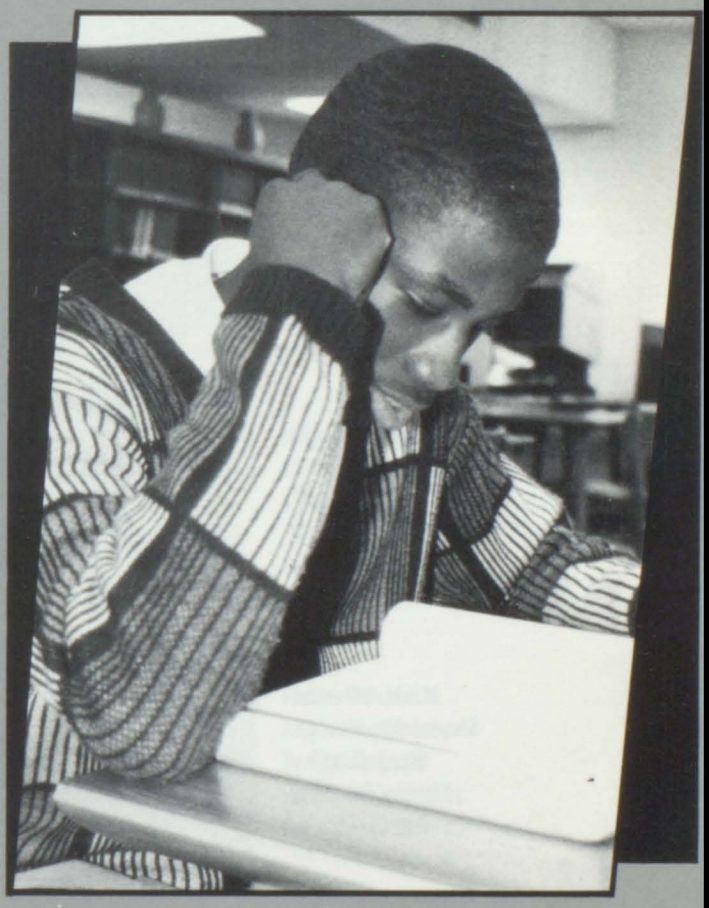

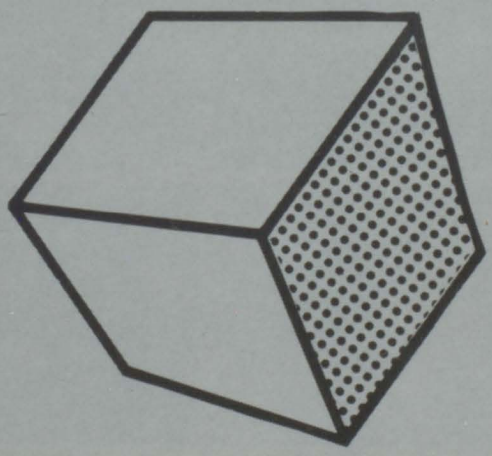

An occasional pose is top priority for Tewayne Durham.

Dewayne Richards, Kevin Matthews, and Charles take a break from break for a snapshot during their vocational class.

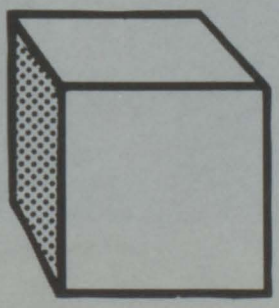

Heather Phillips points to something out of reach.

Gary Jackson sleeps in quiet solitude.

Alexis Ande can always find a quick pose in an isolated spot when there is a camera around!

A social gathering with your friends is a sure cure-all.

Lynn Bryant combines a nice smile with a great pose in an instant like an experienced model.

Jay Collins finds another use for his classwork and handouts: to draw on.

Tracey Self hides her plain nose with one of more color and visibility.

SENIORS DO IT BETTER

As the school year rolled around for yet another year to begin, everyone moved up a grade with great enthusiam. The year progressed with a steady pace that lead to the class officers elections. Many people ran for an office. The canidates' ideas ranged from candy to stickers, and, of course, posters were put up along the walls of the school. The ideas were eye catchers to remind everyone to vote for the best candidate. Several runoffs took place, and the three top candidates gave speeches in front of the senior class in the gym.

Caleb Carter crushed an egg on his head to make a lasting impression on his many classsmates. This stunt lead to his victory. Ashleigh Andrews was draped with money all over her clothing. Karen Parrish even threw candy to her many classmates that got them all excited. More runoffs occurred, and finally five people prevailed as the class officers of 1988-1989.

Many activities took place for all the seniors to enjoy. Seniors also received senior parking stickers and the ever popular Friday lunch passes. The Senior Barbeque was held in the cafeteria at the end of January. The Senior Barbeque money was used for the Senior Ball as well as for the Senior Picnic. All seniors who sold all ten of their barbeque tickets went to the ball free while others had to pay a specified amount. The Senior Ball was held on February 18th with a Greco-Roman theme. The work of many seniors made the ball the great success that it was. Seniors could be found at the school early that very morning getting ready for the ball. The ordering of many graduation mementos like graduation annoucements, memory books and finally the all time great cap and gown took place during second semester. Some of the seniors that graduated after first semester came back to show everyone that they received their diploma, too. The Senior Picnic took place in June on a Friday on the day the Seniors did not have to go to school. That very day Seniors rolled the Senior parking lot when the Juniors took too much initiative to park there. The Senior class officers were Caleb Carter, President; Joey Rigsby, Vice President; Amy Wilson, Treasurer; Sandy Kubia, Project Chairperson; and Marie Kemp, Secretary.

Caleb Carter, President; Joey Rigsby, Vice-President; Marie Kemp, Secretary; Sandy Kubia, Projects Chairperson; Amy Wilson, Treasurer.

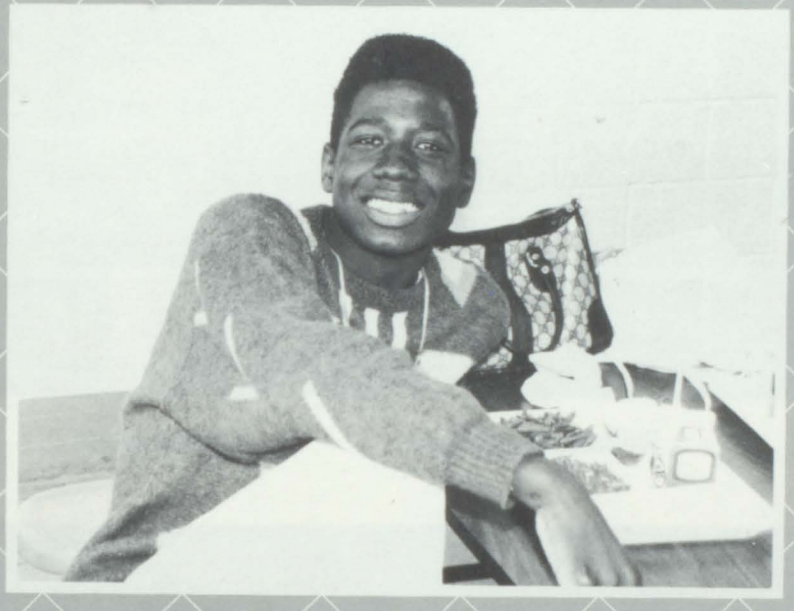

Each day Lori Cook, like most seniors, enjoys talking to her special friends during homeroom before the school day begins.

During lunch time, Michelle McClish and Mitch Britt study together for the mind-boggling test they have next period.

Quincy Allen, a senior, is enjoying his daily nutritional allowance of good food provided by the dedicated lunch room workers.

During the Miss Northside Pageant on Thursday night the former Miss Northside Jill Moore sings to Matt Shultz "Will You Be My Honey Bun?"

Overjoyed that sixth period has finally rolled around is Shane Spell because he has a very large amount of homework.

While enjoying her lunch in the lunchroom, Debbie Marquis looks up and smiles when she notices her friends coming to join her at the table.

The senior class watches and enjoys the humorous skit performed by the teachers at the afternoon pep rally before the weekend game.

While waiting for the bell ending sixth period, Tammy Glover decides to get a head start on the evening's homework for English by getting in a couple of extra minutes of study time. By doing this, Tammy is able to better enjoy her free time at home by having less homework and more time to spend relaxing and visiting friends.

Stopping to pick up some books one day after school, Julie Weatherford shows Michelle Pulsifer her new locker that was installed during the renovation of the main building that was completed during the second semester.

Each year twenty lucky seniors are given the honor of being chosen as Outstanding Seniors. Any senior interested may fill out an application that includes all of their school activities and honors. After all the applications are turned in, the student are given a score, and the top twenty scorers are chosen as Outstanding Seniors. Many seniors work towards this goal beginning their sophomore year. Many seniors feel that all of the hard work is worth the ending reward. Being chosen as an Outstanding Senior shows the many contributions that these seniors have given to Northside High School. Speaking of the honor, Jalanda Standard says,"I was very honored to be chosen as one of the elite students at Northside High School."

Shane Allen #17, Pat Crawford #40, and Jeff Kilgore #50 watch as balloons are released over the stadium prior to the Warner Robins' game.

Tim Ferguson gets a needed breather while the Eagle defense is on the field.

Richard Hall #21 picks up yardage on this play against the Wildcats.

CHEERLEADERS CARRY ON THE TRADITION

The Varsity Cheerleaders are getting ready to spell EAGLES at a pep rally.

Missy Collins decides she wants to exchange places with a football player.

Lisa Lowe is shocked to see the camera is focused on her.

The 1989-89 Varsity Cheerleading squad consisted of eleven devoted members with eight of them being returning seniors. During the summer, these girls spent long hours practicing for cheerleading camp which was held at Georgia Southern College in July of 1988. Their dedication and hard work paid off when these cheerleaders won Grand Champions during their week at ICF Camp. The cheerleaders were simply estatic when they were announced the overall winners for the second year in a row. In addition to winning Grand Champions, they won three superior ribbons, and the pyramid competition. In addition, Lisa White was named All American and received the honor of going to Nashville to compete in the big competiton which was held there over the Christmas holidays of 1988.

Throughout the school year, these cheerleaders showed their enthusiasm and spirit for Northside under the guidance of their sponsor Ms. Frances Woelfel, captain Kelli Hilliard, and co-captain Lisa Lowe. Not only did the cheerleaders represent their school teams well at football and basketball games, but they also spent many hours creating skits, stunts, and cheers to "pump up" the Northside student body at pep rallies. For instance, they boosted school spirit at each pep rally by giving a spirit stick to the most spirited class, by doing several stunts, cheers, and raps, and by even padding up in football uniforms and scrimmaging with students representing the "other side." The girls also made signs for the football players' locker rooms. The cheerleaders also cheered at all the basketball games and maintained school spirit for the teams throughout the year. The squad will lose nine seniors at the end of the year.

Not only can the cheerleaders cheer very well, they can also rap and play a good game of football, even if it was only at a pep rally.

Robin Harbin and Susan Benton show off one of their other talents like playing drums.

The cheerleaders have no problem showing their enthusiasm as they show off their Grand Championship Trophy.

While learning all the right motions, the cheerleading squad also enjoys a day at Georgia Southern.

1988-89 Football Banquet

The annual Football Banquet was held January 12 at Northside. It was a time not only to honor athletes but also a time for remembrance. Each and every member of the football teams, both Junior Varsity and Varsity, were recognized. The cheerleaders were also given praise by their sponsors — Ms. Woelfel for Varsity and Mrs. Adams for Junior Varsity. Seventeen awards were given out to those individuals that had shown special talent and dedication throughout the 1988 season. Although not every player received an award, everyone left with a feeling of pride in knowing that they had taken part in a team effort that had made the season a success.

The '88 award recipients show that hard work pays off.

Don Hudson smiles as he receives his Golden Eagle award.

Brian Hill is presented his award for his great efforts at center.

Tewayne Durham is suprised as he receives his trophy.

Joey Rigsby and Mark Thompson receive a perfect attendence award.

Isaac Ferrell receives his best offensive lineman award.

Tony Cody is very pleased to have been named best defensive back.

Gill Gordon poses for the camera after receiving his captain's award.

Tirone McKenzie, one of Northside's defensive backs, is as happy as ever after Coach Gallaher presents him his award for his outstanding efforts.

Coach Hinson and Coach Walker pass out perfect attendance plagues to the players who dedicated themselves to after school practice every day.

JUNIOR — VARSITY

In April 1988 several girls from both Northside Jr. and Tabor Jr. High School tried out for J.V. cheerleading, but only fourteen were selected for the 1988-89 shool year. This year's camp was held at Mercer University with not only squads from Georgia but also ones from Florida. In order to do well at camp, group practices were held often. The girls did not stay on Mercer's campus this year; instead they left Northside every day at 7:30 A.M., worked a long hard day in the hot sun, then filed back to the bus getting back home around 10:00 P.M. each night.

Even after all the hardships of the day, these girls did not slow down. They continued to push themselves and were not disappointed with the end results of their hard work. They got the privilege of taking the Grand Champion Trophy home with them; this will be a moment that they will never forget. They not only did themselves proud, but they also did Northside proud.

Coach Randy Hinson's Lady Eagle basketball team began the 1988-89 season with an impressive win over Central High School, by the score of 47-36. This proved as a start for the Lady Eagles, who would knock off Baldwin, the state's #1 team. Coach Hinson called this the biggest win in Lady Eagle history. The Lady Eagles had an impressive showing against Northeast, although they lost by 2 points. Southwest would prove to be the only team in the sub-region that the Lady Eagles would not defeat. Northside High School hosted the annual Christmas tournament and finished in second place. After Christmas break the Eagles beat cross-town rival Warner Robins by 21 points. The most exciting game played at N.H.S. this season was on January 17, against Northeast. The game went into three overtimes and the Lady Eagles proved victorious by a score of 68-62. The Lady Eagles entered the sub-region tourney and defeated first round foe Central 69-30. The second round of sub region play for the Eagles was against Southwest and they were defeated for the third time during the season. Coach Hinson summed up the season as a successful one and singled out his three seniors who provided leadership. They were LaTonya Dodson, Tonya Allen, and Renita Johnson. These girls led the team to accomplishing their goals which included, obtaining more wins than losses, and secondly to gain respect among sub-region schools.

EAGLETTES' BASKETBALL

Kevin Bradley dribbles toward the Eagle basket.

The '88-'89 basketball season was a very exciting one to be sure. With only four returning members from the '87-'88 team, Tim Ferguson, Kenny Banks, Kennan Brooks, and Tirone Evans, this year's team managed to do their best and come out with a good year. The new members may have been somewhat inexperienced, but they did not mind working hard. New members who made a big impact this year were Derek Harnage, Bill Fuqua, R.C. Jeffcoat, Pat Williams, Mark Payne, Kevin Bradley, Shane Allen, Keith Sutton, and Troy Crosby. Team defense was the strength of the team. They were able to trap and pressure the opponents causing numerous turnovers. The team was only three points away from going to the Region Playoffs. When asked about his feelings toward this year's season, Coach Walker replied, "I was disappointed we didn't win four or five more games. The ones that were close were decided by five points or less. Over all, I am proud of the way we worked and I am looking forward to next season."

Winter Sports Banquet

Outstanding Sportsmen Honored

The Winter Sports Banquet was held on March 16 to honor the team members of the wrestling team, the boy's basketball team, and the girl's basketball team. The varsity cheerleading squad and the junior varsity cheerleading squad were also honored by their respective sponsors Ms. Woelfel and Mrs. Adams. All team members were recognized, and individuals from each team were presented individual trophies for their outstanding efforts during the season. The banquet was attended by many parents, teachers, and students. Seventeen awards were given in all by Coach Scott, Coach Hinson, Coach Stuart, and Coach Walker.

The game of soccer got its official start in the Houston County school system this year. Chosen to coach the sport at Northside was Chip Stuart. For it being the first year that soccer was played competitively at Northside, the team was very competitive and won four matches and split two. Each team member gave all his /her energy and spirit in order to make the season a successful one. The soccer team also had the distinction of being the only sport at Northside that had girls and boys on the same team. The team practiced hard and gained much experience throughout the course of the season. Coach Stuart put a lot of time into learning the game and expects to have an even better year next season.

By making quick moves, Dan Dowd manages to get to the ball before his opponent gets a chance to kick it.

Team Members: Back Row-Coach Stuart, Bill Fuqua, Ricky McClellan, Johhny Bagley, Richard Coulon, Lynn Dillard, Frank Graham, Dan Dowd, Stan Myers, Duane Phelps, Lee Brown, Jacob Neil, Leroy Phillips. Front Row-Bridgette Roth, Priscilla Gallagoes, Mike Cihal, Chip Feron, Dyron Adams, Jeff Kilgore.

The Eagle soccer goalie has to practice long and hard to block the opponent's ball and keep the other team from scoring.

Some team members stretch before a game to make sure all their muscles are nice and limber and ready for action.

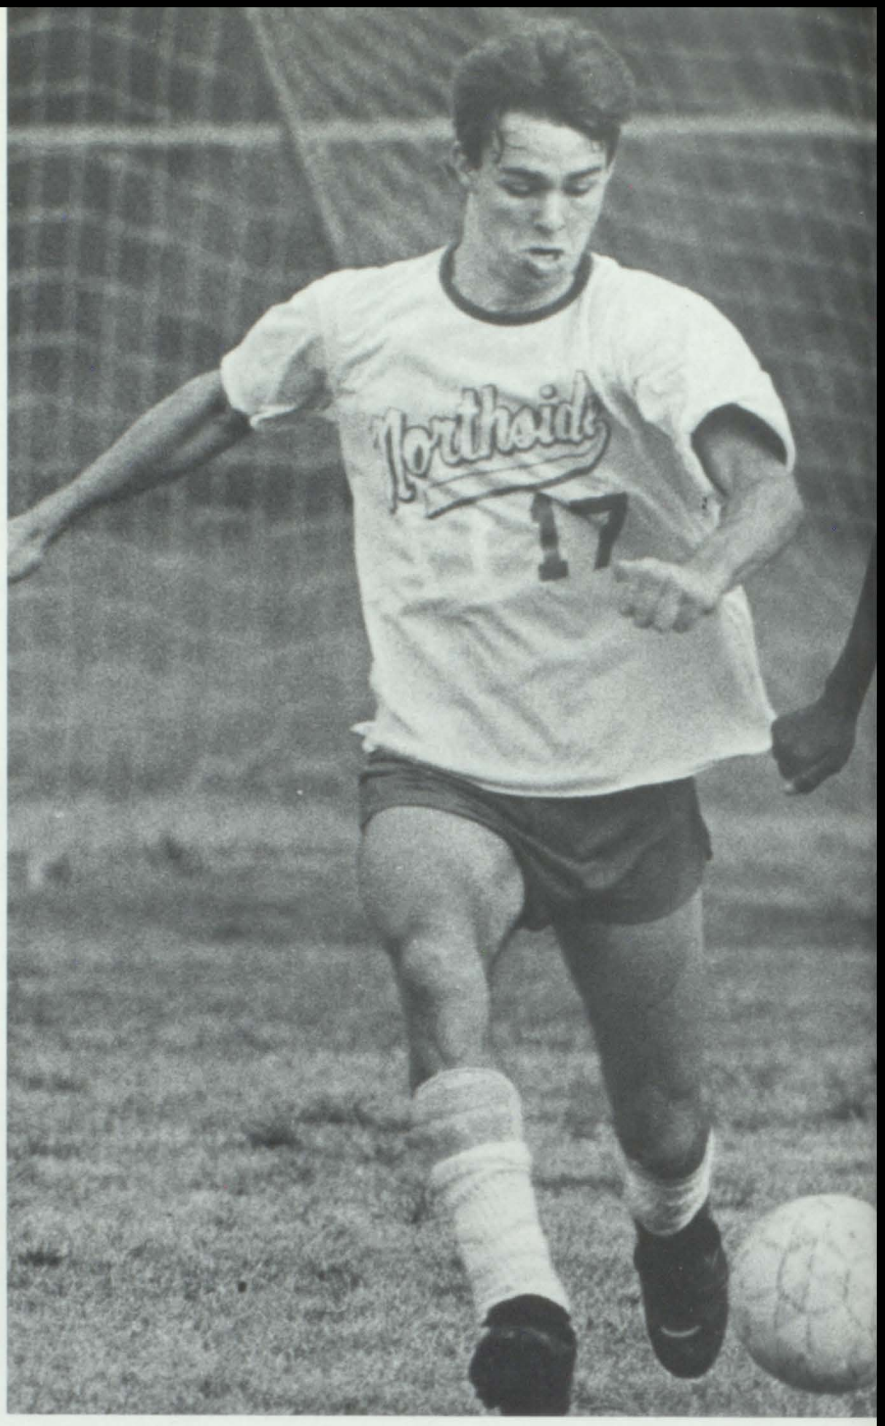

Acting goofy as usual, Bill Fuqua and other team members find clowning around more exciting than practicing soccer.

Chip Ferron is involved in an action-packed play against a member from the Warner Robins' soccer team.

During one of the Eagles' games, Priscilla Gallego shows her determination by putting all her emotions into kicking the soccer ball in hopes of scoring a goal.

In pursuit of the ball, Senior Ricky McClellan, one of the best soccer players around, shows his expertise in playing soccer in a game against Warner Robins.

The soccer team members on the sidelines cheer on the other members of the team.

The team captains meet out in the center of the field before the beginning of the game to decide which team starts off first.

The entire team gathers together before a game to generate a little Eagle team spirit and have a quick pep talk.

Looking carefully in the direction in which he wishes to aim the soccer ball, Frank Graham attemps to score a goal.

EAGLETTE TRACK TEAM

This years girls' track team attended a total of seven track meets from March 30th through May 6th. They competed against some of the toughest competition in the state of Georgia, yet they came out undefeated in the dual meets 3-0. The scores were Northside — 90, Northeast — 81, Southwest — 72, Hephzibah — 40, Southeast- 40, Butler — 25, Evans — 22.5, Central — 18, and Baldwin — 14. They finished 4th in the Coca Cola relays. They didn't stop there. They went right on to place 1st in the Region Championship. LaQuita Thrower won the High Point award for the Region Meet. To finish their year with a bang, Keshea Madison (100m dash), LaQuita Thrower (200m dash, high jump, and long jump), Lisa Draper (100m hurdles), Kizmet Hall, Keesha Martin, LaQuita Thrower, and Keshea Madison (all in 400m relay), Clorinda Johnson, La-Trella Johnson, Keshea Madison, and LaQuita Thrower (all in 1600m relay) qualified for the state. LaQuita Thrower placed 3rd in the state in the 200m dash and the 1600m relay team placed 4th in the state to add a little extra to the whole team's accomplishments for the year. After a year like this one, the future girls' team track will no doubt try and carry on the Eaglette's reputation with Coach Carreker behind them all the way.

Senior girl track members (from left to right): Tonya Allen, Keshia Madison, and Andrea Cummings

Andrea Cummings gives it everything she has got to make sure she stays out in front, and it shows all over her face.

Not only does Latreasa Billings manage the girls' track team, but she also helps organize the boys' track team as well.

Keshia Madison puts much determination into continuing to stay out front in the relay race.

Sophia McGrady and Marie Lewis patiently wait on the track for instructions on what to do next.

1989 BOYS' TRACK TEAM

The 1989 Track team has established themselves as a formidable force in the 4-AAAA region and state competitions. The sophomores of this team have shown their worth in this past season. Their records stand out among the most athletic members of this team. Having all of this great potential in the future track meets pleases their coach Terry Gallaher.

This past season has been a good one for the team. Several of the runners went to state, such as Tyrone McKenzie, Johnny Parker, Shane Allen, and Brent Gibson. Brent Gibson participated in the 100m dash. Johnny Parker won third place in the the 400m dash. Shane Allen won third in the 110m high hurdles, participated in the 300m IH, and participated in the LS. Tyrone McKenzie participated in the high jump. These runners led their team to unlimited goals. The team placed second in the 2-AAAA regions, third in the Robins' Relays, and sixth in the Jefferson Relays. What a team!

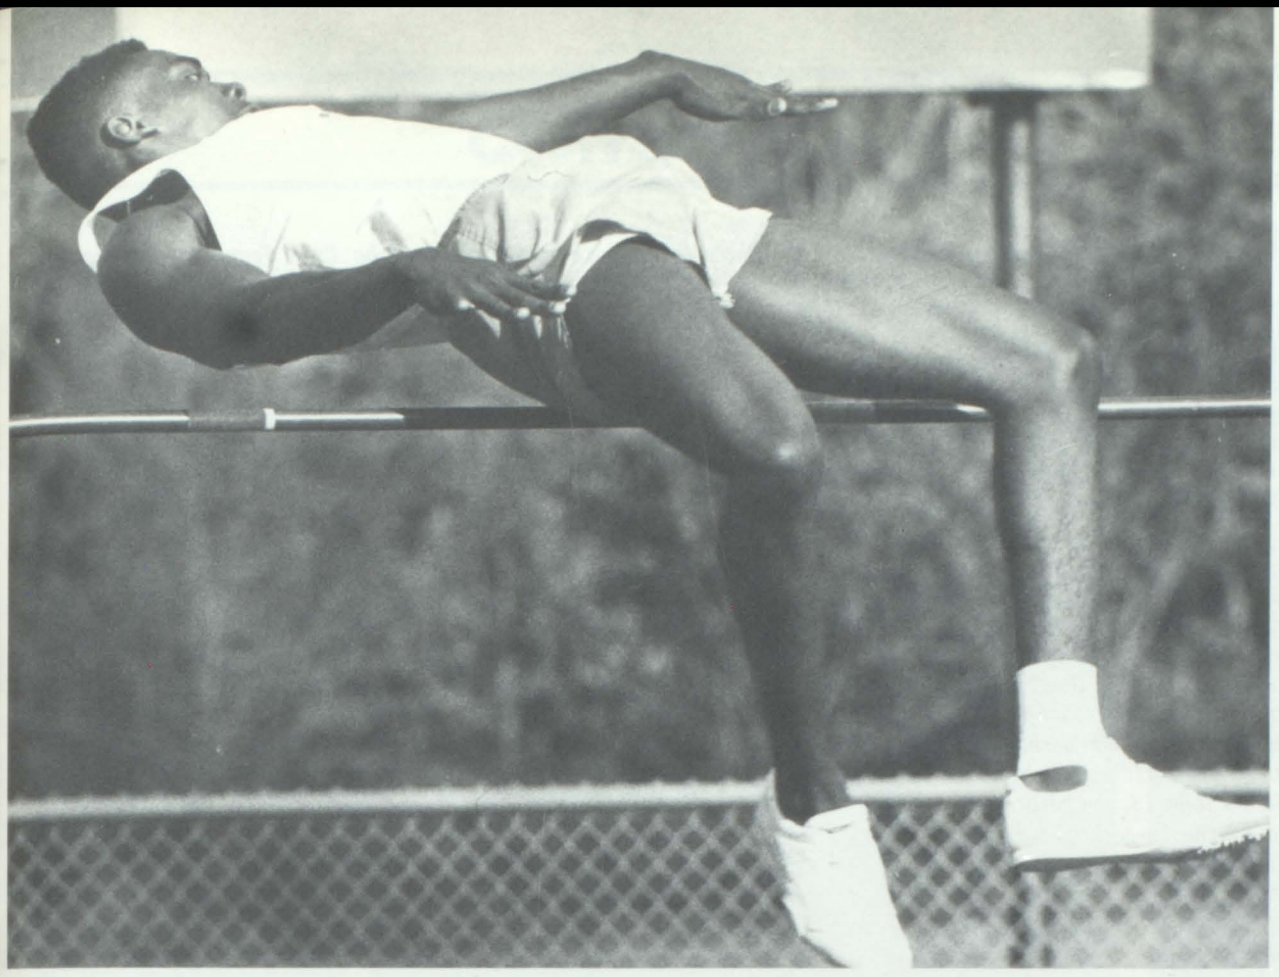

Senior Johnny Parker positions himself in the starting rack to take a practice run around the track to stretch and prepare himself before the actual race.

Shane Allen jumps the hurdle with a determination that has caused him to be on of the best on the team.

Northside's David Shephard and Jonathan Peel hang right in there with the competition during the two mile race at the Warner Robins' Dual Meet.

Ira Hudgens is just before making a seemingly great jump over the high bar.

The members of the 1989 Boys Track team are as follows:

Gabriel Danials leaves a wide margin between himself and the others.

EAGLES' TENNIS

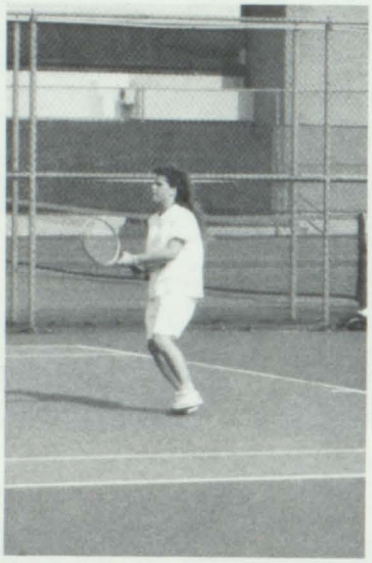

The Tennis Team this year had a very succeessful season. The girls' team consisted of Philisa Oliver, Camisha Clarke, Jennifer Bailey, Annette Bagley, Sondra Jonen, Suzie Santos, Stacy Hogg, and Amy Wilson.The boys team were made up of Josh Bell, Robert Nyguen, Mike Hester, Greg Martin, Garrick Respress, Shane Spell, Wayne Thompson, and Josh Ray. There were both boys singles and doubles teams. There were eight players for both the girls' and the boys' teams.

This season Coach Hinson had some help in getting the boys ready for their hard opponents that they had to face. Mr. Woods helped the boys perfect their shots into a back corner shot. Coach Hinson, on the other hand, showed the girls a few pointers on how to have the perfect serve.

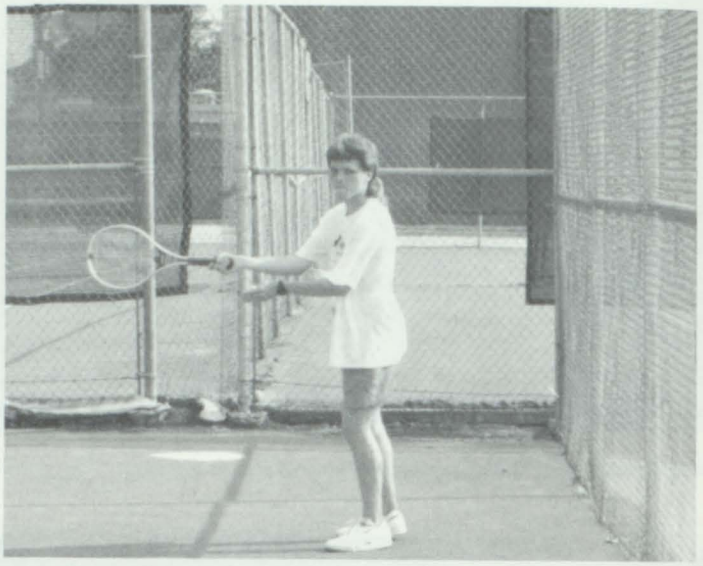

The team as a whole had many games that were played around the region. The home games were all played at the recreation department. The region tennis tournamant was held in Macon at the John Drew Tennis courts. Two girls' and two boys' singles entered the tournament as well as two girls' and two boys' doubles team. All the teams were unsuccessful except Philisa Oliver who went to state as a singles player. They ended the season with a good record.

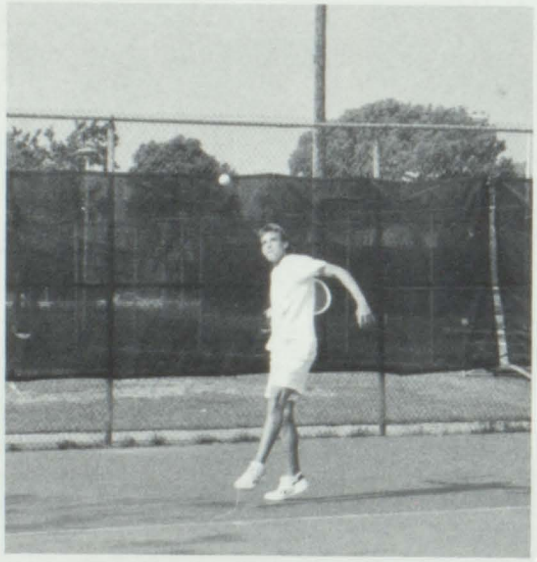

Returning a serve across the net is Stacy Hogg.

Getting ready to hit that tennis ball is exchange student Sondra Jonaen.

Practice makes perfect as senior Morgan Arnold warms up for a match against a fellow teammate at the recreation center.

Greg Martin is preparing to hit the tennis ball against an opponent from Southwest.

AT NORTHSIDE

Practicing for a doubles match is Camisha Clarke who charges the net while playing Southeast at the recreation center.

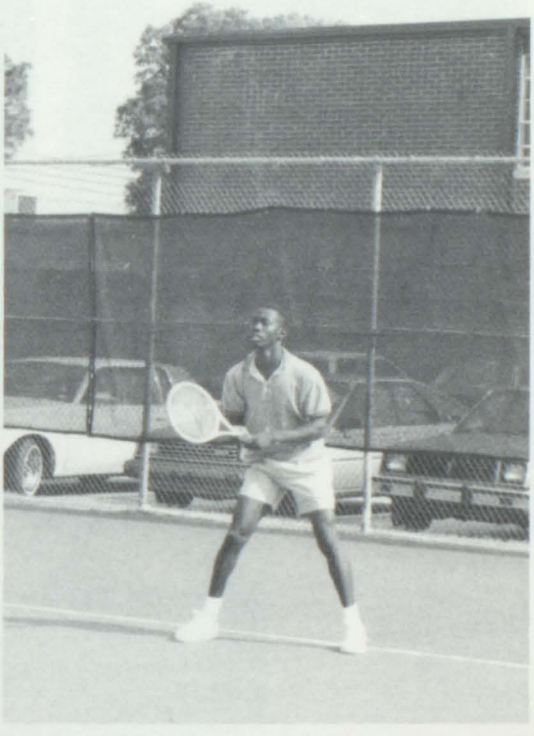

Senior members are Sondra Jonean, Amy Wilson, Missy Collins, Suzie Santos, and Coach Hinson.

The senior guy members are Robert Nygen, Mike Hester, Greg Martin, Morgan Arnold, Shane Spell, and Coach Henson.

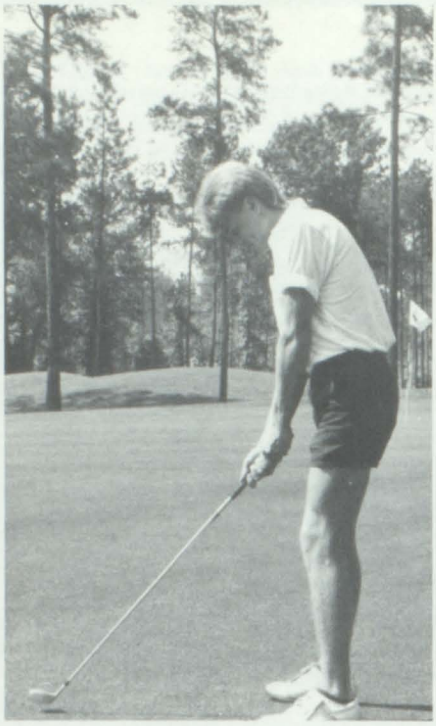

After freshman Garrick Scott serves the ball, he awaits a return on the tennis ball from an opponent.

1989 EAGLES' GOLF TEAM

The 1989 Northside Golf Team, coached by Buz Porch, began practice at the beginning of March although many of the boys had been playing individually most of the year. The team only had two returning members, Brian Goble and Darrin Schnee. Coach Porch has several young players on the team this year, and he hopes they will get some good experience this year so that they can be even better next year.

The team played in ten regular season golf matches this season and finished with a record of six out of ten in the region. Two main tournments other than region games that the team played in were the Demon Invitational played here in Warner Robins and the Blue Devil Invitational played in Tifton. For the second year in a row, the team played all their home matches at The Landings Golf Course.

Among his other duties, Coach Porch tallies up each member's golf score.

All of the practices and home games were played at the Landings Golf Course located several miles from Warner Robins in Statham's Landing.

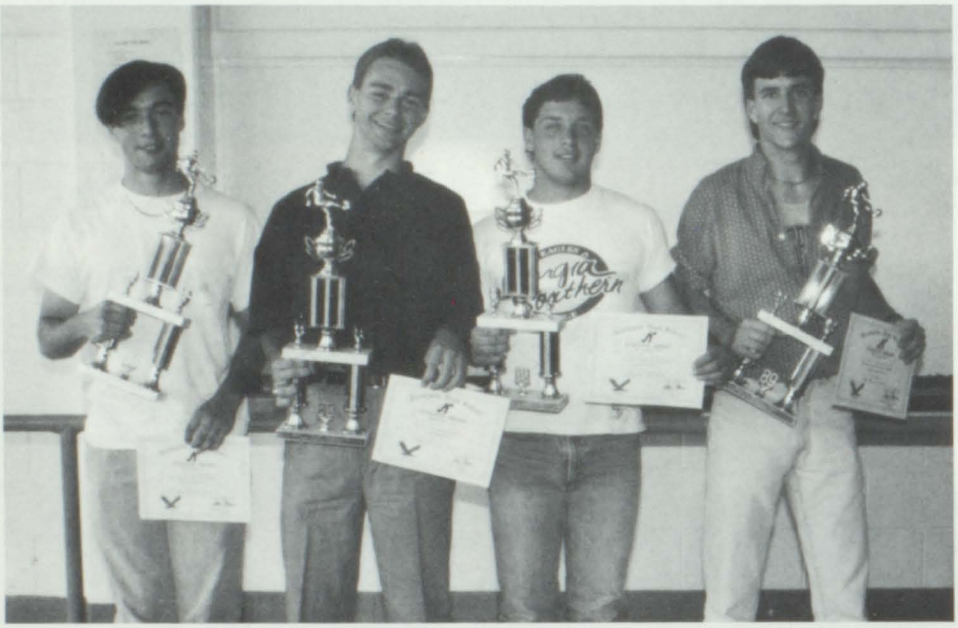

SPRING SPORTS' BANQUET

Honoring the Best of the Season

The Spring Sports Banquet honors those players who participated in the many team sports of the season. These teams include tennis, track, golf, baseball, and soccer. The top players were honored as well as the teams. In order to give special recognition to certain players on a team, the coaches prepared various trophies for the recipients. These players were usually the driving force for the whole team and those who were the most enthusiastic during the season. They pushed themselves farther than their limit by setting high goals and completing them.

The coaches have supported their teams throughout the season. They have become an important part of the teams, not only for guidance, but also as a friend during the wins and losses. Their support has helped the players get "fired up" for the games and matches. For this reason, some of the players have taken this time to honor their coaches.

Keesha Martin (right) receives a plaque for being a part of the 400m relay team.

Four soccer team members received trophies and a certificate of participation.

1989 EAGLES' BASEBALL

This year the Eagles' baseball team had a new coach. The team started practicing in late February to prepare for the upcoming season. Both the coach and the team were hoping to better the previous season's record and play in the state play-offs. The season started off with a bang when the Eagles won the prestigious Lem Clark tournament in Macon, but the hopes for region championship were not to be. New to Northside, Coach Ricky Dennis had a good first year. The team had a winning season and had a 11-6-1 record overall and 9-3 region record. As the second place team in the sub-region, the Eagles went on to play Evans in the first round of the region play-offs. Northside played Evans their toughest game of the season but lost 3-2. Mitch Horton pitched an excellent game against Evans holding them to only two hits. Chris Ingram and Dwayne Zanders hit homeruns for the Eagles.

The Eagles lost three disappointing games during the region play but came back to win five in a row to place second. Although disappointed in not going further in post season play, Coach Ricky Dennis was quite pleased with the overall effort his team game. The team leaders were Chris Ingram, Derek Harnage, Don Hudson, Mitch Horton, and Mike Lee.

Derek Harnage puts all his energy into his swing at the baseball in order to hit a homerun.

After hitting the ball, Don Hudson hurries to get to first base before the ball does.

Love, Your Family

CHRISTY,

We're proud of you.

Love,

Mom and Dad

JOHN,

We are proud of your successes. Best wishes for your future.

Love,

Mom, Dad, and Mickey

CONGRATULATIONS MELISA !

To a very special daughter and friend

We Love You, Mom and Dad

DEAR LINDY,

Not long after you were born, I walked down to the nursery, and there you were . . . eyes wide open, head craned . . . getting a look at the world around you . . . becoming your own person. Soon, you were smiling at the world and so full of love . . . it was awesome!

It has been wonderful being part of your laughter, your sorrow, your accomplishments, and your dreams . . . and it's wonderful now to see some of those dreams are coming true for you.

As you embark on another sea of dreams; we want you to know we are very proud of you and that we love you dearly.

Mama and Daddy

DEAR CHAD,

I want you to know how much I loved watching you grow, and how proud I am of the man you have become.

LOVE,
Mom

To a special young lady. We're proud of you.

Love, Mom and Dad

TO CINDY:

You are a young lady now, but you're still our little girl.

LOVE,
Mom, Dale,
and Tina

Dearest Robin,
In all thy ways acknowledge Him, and He shall direct thy paths.
Proverbs 3:6

We Love You
Mom and Dad

CHRIS,

my daughter, you have grown up so beautifully— without growing away from those

those who love you ! ! !

YOUR MOM AND GRANDPARENTS

I have watched you grow up to be someone beautiful from within, outward.

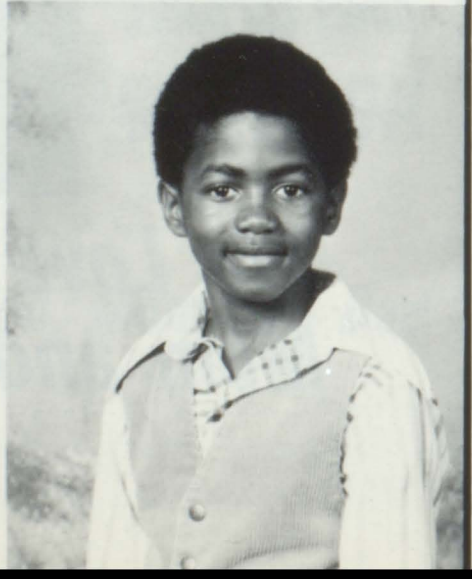

CONGRATULATIONS AND BEST WISHES LORI

LOVE, MOTHER

CONGRATULATIONS SEAN HILL

We still remember your first year of school. You have brought more joy into our lives than we ever thought was possible.

LOVE MOM & DAD

LOTS OF LUCK LINELL

WE LOVE YOU !

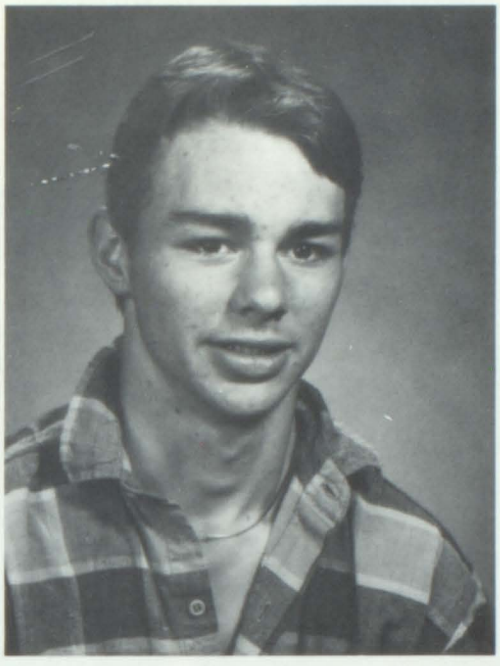

Mom, Dad, Brigette, and Lashondra

GOOD LUCK

KIM

CONGRATULATIONS

RICKY

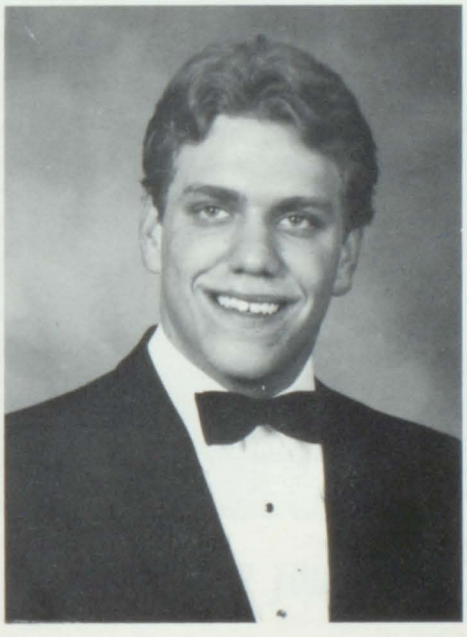

LISA, GOD BLESS YOU

Yesterday a girl, today a young woman,

tomorrow's future So proud WE LOVE YOU

MATT

We are proud that you are our son.

Love Always, Mom and Dad

LISA FRANZ

How lucky can two people get,

With Eric, Chris and Tim ?

And when you had another one,

You thought you'd name him Jim.

Maybe he'll be president,

Or King, or Duke, or Earl,

But heaven sent a precious gift-

A pretty little girl.

You called her little Lisa,

And christened her today.

May God bless little Lisa,

And guide her on her way.

We All Love You,

Mom and Dad

To our favorite lifeguard.

Always remember the good times.

MATT SHULTZ

Love, your Mom, Dad, & three sisters

RHONDA

CONGRATULATIONS

The future is as bright as the glow in our hearts.

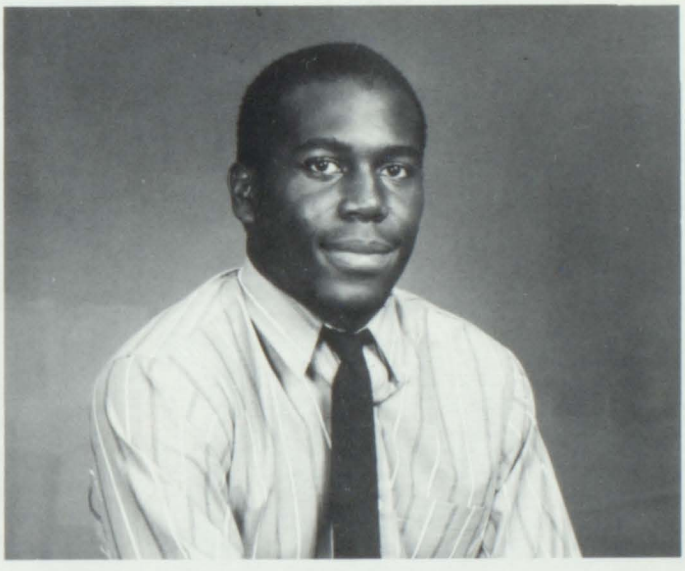

We love you, Mom and Dad

Lisa congratulations and best wishes for happiness on your graduation day and always.

Love, Mom, Dad, and Barry

DERRICK, we are so proud of you;

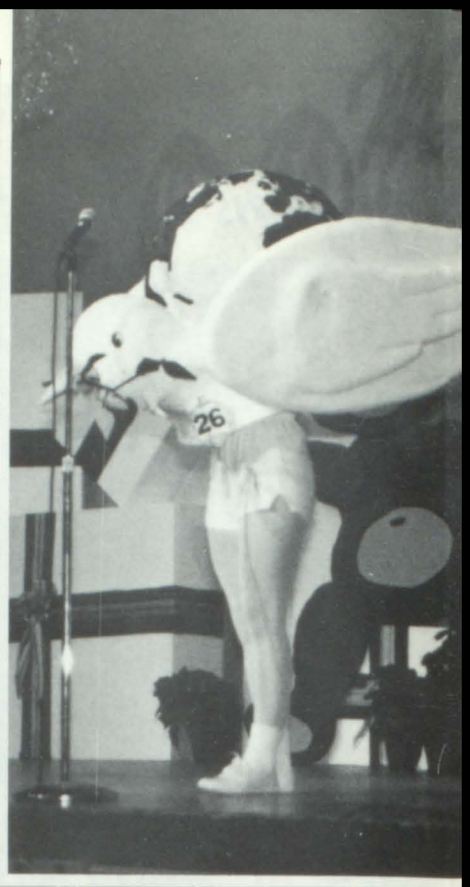

of the person you have become and are sure to be.

WE LOVE YOU Mom, Dad, Deborah, & Donna

Building On Memories

As the school year comes to a close, we realize that we have gained so many memories that will last us forever. In the fall as we returned to school, we felt great anticipation because we knew that this would be the best school year ever. For the 1988 football season the spirit was electrifying because we all knew the Northside Eagles were NUMBER ONE. Not only were the games fun and exciting but they were also made memorable by the performances of the band and the flag corps. Before each home game the cheerleaders led the pep rallies that always seemed to boost everyone's spirit and to make the football team want to win even more. The week before the Demon game has traditionally been set aside as Spirit Week. This year Spirit Week was one of the highlights of an already memorable fall. Students danced at the morning pep rallies in their coolest clothes to "Chill out the Demons." After the football the Miss Northside pageant captured the interest of everyone. Because the pageant took place during Christmas, each girl was asked to dress as her present to the world. The climatic moment came when Tangie Rambert was crowned Miss Northside. Not all moments were shared by everyone in the school. Some important memories included those shared by a few friends at lunch talking about important matters or just good friends sharing a hug. All the memories of 1988, both happy or sad, private or public, personal or shared, will remain with each of us as we build on our future.

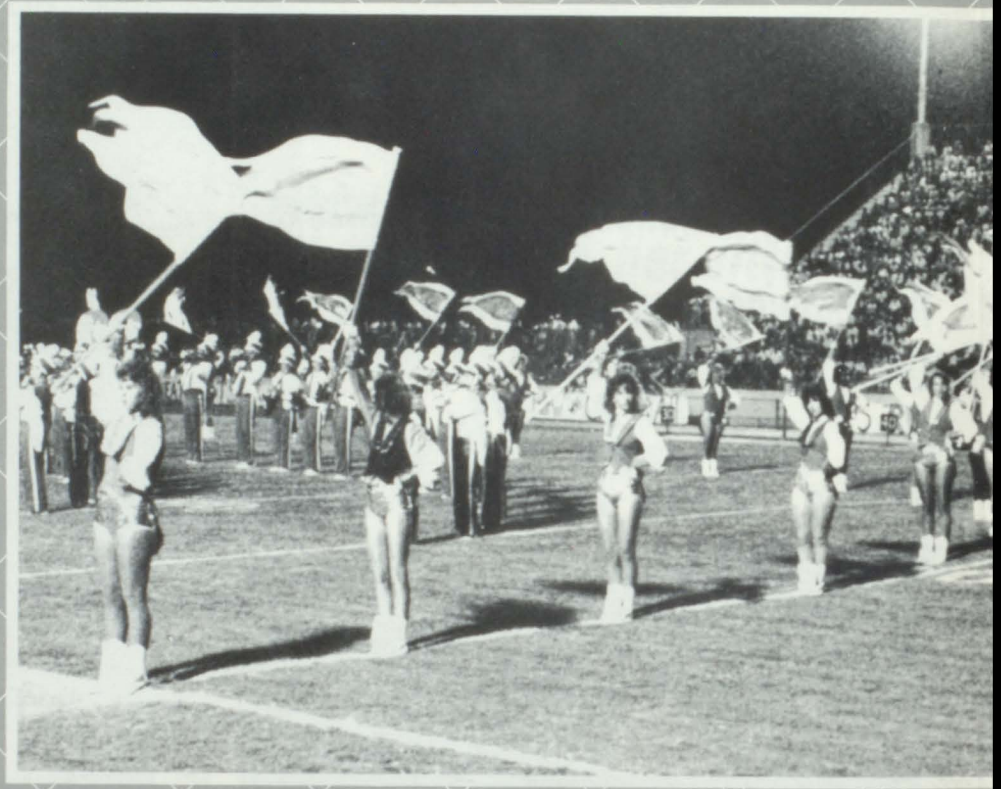

"The memories we build today will last forever!"

At the Miss Northside Pageant senior Karen Parrish dressed as a dove, the bird of peace, so that the world will have peace.

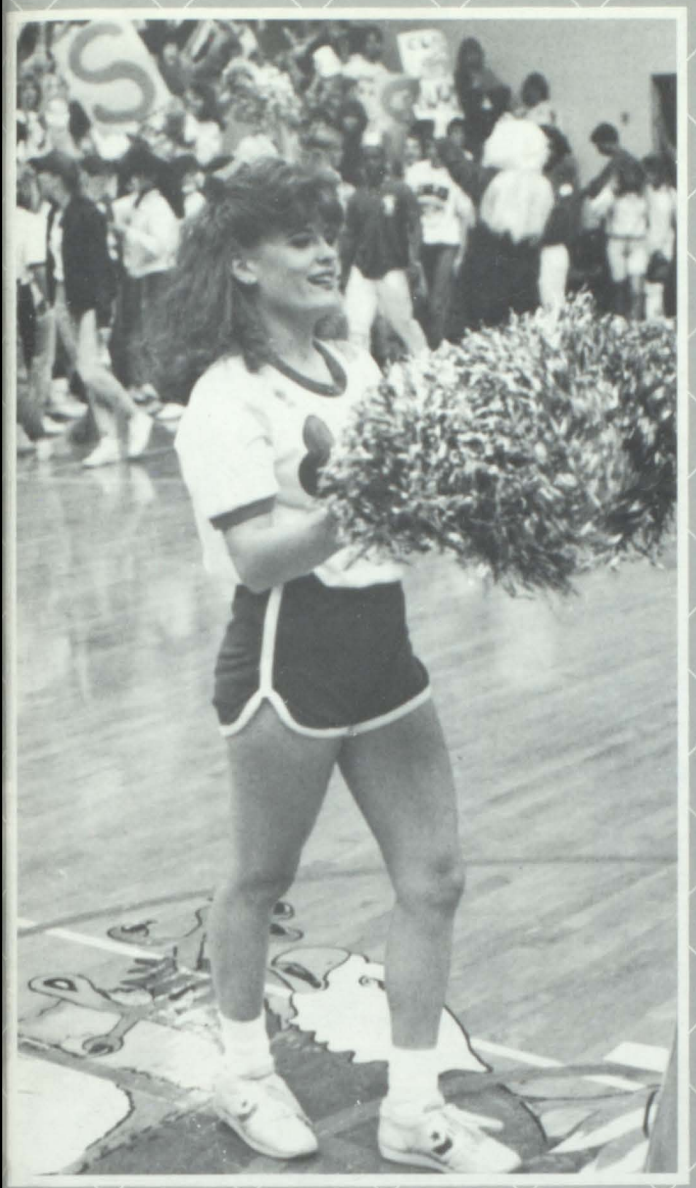

The hardworking flag managers struggle to carry all the flag girls' jackets, bags, and purses while the flag girls take to the field.

The Flag Corps and the Blue Wind Band open each home football game with a pre-game show featuring the traditional "Mr. Touchdown."

Spirited juniors dance to the drum cadences at the morning pep rally which was held during Spirit Week.

Susan Benton, a two year varsity cheerleader, enjoys dancing to the ever popular "Rock On" at the afternoon pep rally.

Richelle Roby and Kenitra Burnette show their spirit by dancing to the beat of the music played by the band.

Eating in the cafeteria is a favorite pastime of these senior girls because it gives them time to chat.

Northside students hurry to get to class so that they won't get caught by the bell and have to stay after school for detention.

Building On Tradition

We at Northside High are proud of the many traditions that highlight each year. We especially enjoy the Homecoming week with its assembly program, the exciting parade, and, of course, the football game. At this time former Northside students join with us to celebrate our great heritage. The assembly program is very special because at this time we honor the senior band members, flag corps members, majorettes, cheerleaders, and football players. The most exciting moment is the crowning of the Homecoming Queen who will preside over all of the Homecoming festivities. Another highlight of the year is the pep rally before the Demon game. Again students, both present and past, join together to cheer the team to victory. Other special moments in the year include the Miss Northside Pageant and the Mr. Northside contest. In these contests students compete for the honor of representing their school. In the Miss Northside Pageant girls compete in the areas of talent, evening gown, interview, application, and informal wear. The young man who is chosen Mr. Northside must be well-rounded and involved in many facets of school activities. We are proud of our traditions and hope to continue them into the future.

Before the Homecoming Parade begins, Colonel Mahaffey instructs the ROTC girls on how to march with their rifles and how to carry the United States flag.

Even the band gets involved when the cheerleaders throw footballs to the spectators.

Posing for the camera, Kelli Hilliard, Susan Benton, Samantha Bozeman, and Jennifer Miller wait for their turn to show their talent at the Miss Northside Pageant.

ALMA MATER

Northside High, our Alma Mater
Thou to us art dear;
May thy virtues and thy teachings
Guide us through the years

Chorus:
Ever onward, be our watchword,
Conquer and prevail
Eagles rise and set our standards,
Northside High, all hail!
